Real House Lives Michael Morden et al.,2020-02-01 We re not just in a sort of post truth politics but we re in a post democratic politics Former Member of Parliament Democracy s future has become uncertain Politicians are viewed with deep cynicism Political parties have lost touch with mass society Citizens expectations of what their democracy should do have outstripped what their institutions can provide All of this is feeding a wave of polarization populism and anxiety around the world with Canadians much more likely to say their democracy is becoming weaker rather than stronger Real House Lives uses the stories and experiences of former parliamentarians to understand what s going wrong with our national politics and to put forward a vision of democratic representation that is independent thoughtful engaged and empowered It follows MPs through their lives and work exploring how this vision of political leadership can be realized through a stronger Parliament better local democratic engagement and healthier parties This may be an ambitious view but Canadian democracy requires ambition especially in a public climate of increasing partisanship cynicism and distrust This book is for anyone who has ever imagined offering their career and life to public service It s a how to guide an inspirational account and perhaps a warning

Bringing the Arts into the Library Carol Smallwood,2014 Using a library s facilities to bring arts to the community is not only a valuable service but also a wonderful marketing and outreach opportunity a tangible way to show the public that libraries offer value thus shoring up grassroots support Editor Smallwood has combed the country finding examples of programs implemented by a variety of different types of libraries to enrich educate and entertain patrons through the arts Her book shares such successful efforts as Poetry programs in the public library Gatherings for local authors at the community college Creative writing in middle schools Multicultural arts presentations at the university library Initiatives to fight illiteracy through the arts The amazing creativity and resourcefulness found in each example provide practical models which can be adapted to any library environment inspiring librarians looking for unique programming ideas

Model Railroad Craftsman, 1986 Neoliberalizing Spaces in the Philippines Arnisson Andre Ortega, 2016-09-09 Amidst the recent global financial crisis and housing busts in various countries the Philippines booming housing industry has been heralded as Southeast Asia s hottest real estate hub and the saving grace of a supposedly resilient Philippine economy This growth has been fueled by demand from balikbayan returnee Overseas Filipinos and has facilitated the rise of gated suburban communities in Manila's sprawling peri urban fringe. But as the Filipino dreams of successful balikbayans are built inside these new gated residential developments, the lives of marginalized populations living in these spaces have been upended and thrown into turmoil as they face threats of expulsion. Based on almost four years of research, this book examines the tumultuous geographies of neoliberalization that link suburbanization, transnational mobilities, and accumulation by dispossession. Through an accounting of real estate and new suburban landscapes, it tells of a Filipino transnationalism that engenders a market-based and privatized suburban political economy that reworks socio-spatial relations and class dynamics. In presenting the literal and discursive transformations of spaces in Manila's peri urban fringe, the book details life inside new gated suburban communities and discusses the everyday geographies of privileged new property owners, mainly comprised of balikbayan families, and exposes the contradictions of gated suburban life, from resistance to Home Owner Association rules to alienating feelings of loss. It also reveals the darker side of the property boom by mapping the volatile spaces of the Philippines' surplus populations, comprised of the landless farmers, informal settler residents, and indigenous peoples. To make way for gated communities and other profitable developments in the peri urban region, marginalized residents are systematically dispossessed and displaced while concomitantly offered relocation to isolated socialized housing projects, the last frontier for real estate accumulation. These compelling accounts illustrate how the territorial embeddedness of neoliberalization in the Philippines entails the consolidation of capital by political-economic elites and privatization of residential space for an idealized transnational property clientele. More than ever, as the Philippines is being reshaped by diaspora and accumulation by dispossession, the contemporary moment is a critical time to reflect on what it truly means to be a nation.

Making #Charlottesville Aniko Bodroghkozy, 2023-05-22. The 2017 Summer of Hate in Charlottesville became a worldwide media event, putting at center stage the resurgence of emboldened and empowered white supremacy and alt-right extremism, as well as the antiracist movement opposing it. Aniko Bodroghkozy's trenchant study examines this formative moment in recent U.S. history by juxtaposing it against two other epochal moments that put American racism and the struggle against it on worldwide display: the 1963 Birmingham and 1965 Selma campaigns of the civil rights movement. Making Charlottesville investigates the historical rhymes in the mass media's treatment of these events, separated by half a century, along with the ways that activists on both sides made use of the new media environment of their day to organize and amplify their respective messages. Bodroghkozy teases out the connections, similarities, and resonances among these events from the ways all three places were consciously chosen as stage sets for media campaigns to the similarly iconic and heavily circulated images they produced to the sustained cultural purchase they continue to hold in the United States and around the world
