Mothering Fionna Joy Green, 2015-11-01 Essential Breakthroughs Conversations About Men Mothers and Mothering thinks from the nexus of gender essentialism and care The authors creatively blend the philosophical and the personal to collectively argue that while gender is essential to our social and theoretical definitions of care it is dangerously co opted into naturalized discourses which limit particular identities and negate certain forms of care The perspectives curated in Essential Breakthroughs illuminate how care as a respected and productive cultural ethic is neither inherent nor instinctual for any human but is learned and fostered The chapters are informed by feminist queer and trans politics wielding post structuralist methodologies of unlearning and deconstruction while maintaining the maternal lens as a credible feminist analytical tool and not as a gender essentialist practice Maternal Theory Andrea O'Reilly, 2021-07-08 Theory on mothers

Edward Island a story that mirrors Anne's but intentionally resists many of the defining qualities of Montgomery's most famous creation. Despite being overshadowed by the immense popularity of Anne of Green Gables, the Emily of New Moon trilogy has become a subject of endless fascination to fans and scholars around the world. The trilogy was conceived during an important phase in Montgomery's career during which she turned from Anne and plunged into more intricate aspects of gender, adolescence, nature, and authorship. While the novels have attracted rich critical attention since their publication, book length studies proved surprisingly scarce. L. M. Montgomery's Emily of New Moon: A Children's Classic at 100 is the first scholarly volume exclusively dedicated to the trilogy, coalescing different research perspectives. It offers a fresh point of entrance into a well-loved classic at its one hundredth anniversary. Modern Critical Studies: A Critical Inquiry into English Literature Pradeep Hariharan, Reproductive Losses Christa Craven, 2019-05-30. Although there are far more opportunities for LGBTQ people to become parents than there were before the 1990s, attention to the reproductive challenges LGBTQ families face has not kept pace. Reproductive Losses considers LGBTQ people's experiences with miscarriage, stillbirth, failed adoptions, infertility, and sterility. Drawing on Craven's training as a feminist anthropologist and her experiences as a queer parent who has experienced loss, Reproductive Losses includes detailed stories drawn from over fifty interviews with LGBTQ people, including those who carried pregnancies, non-gestational and adoptive parents, and families from a broad range of racial, ethnic, socio-economic, and religious backgrounds, to consider how they experience loss, grief, and mourning. The book includes productive suggestions and personal narratives of resiliency, commemorative strategies, and communal support, while also acknowledging the adversity many LGBTQ people face as they attempt to form families and the heteronormativity of support resources for those who have experienced reproductive loss. This is essential reading for scholars and professionals interested in LGBTQ health and family, and for individuals in LGBTQ communities who have experienced loss and those who support them. Matricentric feminism seeks to make motherhood the business of feminism by positioning mothers' needs and concerns as the starting point for a theory and political on and for the empowerment of women as mothers. Based on the conviction that mothering is a verb, it understands that becoming and being a mother is not limited to biological mothers or cisgender women but rather to anyone who does the work of mothering as a central part of their life. The Mother Wave, the first ever book on the topic, compellingly explores how mothers need a matricentric mode of feminism organized from and for their particular identity and work as mothers, and because mothers remain disempowered despite sixty years of feminism. The anthology makes visible the power of matricentric feminism as it is theorized, enacted, and represented, to realize and achieve the subversive potential of mothers and their contributions to feminist theory and activism. Contributors share the impact and influence of matricentric feminism on families and children, culture, art, literature, education, public policy, social media, and workplace practices through personal reflections scholarly essays memoir creative non fiction poetry and photography The mother wave of matricentric feminism invites conversations with others and offers a praxis of feminism that aims to coexist overlap and intersect with others

Motherdom Alex Bollen, 2025-03-04 Blaming shaming and flimsy evidence welcome to the ugly world of Good Mother myths When Alex Bollen had her first baby the fear of being a bad mother made her guilty and anxious A researcher with twenty years experience she went looking for answers To her surprise the studies she looked at were exaggerated and misrepresented in the media forming the foundation for what she calls Good Mother myths These myths are an assortment of narratives ideologies and stereotypes deployed to censure mothers and blame them for every societal ill Incensed by the way bad science is used to shame mothers Alex Bollen decided to set the record straight With meticulous research and keen insight Motherdom exposes both the shaky science and unjustified prescriptions about how mothers should naturally behave Competing visions of birth natural versus medical mean women can be criticised whatever happens raising the odds that birth will be a damaging even deadly experience Mothers are judged and belittled whether they breast or bottle feed their babies Bogus claims about brain development and dodgy attachment theories mean that whatever mothers do it is never enough This has to stop We must replace Good Mother myths with a realistic approach to parenting Alex Bollen proposes motherdom a more expansive conception of motherhood which values and respects the different ways people raise their children Instead of finding fault with mothers Motherdom shifts our focus to the relationships and resources children need to flourish

Designing the Domestic Posthuman Colbey Emmerson Reid, Dennis M. Weiss, 2023-12-28 Ever since TIME magazine's 1983 Man of the Year was the PC we have been led to believe that our domestic spaces have been colonized by digital technology Too little attention has been paid to the domestic spaces and inhabitants impacted by this and critical posthumanism has been captured by a picture of humanity overly indebted to digital technologies and their largely male progenitors By applying feminist theory to posthumanism this work recovers the plethora of sophisticated human technology mediations associated with the home and practiced primarily by women the elderly infants the disabled and across cultures globally challenging dominant contemporary visions of a future humanity Authors Dennis M Weiss and Colbey Emmerson Reid look at various iterations of the posthuman and assert the need for alternative feminist readings that emphasize different standpoints from which to assess people places and products Chapters address the impact of posthumanism on design theory and look at familiar domestic objects with different attributes from those typically affiliated with technology and the future such as clothing textiles ceramics furniture and wallpaper They reveal their unhomely extra human qualities and offer a much needed perspective on domestic spaces and practices revivifying the home as a site of species transformation and pushing beyond traditional understandings of person mothering families and care giving to highlight a range of critically overlooked mediated materialisms and embodiments affiliated with domestic space By focusing on the neglected intersection of the posthuman with the home and exploring domestic posthuman design Designing the Domestic

Hall,Anna L. Weissman,Laura J. Shepherd,2020 In global politics women s bodies are policed objectified surveilled and feared with particular attention paid to both their met or unmet procreative potential While the significance of motherhood varies across cultures it is as this book argues connected not just to gender and sexuality but also to religion and nationality Reproduction is central to the flourishing of any nation or culture and therefore motherhood is a major signifier of women s relationship to the state This is so much the case that states enact laws about which women can bear children and have supported sterilization efforts in cases where women are not deemed appropriate bearers of the nation States also legislate reproductive technologies adoption and government support for parenting By considering representations and narratives of maternity this volume shows how practices of global politics shape and are shaped by the gendered norms and institutions that underpin motherhood Motherhood matters in global politics Yet the diverse ways in which performances and practices of motherhood are constituted by and are constitutive of other dimensions of political life are frequently obscured or assumed to be of little interest to scholars policymakers and practitioners Featuring innovative and diverse chapters on the politics of motherhood as an institution this collection shows that maternity is troubled complicated and heterogeneous in global politics Thus performances and practices of motherhood warrant closer and more sustained scrutiny This book builds on work by feminist international relations scholars extending into disruptive spaces of queer theory literary critique and post colonial studies The chapters in this book consider the meaning of motherhood particularly during times of war versus peace the connections between motherhood and nationhood and reproduction of the state and care work and maternal labor particularly as performed by transnational workers Ultimately this book demonstrates the complex interconnections between the individual the state and the global through the lens of maternity A Companion to the Anthropology of Reproductive Medicine and Technology Cecilia Coale Van Hollen,Nayantara Sheoran Appleton,2025-04-08 Provides fresh perspectives on the past present and future facing contributions of the anthropology of reproduction A Companion to the Anthropology of Reproductive Medicine and Matricentric Feminism: Theory, Activism, Practice. The 2nd Edition Andrea O'Reilly, 2021-04-04 The 2nd edition includes a new preface that considers how matricentric feminism in positioning mothering as a verb affords a gender neutral understanding of motherwork and allows for an appreciation of how motherwork is deeply gendered and how this may be challenged and changed through empowered mothering The book argues that the category of mother is distinct from the category of woman and that many of the problems mothers face are specific to women's role and identity as mothers Indeed mothers are oppressed under patriarchy as women and as mothers Consequently mothers need a feminism of their own one that positions mothers concerns as the starting point for a theory and politics of empowerment O'Reilly terms this new mode of feminism matricentric feminism and
