- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light in commercial greenhouses. Likewise, plants are flowering the opposite way (e.g., in the middle of the night).
- Increased moisture in the soil will compete with the oil for its absorption in the roots, so the length of the day must also be increased (depending on the soil moisture requirements).
- The soil must be kept moist during the day, but the water should be kept out of the soil at night. This prevents the plants from growing too fast, but it also keeps the plants from becoming too dry. The plants should be watered every 2-3 days, but not more than once every 2-3 days.
