Quaker Oats Recipe Contest:

Cookoff Amy Sutherland, 2004-05-25 Cookoff Recipe Fever in America is an anecdotal and entertaining look at the amazingly extensive subculture of cooking contests in America. Such contests range in importance from Spam contests at county fairs to the granddaddy of them all the Pillsbury Bake Off in San Francisco where the grand prize is a cool million. In between are contests local and national sponsored by agricultural groups, corporations and neighborhoods. Competing in these contests are not only casual entrants but contestants mostly women for whom the recipe contest is a way of life. Journalist Amy Sutherland follows a small group of such contestants through a year on the contest circuit beginning with the National Chicken Cook off and culminating in the Pillsbury Bake Off. Along the way we'll be introduced to well known cook off luminaries as well as to some of the most bizarre cooks and the recipes concocted for their national contests. Good volume encyclopedia on the history of American food and beverages serves as an ideal companion resource for social studies and American history courses covering topics ranging from early American Indian foods to mandatory nutrition information at fast food restaurants. The expression you are what you eat certainly applies to Americans not just in terms of our physical health but also in the myriad ways that our taste preferences, eating habits and food culture are intrinsically tied to our society and history. This standout reference work comprises two volumes containing more than 600 alphabetically arranged historical entries on American foods and beverages as well as dozens of historical recipes for traditional American foods and a third volume of more than 120 primary source documents. Never before has there been a reference work that coalesces this diverse range of information into a single set. The entries in this set provide information that will transform any American history research project into an engaging learning experience. Examples include explanations of how tuna fish became a staple food product for Americans, how the canning industry emerged from the Civil War, the difference between Americans and people of other countries in terms of what percentage of their income is spent on food and beverages and how taxation on beverages like tea, rum and whisky set off important political rebellions in U.S. history.
