

Ten-Minute Grammar

SUBORDINATE CLAUSES

INTRODUCTION:

Objectives for Ten-Minute Grammar: The goal of these units is to help students build a solid understanding of grammar level concepts including that there are clauses and that these clauses make up the basic unit of a sentence. Through a presentation, a picture, and grammatical examples and exercises the students will be able to: build upon, and learn, subordinate and independent clauses, how clauses are used to create sentences and build the sentence structure, and why it is necessary to keep the sentence structure through the sentence and understand the basic of words phrases.

This unit includes a series of a half of daily ten-minute sessions, a quiz, and two practice assignments.

STUDENT MATERIALS:

- What are the three main types of clauses?
- What is a subordinate clause? How does it relate to the main clause? (The main clause is the independent clause, the subordinate clause is the dependent clause.)
- Why is it important to know the difference between a subordinate clause and an independent clause?
 - It is important to know the difference between a subordinate clause and an independent clause because it is important to know the difference between a subordinate clause and an independent clause.
 - DIFFERENCE: The "subordinate clause" is a clause that is a subordinate clause, the "independent clause" is a clause that is an independent clause.
