Systems Engineering to Improve Traumatic Brain Injury Care in the Military Health System Institute of Medicine, National Academy of Engineering, 2009-04-03 This book makes a strong case for taking advantage of the best of two disciplines health care and operational systems engineering a combination of science and mathematics to describe analyze plan design and integrate systems with complex interactions among people processes materials equipment and facilities to improve the efficiency and quality of health care delivery as well as health care outcomes Those most interested in pursuing this approach include leaders in the U S Department of Defense DOD and Department of Veterans Affairs who are committed to finding ways of improving the quality of care for military personnel veterans and their families Intrigued by the possibilities DOD decided to sponsor a series of workshops to explore the potential of operational systems engineering principals and tools for military health care beginning with the diagnosis and care of traumatic brain injury TBI one of the most prevalent difficult and challenging injuries suffered by warriors in Iraq and Afghanistan The Simulation Metamodel Linda Weiser Friedman,2012-12-06 Researchers develop simulation models that emulate real world situations While these simulation models are simpler than the real situation they are still quite complex and time consuming to develop It is at this point that metamodeling can be used to help build a simulation study based on a complex model A metamodel is a simpler analytical model auxiliary to the simulation model which is used to better understand the more complex model to test hypotheses about it and provide a framework for improving the simulation study The use of metamodels allows the researcher to work with a set of mathematical functions and analytical techniques to test simulations without the costly running and re running of complex computer programs In addition metamodels have other advantages and as a result they are being used in a variety of ways model simplification optimization model interpretation generalization to other models of similar systems efficient sensitivity analysis and the use of the metamodel s mathematical functions to answer questions about different variables within a simulation study Information Technology for Balanced Manufacturing Systems Weiming Shen,2007-03-07 The manufacturing sector has been facing major challenges as it undergoes revolutionary changes fuelled by new and sophisticated demands from customers global competition distribution of manufacturing and marketing activities and technological advances In order to address these challenges manufacturing enterprises need to change the way they do business and adopt innovative technologies and solutions to increase their responsiveness and production efficiency Information technology plays an essential role in this process Current manufacturing systems are collections of complex systems or subsystems operating in distributed collaborative environments involving software hardware humans and organizations It is crucial to keep a balance between the technical aspects of automation and the human and social facets when applying information technology in industrial applications particularly with the rapid advancements in information and communication technologies and the wide deployment of automated manufacturing systems However in order to create appropriate frameworks for exploring the best synergies between humans and automated systems there are still numerous issues in terms of processes characterization modeling and development of adequate support tools BASYS conferences have been developed and organized to promote the development of balanced automation systems in an attempt to address these issues The first BASYS conference was successfully launched in Victoria Brazil 1995 and then the following conferences were held in Lisbon Portugal 1996 Prague Czech Republic 1998 Berlin Germany 2000 Cancun Mexico 2002 and Vienna Austria 2004 Networks Of Interacting Machines: Production Organization In Complex Industrial Systems And Biological Cells Dieter Armbruster,Kunihiko Kaneko,Alexander S Mikhailov,2005-10-12 This review volume is devoted to a discussion of analogies and differences of complex production systems natural as in biological cells or man made as in economic systems or industrial production Taking this unified look at production is based on two observations Cells and many biological networks are complex production units that have evolved to solve production problems in a reliable and optimal way in a highly stochastic environment On the other hand industrial production is becoming increasingly complex and often hard to predict As a result modeling and control of such production networks involve many different spatial and temporal scales and decision policies for many different structures The common themes of industrial and biological production include evolution and optimization synchronization and self organization robust operation despite high stochasticity and hierarchical dynamics The mathematical techniques used come from dynamical systems theory transport equations control theory pattern formation graph theory discrete event simulations stochastic processes and others The application areas range from semiconductor production to supply chains protein networks slime molds social networks and whole economies A Comparative Analysis of Resource Allocation Plans For Urban Fire Safety , Evaluating Mathematical Programming Techniques J. M. Mulvey,2012-12-06 Deployment methodology for fire departments United States. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Office of Policy Development and Research,1977 Radar Imaging for Maritime Observation Fabrizio Berizzi,Marco Martorella,Elisa Giusti,2018-01-24 Based on the experiences of the Department of Information Engineering of the University of Pisa and the Radar and Surveillance System RaSS national laboratory of the National Interuniversity Consortium of Telecommunication CNIT Radar Imaging for Maritime Observation presents the most recent results in radar imaging for maritime observation The book explores both the areas of sea surface remote sensing and maritime surveillance providing key theoretical concepts of SAR and ISAR imaging and more advanced and ad hoc techniques for applications in maritime scenarios The book is organized in two sections The first section discusses the fundamentals of standard SAR ISAR processing and novel imaging techniques such as Bistatic Passive and 3D Interferometric ISAR The second section focuses on the applications and results obtained by processing real data from maritime observations like SAR image processing for oil spill detection in SAR images and fractal analysis Useful to both beginners and experts in maritime observation this book provides several examples of mainly space borne radar imaging of maritime targets Nevertheless the same principles and techniques apply to the case of manned or unmanned carriers and to ground and air moving targets Scalable Enterprise Systems Vittal Prabhu,Soundar Kumara,Manjunath Kamath,2012-12-06 The National Science Foundation NSF is the leading sponsor of basic academic research in engineering and its influence far exceeds its budget We think NSF is at its best when it uses that influence to focus interest within the researcher community on critical new challenges and technologies NSF s Scalable Enterprise Systems SES initiative for which we were responsible in our successive terms in the division of Design Manufacture and Industrial Innovation DMII was just such a venture A collaborative effort spanning NSF s engineering and computer science directorates SES sought to concentrate the energies of the academic engineering research community on developing a science base for designing planning and controlling the extended spatially and managerially distributed enterprises that have become the norm in the manufacture distribution and sale of the products of U S industry The of associated issues addressed included everything from management supply chains to product design across teams of collaborating companies to e marketing and make to order manufacturing to the information technology challenges of devising inter operable planning and control tools that can scale with exploding enterprise size and scope A total of 27 teams with nearly 100 investigators were selected from the 89 submitted proposals in the Phase I exploratory part of the effort see the list below Seven of these were awarded larger multi year grants to continue their research in Phase II As the contents of this book amply illustrate these investigations continue to flourish with and without direct NSF support Quantitative Techniques P. C. Tulsian,2006 Quantitative Techniques Theory and Problems adopts a fresh and novel approach to the study of quantitative techniques and provides a comprehensive coverage of the subject Essentially designed for extensive practice and self study this book will serve as a tutor at home Chapters contain theory in brief numerous solved examples and exercises with exhibits and tables Healthcare Information Technology Innovation and Sustainability: Frontiers and Adoption Tan, Joseph,2013-01-31 Healthcare Information Technology Innovation and Sustainability Frontiers and Adoption presents research in the emerging field on information systems and informatics in the healthcare industry By addressing innovative concepts and critical issues through case studies and experimental research this reference source is useful for practitioners researchers and academics aiming to advance the knowledge and practice of these interdisciplinary fields of healthcare information Evolutionary Optimization Ruhul Sarker,Masoud Mohammadian,Xin Yao,2006-04-11 Evolutionary computation techniques have attracted increasing att tions in recent years for solving complex optimization problems They are more robust than traditional methods based on formal logics or mathematical programming for many real world OR MS problems E lutionary computation techniques can deal with complex optimization problems better than traditional optimization techniques However most papers on the application of evolutionary computation techniques to Operations Research Management Science OR MS problems have scattered around in different journals and conference proceedings They also tend to focus on a very special and narrow topic It is the right time that an archival book series publishes a special volume which cludes critical reviews of the state of art of those evolutionary com tation techniques which have been found particularly useful for OR MS problems and a collection of papers which represent the latest devel ment in tackling various OR MS problems by evolutionary computation techniques This special volume of the book series on Evolutionary timization aims at filling in this gap in the current literature The special volume consists of invited papers written by leading searchers in the field All papers were peer reviewed by at least two recognised reviewers The book covers the foundation as well as the practical side of evolutionary optimization Implementation and Integration of Information Systems in the Service Sector Wang, John,2012-12-31 With the continuous growth of the service sector the ability to develop and implement information systems is important in order to measure progress Implementation and Integration of Information Systems in the Service Sector is a collection of research which discusses the application of information systems as well as the established ideas and advancements in the service sector This book aims to utilize new theories technologies models and methods in order to discover effective functions in this area Naval Research Logistics Quarterly ,1981 The Transformation of Criminal Due Process in the Administrative State Rosann Greenspan,2014-01-24 A classic study in law and society is now readily available to scholars researchers and others in the field of criminal justice due process policing and administrative procedure It adds a new Preface by the author and a new Foreword by Berkeley law professor Malcolm M Feeley As the author reflects I think it was my first day in the field that the police liaison to the district attorney s probation revocation program exclaimed Forget rights Forget right to jury Forget right to bail There are no rights As Malcolm Feeley says in his Foreword what I discovered over the course of researching and writing this study was in plain view from the beginning The criminal process has largely been subsumed as an administrative process and the procedural rights enshrined in the Bill of Rights have long since faded away What I hope my work explains is how this happened doctrinally how the expansion of criminal due process was halted and redirected by the very administrative due process revolution it gave birth to And how it happened in practice how police prosecutors and corrections came to realize that they had the tools to bypass the criminal process in enforcing the criminal sanction In his new Foreword Feeley describes the book as a brilliant analysis of the criminal process and explains why its relevance and theoretical power have increased over time In a nation where legal rights and process became enhanced in criminal courts and formal processes of adjudication Greenspan showed the bypassing of much of this framework by the substitution of parole revocation probation and the like by what Feeley summarizes as the triumph of the administrative model Her thesis shows how this occurred The backlash to the Warren Court s criminal due process revolutions was not a wholesale abandonment of rights but an embrace of a lower standard of due process administrative due process Some of these changes are well known of course but Greenspan s study is brilliant precisely because it problematizes these developments It identifies the central issue how thinking about the criminal process has been so fundamentally yet unwittingly transformed This book is a powerful look at these reforms and transformations presented in the Classic Dissertation Series by Quid Pro Books Quality ebook formatting includes properly presented tables active contents and linked notes A new paperback edition of this book is also available Determinants of International Differences in Reported Fire Loss , Building a Better Delivery System Institute of Medicine,National Academy of Engineering,2005-09-20 In a joint effort between the National Academy of Engineering and the Institute of Medicine this books attempts to bridge the knowledge awareness divide separating health care professionals from their potential partners in systems engineering and related disciplines The goal of this partnership is to transform the U S health care sector from an underperforming conglomerate of independent entities individual practitioners small group practices clinics hospitals pharmacies community health centers et al into a high performance system in which every participating unit recognizes its dependence and influence on every other unit By providing both a framework and action plan for a systems approach to health care delivery based on a partnership between engineers and health care professionals Building a Better Delivery System describes opportunities and challenges to harness the power of systems engineering tools information technologies and complementary knowledge in social sciences cognitive sciences and business management to advance the U S health care system
