Marcel DeCoste, 2016-03-09 Arguing against the critical commonplace that Evelyn Waugh s post war fiction represents a decline in his powers as a writer D Marcel DeCoste offers detailed analyses of Waugh s major works from Brideshead Revisited to Unconditional Surrender Rather than representing an ill advised departure from his true calling as an iconoclastic satirist DeCoste suggests these novels form a cohesive artful whole precisely as they explore the extent to which the writer's and the Catholic's vocations can coincide For all their generic and stylistic diversity these novels pursue a new sustained exploration of Waugh's art and faith both As DeCoste shows Waugh offers in his later works an under remarked meditation on the dangers of a too avid devotion to art in the context of modern secularism forging in the second half of his career a literary achievement that both narrates and enacts a contrary and Catholic literary vocation

Serving Their Country Paul C Rosier, 2010-03-01 Over the twentieth century American Indians fought for their right to be both American and Indian In an illuminating book Paul C Rosier traces how Indians defined democracy citizenship and patriotism in both domestic and international contexts Like African Americans twentieth century Native Americans served as a visible symbol of an America searching for rights and justice American history is incomplete without their story

Somalis Abroad, 2017-05-12 Drawing on a wealth of ethnographic detail Stephanie Bjork offers the first study on the messy role of clan or tribe in the Somali diaspora and the only study on the subject to include women's perspectives Somalis Abroad illuminates the ways clan is contested alongside ideas of autonomy and gender equality challenged by affinities towards others with similar migration experiences transformed because of geographical separation from family members and leveraged by individuals for cultural capital Challenging prevailing views in the field Bjork argues that clan informed practices influence everything from asylum decisions to managing money The practices also become a pattern that structures important relationships via constant and unwitting effort

The Universal Right to Education Joel Spring, 2000-04 In this book Joel Spring offers a powerful and closely reasoned justification and definition for the universal right to education applicable to all cultures as provided for in Article 26 of the United Nations Universal Declaration of Human Rights One sixth of the world's population nearly 855 million people are functionally illiterate and 130 million children in developing countries are without access to basic education Spring argues that in our crowded global economy educational deprivation has dire consequences for human welfare Such deprivation diminishes political power Education is essential for providing citizens with the tools for resisting totalitarian and repressive governments and economic exploitation What is to be done The historically grounded highly original analysis and proposals Spring sets forth in this book go a long way toward answering this urgent question Spring first looks at the debates leading up to the Universal Declaration of Human Rights in 1948 to see how the various writers dealt with the issue of cultural differences These discussions provide a framework for examining the problem of reconciling cultural differences with universal concepts He next expands on the issue of education and cultural differences by proposing a justification for education that is applicable to indigenous peoples and minority cultures and languages This justification is then applied to all people within the current global economy Acknowledging that the right to an education is inseparable from children's rights he uses the concept of a universal right to education to justify children's rights and in turn applies his definition of children's liberty rights to the concept of education His synthesis of cultural language and children's rights provides the basis for a universal justification and definition for the right to education which in the concluding chapters Spring uses to propose universal guidelines for human rights education and instruction in literacy numeracy cultural centeredness and moral economy

Contrastive Rhetoric Ulla Connor, Ed Nagelhout, William Rozycki, 2008-01-09 This volume explores contrastive rhetoric for audiences in both ESL contexts and international EFL contexts exposing the newest developments in theories of culture and discourse and pushing the boundaries beyond any previously staked ground The book presents a comprehensive set of empirical investigations involving a number of first languages 13 of the 17 authors are English as a second language speakers many working in non US contexts This work develops a coherent agenda for contrastive rhetoric researchers studying genres such as school writing grant proposals business letters newspaper editorials book reviews and newspaper commentaries Four chapters provide ethnographies and observations about contrastive rhetoric and the teaching of EFL and ESL The book ends with a look to the future suggesting it is more accurate to use the term intercultural rhetoric to account for the richness of rhetoric variation of written texts and the varying contexts in which they are constructed

Moments in Time: A Memoir Donald F. Megnin, 2010-01-13 Upon their retirement the author and his wife purchased a home in Florida where they live in the winters as well as in Erie Village a suburb of Syracuse in which they spent their summers before selling their town house They joined the Sugar Mill Country Club in New Smyrna Beach Florida after becoming Florida residents They have watched the transitions of life in which all families participate with the death of their parents the marriage of their sons the birth of their grandchildren and making gradual accommodations to old age and their own eventual demise While both the author and his wife enjoy playing golf Scrabble cards and other recreational activities he has spent several years giving speeches writings articles novels and attempting to demonstrate the transitions through which everyone journeys during the course of their lifetime

Values and Knowledge Edward S. Reed, Elliot Turiel, Terrance Brown, 2013-06-17 It is widely recognized that a person's values will profoundly affect what that person attends to thinks about and remembers Yet despite this psychologists have only begun to study and think about the deep connections between values and knowledge This volume explores this important area in psychology by offering an overview of what is known about the developmental role of valuation in the acquisition of knowledge and also by examining a range of new ideas for understanding the intricate connection between evaluation and thinking More specifically the text provides a historical overview of philosophical and psychological theories relating the values and knowledge reviews the importance of values for infants and their caretakers in the origins of both cognition and social relations offers a provocative view of how the differences among families in their values may have profound affects on psychological development explicates the development of a personal sphere within which one strives to shape one's own values emphasizes the heterogeneity of valuation inherent in every culture and how conflicts of values are likely to be common and important to human development presents eye opening research on social cognitive limitations of average people in respecting the points of view of others and summarizes and critiques Piaget's theory of the role of values in development For practitioners in the fields of developmental and social psychology and education this volume will introduce a number of important and current issues from multiculturalism and gender to the differential roles of temperament and upbringing in development The emphasis is placed squarely on developing individuals and how they shape themselves in a world that is structured by values as well as by facts

PROCEEDINGS OF THE THIRD INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ON GLOBALIZATION: CHALLENGES FOR TRANSLATORS AND INTERPRETERS

Zhiqing Zhang, Youbin Zhao, Xinjie Wang, 2020-05-26 With the implementation of the Belt and Road Initiative and the development of Guangdong Hong Kong Macau Greater Bay Area the demand for translators and interpreters continues to grow in China The breakthrough in artificial intelligence which has contributed to an enormous improvement in the quality of machine translation means challenges and opportunities for translators and interpreters as well as studies of translation and interpreting Studies of translation and interpreting have been further expanded and diversified in the era of globalized communications The interrelation between translation and globalization is essential reading for not only scholars and educators but also anyone with an interest in translation and interpreting studies or a concern for the future of our world s languages and cultures By focusing on the connection between the two various researches have been conducted in all forms of communication between languages including translation interpreting cross cultural communication language teaching and the various specializations involved in such activities This has resulted in The Third International Conference on Globalization Challenges for Translators and Interpreters co organized by the School of Translation Studies Jinan University on its Zhuhai campus and South China Business College Guangdong University of Foreign Studies November 16 17 2019 The response to the conference was once more overwhelming which was partly attributed to the previous two conferences held successfully under the same title Apart from five keynote speakers over one hundred and fifty participants came from universities institutions or organizations from mainland China Spain New Zealand as well as Hong Kong and Macao to attend the event contributing over 130 papers in total Among the keynote speakers are internationally renowned scholars in translation studies such as Dr Roberto Valde n professor of English Linguistics at the University of Oviedo Spain and the Chief Editor of Perspective Studies in Translatology Dr Sun Yifeng chair professor of Translation Studies and head of the English Department at the University of Macau Dr Tan Zaixi distinguished professor of Shenzhen University and Chair Professor of Beijing Foreign Studies University and Professor Emeritus of Hong Kong Baptist University After careful evaluation and compilation 90 papers have been selected for this conference proceedings which was summarized into the following four topics Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice Translation and Cross cultural Studies Evaluation of Translation and Interpretation and Studies on the Teaching of Translation By no means is it difficult to find some interesting and thought provoking papers under each topic For example concerning Translation and Interpreting Theory and Practice To Translate or not to Translate That is the Question On Metaphor Translation in Chinese Political works by Dong Yu explains that in judging whether or not a Chinese metaphor can be translated into English an indispensable step is to decide whether or not the two cultural connotations can be connected But this can easily be influenced by subjective factors Yu has suggested some ways in which subjective factors could be controlled to some extent so that the translator could be more confident in his or her decision He has also suggested three steps The first step is to assume that the cultural connotation of the Chinese metaphor can be connected with that of its English version For example the metaphor in could be translated as rain or shine The second step is to find out whether or not this translated version is acceptable both linguistically and culturally in English The third step is to consider the systematicity of the metaphor in regard with the context in both the source and target texts This involves a process of recontextualization When it comes to Translation and Cross cultural Studies On Translation of the English Guide interpreter from the Perspective of Intercultural Communication by Fengxia Liua and Xiaoning Bi points out that inbound tourism serves as a window through which foreign tourists get to know China so the interaction between the guide interpreters and foreign tourists are the typical activity of cultural communication Foreign language speaking guides are usually regarded as people to people ambassadors or cultural ambassadors who have played an essential role in the international tourist industry Therefore they argue that it is extremely important for tourist guides to cultivate their cross cultural communication awareness enhance their overall communicative competence observe and distinguish east and west differences with multi dimensional perspective transcend cultural barriers and learn to use translation skills Studies on the Teaching of Translation is another interesting topic that has attracted enormous attention such as Business Translation Teaching from the Perspective of Metaphors by Dandan Li which explores application of conceptual metaphor theory in the translation process of business lexicons business discourse and business English culture so as to provide a new perspective in business English pedagogy Another study entitled Cognitive Studies in Translation by Xin Huang analyzes the cognitive studies of translation interpreting processes over the past three decades with focus on the issues examined the findings reached as well as the recent development She explains that cognitive studies of translation process examine the translation competence on line translation behaviors such as how the eye gazes and how the words are typed and the brain activities when doing translation Special interests are paid to the working memory problem solving the executive function and some linguistic relative factors such as text difficulty Over the past thirty years the interest in the field has been gaining considerable momentum and increasing issues have been involved Finally she concludes that with the advancement of technologies and interdisciplinary approaches the black box the previously unforeseeable cognitive activities of how human process translation can be unfolded Considering the importance of integrating theory with practice the proceedings are therefore compiled in such a way as to be balanced and inclusive in the hope of summarizing current accomplishments as well as providing certain insights for teaching and further research in the field of translation and interpretation studies
