Experience Peter N. Stearns, 2006 Thinking History Globally Diego Olstein, 2014-11-04 The book brings together many recent trends in writing history under a common framework thinking history globally By thinking history globally the book explains applies and exemplifies the four basic strategies of analysis the big C's comparing connecting conceptualizing and contextualizing using twelve different branches of history Navigating World History P. Manning, 2003-05-15 World history has expanded dramatically in recent years primarily as a teaching field and increasingly as a research field Growing numbers of teachers and Ph.D.s in history are required to teach the subject They must be current on topics from human evolution to industrial development in Song dynasty China to today's disease patterns and then link these disparate topics into a coherent course Numerous textbooks in print and in preparation summarize the field of world history at an introductory level But good teaching also requires advanced training for teachers and access to a stream of new research from scholars trained as world historians In this book Patrick Manning provides the first comprehensive overview of the academic field of world history He reviews patterns of research and debate and proposes guidelines for study by teachers and by researchers in world history History Textbooks and the Wars in Asia Gi-Wook Shin, Daniel C.

Sneider, 2011-02-08 Over the past fifteen years Northeast Asia has witnessed growing intraregional exchanges and interactions especially in the realms of culture and economy Still the region cannot escape from the burden of history This book examines the formation of historical memory in four Northeast Asian societies China Japan South Korea and Taiwan and the United States focusing on the period from the beginning of the Sino Japanese war in 1931 until the formal conclusion of the Pacific War with the San Francisco Peace Treaty of 1951 The contributors analyse the recent efforts of Korean Japanese and Chinese scholars to write a common history of Northeast Asia and question the underlying motivations for their efforts and subsequent achievements In doing so they contend that the greatest obstacle to reconciliation in Northeast Asia lies in the existence of divided and often conflicting historical memories The book argues that a more fruitful approach lies in understanding how historical memory has evolved in each country and been incorporated into respective master narratives Through uncovering the existence of different master narratives it is hoped citizens will develop a more self critical self reflective approach to their own history and that such an introspective effort has the potential to lay the foundation for greater self and mutual understanding and eventual historical reconciliation in the region This book will be essential reading for students and scholars of Asian history Asian education and international relations in East Asia Teaching American
