Currently entry level radiographers graduate from their accredited college with an associate degree in applied science The graduate is then eligible to take the American Registry of Radiologic Technologist board exam This exam allows the radiographer to work in most radiology departments nationwide More than seventy five percent of states have additional licensing laws covering the practice of the radiographer It is required in those states to obtain a state license after one has obtained an ARRT license The other approximate twenty five percent do not require a state license however many states have pending laws enforcing state licensure potentially changing this percentage Obtaining state licensing in all fifty states would be the ideal situation for furthering the argument that the entry level radiographer should be required to obtain a bachelor degree The clinicians and providers that currently employ and utilize non licensed employees for radiography would be required to hire licensed personnel and increase the pay rates which will take from the business overhead Other improvements to their practice would include better diagnostic quality of exams with lower repeat rates which by manner will lower patient dose and increase patient and radiation safety which should be important to all radiographers     The Radiography Procedure and Competency Manual Anita Biedrzycki, 2017-07-18 Be prepared to meet the ARRT competency requirements These procedure checklists make it easy To qualify for your certification exam you must demonstrate your competency in all 36 mandatory procedures and in at least 15 of the 30 elective procedures and your instructors must verify your proficiencies First you can use the checklists to review the procedures in preparation for the exam and to develop decision making skills that will produce the highest quality radiographs while considering the needs and limitations of the patient Then your instructors can use them to record their evaluation of your competency for each procedure And finally program directors can use them to verify to the ARRT that the you have demonstrated the required competencies and proficiencies     LANGE Q&A Radiography Examination, 11th Edition D.
