A Match on Dry Grass Mark R. Warren, Karen L. Mapp, The Community Organizing and School Reform Project, 2011-07-15 The persistent failure of public schooling in low income communities constitutes one of our nation s most pressing civil rights and social justice issues Many school reformers recognize that poverty racism and a lack of power held by these communities undermine children s education and development but few know what to do about it A Match on Dry Grass argues that community organizing represents a fresh and promising approach to school reform as part of a broader agenda to build power for low income communities and address the profound social inequalities that affect the education of children Based on a comprehensive national study the book presents rich and compelling case studies of prominent organizing efforts in

Chicago New York City Los Angeles Denver San Jose and the Mississippi Delta The authors show how organizing groups build the participation and leadership of parents and students so they can become powerful actors in school improvement efforts They also identify promising ways to overcome divisions and create the collaborations between educators and community residents required for deep and sustainable school reform Identifying the key processes that create strong connections between schools and communities Warren Mapp and their collaborators show how community organizing builds powerful relationships that lead to the transformational change necessary to advance educational equity and a robust democracy

Black Women Theorizing Curriculum Studies in Colour and Curves Kirsten T. Edwards Williams, Denise Taliaferro Baszile, Nichole A. Guillory, 2020-06-04 This book explores the curriculum theorizing of Black women as well as their historical and contemporary contributions to the always evolving complicated conversation that is Curriculum Studies It serves as an opportunity to begin a dialogue of revision and reconciliation and offers a vision for the transformation of academia s relationship with black women as students teachers and theorizers Taking the perennial silencing of Black women s voices in academia as its impetus the book explains how even fields like Curriculum Studies where scholars have worked to challenge hegemony injustice and silence within the larger discipline of education have struggled to identify an intellectual tradition marked by the Black female subjectivity This epistemic amnesia is an ongoing reminder of the strength of what bell hooks calls imperialist white supremacist capitalist patriarchy and the ways in which even the most critical spaces fail to recognize the contributions and even the very existence of Black women Seeking to redress this balance this book engages the curricular lives of Black women and girls epistemologically bodily experientially and publicly Providing a clarion call for fellow educators to remain reflexive and committed to emancipatory aims this book will be of interest to researchers seeking an exploration of critical voices from nondominant identities perspectives and concerns This book was originally published as a special issue of Gender and Education
