Qualitative Research Interviewing Biographic Narrative And Semi Structured Methods:

Qualitative Research Interviewing Tom Wengraf, 2001-05-09 Wengraf provides a comprehensive theoretical and practical guide to the planning conduct and interpretative analysis of data by semi structured interviewing methods Forthright and frank in his comments about the limitations and practical implications of varying choices which investigators have to make in designing their research projects Reading this text is like having a tough but expert and caring mentor who wants you to do the best research possible but will not hesitate to tell you when your ideology and assumptions skew that possibility Vincent W Hevern Le Moyne College USA Unique in its conceptual coherence and the level of practical detail this book provides a comprehensive resource for those concerned with the practice of semi structured interviewing the most commonly used interview approach in social research and in particular for in depth biographic narrative interviewing It covers the full range of practices from the identification of topics through to strategies for writing up research findings in diverse ways

Qualitative Research Interviewing Tom Wengraf, 2001 Qualitative Research Interviewing Tom Wengraf, 2001-06-25 Unique in its conceptual coherence and the level of practical detail this book provides a comprehensive resource for those concerned with the practice of semi structured interviewing the most commonly used interview approach in social research and in particular for in depth biographic narrative interviewing It covers the full range of practices from the identification of topics through to strategies for writing up research findings in diverse ways Metatheory and Interviewing Emily J. Haas, Marifran Mattson, 2014-12-11 Metatheory and Interviewing Harm Reduction and Motorcycle Safety in Practice describes and applies a unique approach for advancing harm reduction theory Emily J Haas and Marifran Mattson argue that using harm reduction as a metatheory to guide qualitative interviews strengthens the use and acceptance of harm reduction and the application of constructs within health theories Through analysis of in depth interviews with respective participants at risk motorcyclists which are informed by harm reduction metatheory the authors examine how this unique approach to interviewing can be used to link metatheory theory methodology and ultimately application and translation of research results Metatheory and Interviewing culminates with a discussion of how the way we conduct and analyze interviews facilitates a deeper more intimate conversation with research participants by encouraging them to incorporate the same overarching harm reduction framework to provide feedback about changing specific health behaviors Scholars of health communication and research will understand the critical role of a humanistic attitude and pragmatic communication with participants as well as the importance of further extrapolating these strategies to their broader target audience Interpretive Social Science Mark Bevir, Jason Blakely, 2018-12-20 In this book Mark Bevir and Jason Blakely set out to make the most comprehensive case yet for an interpretive or hermeneutic approach to the social sciences Interpretive approaches are a major growth area in the social sciences today This is because they offer a full blown alternative to the behavioralism institutionalism rational choice and other quasi scientific approaches that dominate the study of human behavior In addition to presenting a systematic case for interpretivism and a critique of scientism Bevir and Blakely also propose their own uniquely anti naturalist notion of an interpretive approach This anti naturalist framework encompasses the insights of philosophers ranging from Michel Foucault and Hans Georg Gadamer to Charles Taylor and Ludwig Wittgenstein while also resolving dilemmas that have plagued rival philosophical defenses of interpretivism In addition working social scientists are given detailed discussions of a distinctly interpretive approach to methods and empirical research The book draws on the latest social science to cover everything from concept formation and empirical inquiry to ethics democratic theory and public policy An anti naturalist approach to interpretive social science offers nothing short of a sweeping paradigm shift in the study of human beings and society This book will be of interest to all who seek a humanistic alternative to the scientism that overwhelms the study of human beings today The Art of Living Dominic Johnson,2017-09-16

Across a series of 12 in depth interviews with a diverse range of major artists Dominic Johnson presents a new oral history of performance art From uses of body modification and physical extremity to the creation of all encompassing personae to performance pieces lasting months or years these artists have provoked and explored the vital limits between art and life Their discussions with Johnson give us a glimpse of their artistic motivations preoccupations processes and contexts Despite the diversity of art forms and experiences featured common threads weave between the interviews love friendship commitment death and survival Each interview is preceded by an overview of the artist s work and the volume itself is introduced by a thoughtful critical essay on performance art and oral history The conversational tone of the interviews renders complex ideas and theoretical propositions accessible making this an ideal book for students of theatre and performance as well as for artists scholars and general readers Empirical Political Analysis Craig Leonard

Francis, Molly Ludlam, 2018-05-01 This book argues for the value and application of psychoanalytic thinking beyond as well as within the consulting room Inspired by a Scottish psychoanalytic tradition that owes much to W R D Fairbairn and J D Sutherland the Scottish Institute of Human Relations has provided a valuable reference point for the work described in the book It illustrates how the coming together of human beings into a shared space fosters opportunities to create loving collaborative relationships in which to work and from which to grow The book's first section explores how psychoanalytic thinking developed in Scotland while section two focuses on work with children families and couples showing how psychoanalytic perspectives can be used to strengthen capacities for loving relationships The chapters in section three show how psychoanalysis can be applied in such varied settings as psycho social research education institutional development and organisational consultancy The fourth section pursues this theme further considering the potential of psychoanalytic concepts to enhance work in religious ministry in medical and psychiatric services and in understanding the processes of ageing

Shadowlands Meike Wulf, 2016-01-01 Located within the forgotten half of Europe historically trapped between Germany and Russia Estonia has been profoundly shaped by the violent conflicts and shifting political fortunes of the last century This innovative study traces the tangled interaction of Estonian historical memory and national identity in a sweeping analysis extending from the Great War to the present day At its heart is the enduring anguish of World War Two and the subsequent half century of Soviet rule Shadowlands tells this story by foregrounding the experiences of the country's intellectuals who were instrumental in sustaining Estonian historical memory but who until fairly recently could not openly grapple with their nation's complex difficult past

Migration in China and Asia Jijiao Zhang, Howard Duncan, 2014-04-08 This book will enlarge our grasp of global migration phenomena offering insights into the fascinating at times startling realities of human migration in Asia The chapters presented in this volume offer variety in not only theme but in approach to migration in Southeast and East Asia Particularly welcome for a volume on migration studies a discipline that has long been dominated by economists sociologists and geographers are the chapters that approach the subject from an anthropological or ethnological perspective These chapters bring to our attention details of the lives of migrants and their communities that are often lost in studies of migration statistics the economic aspects of migration or aspects of urban geography with which we have become more familiar Some chapters are more theoretical in nature and herein lie some of the most important reasons for studying migration involving Asian countries migration studies have until relatively recently developed their theoretical insights on the basis of European migration to North America Asian migration offers new theoretical challenges to migration scholars its dynamism is such that predictions of what is to come are not for the risk averse The empirical studies here provide fascinating details of the strategies used by asylum seekers of marriage migration of the role of homeland languages in education of the workings of ethnic entrepreneurs of the media's role in sustaining Chinese communities and on the incentive structures that are helping to shape return flows to China For readers who are from Asian countries this book will illuminate the changes that are taking place in your region as a result of migration For readers from developed and other societies it will provide new insights into migration involving this understudied part of the world an area that supplies the lion s share of immigrants to developed economies and the area whose rapid economic development will soon make it their greatest competition for migrants especially the highly skilled

Climate Psychology Paul Hoggett,2019-06-01 This book investigates the psycho social phenomenon which is society s failure to respond to climate change It analyses the non rational dimensions of our collective paralysis in the face of worsening climate change and environmental destruction exploring the emotional ethical social organizational and cultural dynamics to blame for this global lack of action The book features eleven research projects from four different countries and is divided in two parts the first highlighting novel methodologies the second presenting new findings Contributors to the first part show how a deep listening approach to research can reveal the anxieties tensions contradictions frames and narratives that contribute to people s experiences and the many ways climate change and other environmental risks are imagined through metaphor imagery and dreams Using detailed interview extracts drawn from politicians scientists and activists as well as ordinary people the second part of the book examines the many different ways in which we both avoid and square up to this gathering disaster and the many faces of alarm outrage denial and indifference this involves

Complexity and Values in Nurse Education Martin Lipscomb,2022-07-06 This work explores the interplay of complexity and values in nurse education from a variety of vantages Contributors who come from a range of international and disciplinary backgrounds critically engage important and problematic topics that are under investigated elsewhere Taking an innovative approach each chapter is followed by one or more responses and on occasion a reply to responses This novel dialogic feature of the work tests animates and enriches the arguments being presented Thought provoking challenging and occasionally rumbustious in tone this volume has something to say to both nurse educators who may find cherished practices questioned and students Given the breadth and nature of subjects covered the book will also appeal to anyone concerned about and interested in nursing s professional development trajectory

Fashion Heritage Isabel Cantista, Damien Delille, 2023-01-01 This edited volume explores how fashion brands deal with legacy by looking at the preservation of heritage and knowledge and how this builds a bridge to the future Bringing together different reflections from the world of fashion from gloves to virtual jewels from luxury brand s digital narratives to historical contexts each chapter offers a narrative that is contemporary yet linked to historical contexts With these narratives the book reveals how innovation builds on heritage and how locally rooted traditional techniques connect to contemporary global production It illustrates how ancestral processes renew encouraging us to produce and consume more responsibly Split into three parts the book firstly covers narrative and knowledge in different contexts before delving in to narrative brand building and creativity with case studies The final section centres on digital narratives with new consumers Ultimately this book demonstrates that multidisciplinary knowledge of the past is essential to the understanding of the contemporary

Negotiating Families and Personal Lives in the 21st Century Sheila Quaid, Catriona Hugman, Angela Wilcock, 2022-01-10 This book is a vital new resource in the sociological study of family life in the 21st century The chapters in this volume explore a diverse range of family and intimate life experiences such as personal choices about reproduction and how life choices and family forms are mediated by factors including geographical location race ethnicity sexuality gender income and government policy Through a series of evidence based chapters leading sociologists explore a diverse range of family and intimate life experiences and the contexts within which they are lived and experienced Each chapter delves into the lives and experiences of people whose choices in some way seem to disrupt normative and traditional ideas of family parenting and childhood Family patterns and experiences of living apart together troubled families children in care culture coupledom same sex families and digital technology are covered and examined innovatively through theoretical engagement Chapters also incorporate innovative technologies and their use within family spaces that shape the nature of human relationships and interactions These negotiations within the family are globally contextualised within the political and ideological frameworks of societies at any given moment in time The work recognises the sensitivity of family and personal lives and incorporates the increasing need of the impact of emotionality that forms part of knowledge production. Additionally innovative methods are showcased in chapters on researching the family through socially just methods, researcher emotionality and visual data. By bringing together thought provoking research findings and innovative methodological and theoretical approaches, this collection of essays raises and articulates relevant, timely and future thinking for its readers. This book will therefore be indispensable for students and researchers as well as professionals and policymakers interested in understanding family life in the 21st century.

Environmental Melancholia Renee Lertzman, 2015-06-12. In this groundbreaking book, Renee Lertzman applies psychoanalytic theory and psychosocial research to the issue of public engagement and public apathy in response to chronic ecological threats. By highlighting unconscious and affective dimensions of contemporary ecological issues, Lertzman deconstructs the idea that there is a gap between what people care about and what is actually carried out in policy and personal practice. In doing so, she presents an innovative way to think about and design engagement practices and policy interventions. Based on key qualitative fieldwork and in-depth interviews conducted in Green Bay, Wisconsin, each chapter provides a psychosocial psychoanalytic perspective on subjectivity, affect and identity and considers what this means for understanding behaviour in relation to environmental crises and climate change. The book argues for a theory of environmental melancholia that accounts for the ways in which people experience profound loss and disruption caused by environmental issues and yet may have trouble expressing or making sense of such experiences. Environmental Melancholia offers a fresh perspective to the field of environmental psychology that until now has been largely dominated by research in cognitive behavioural and social psychology. It will appeal to academics, researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of psychoanalysis, psychosocial studies and sustainability as well as policy makers and educators internationally.
