Weak Island Semantics Márta Abrusán, 2014-02-20 This book presents a novel semantic account of weak or selective islands Weak islands are configurations that block the displacement of certain elements in a sentence Examples of island violations with acceptable counterexamples include How much wine haven't you drunk but Which girl haven't you introduced to Mary How does John regret that he danced at the party but Who does John regret that he invited to the party or How much wine do you know whether you will produce but Which glass of wine do you know whether you'll poison For forty years or more explanations of the unacceptability of these island constructions have been syntactic Syntactic accounts have also provided some of the key empirical motivation for Chomsky's claim that universal grammar UG contains language independent abstract syntactic constraints But syntactic accounts however subtle fail to explain why many weak island violations are made almost acceptable by modals and attitude verbs as in How much wine aren't you allowed to drink How fast do you hope Lewis didn't drive or How does Romeo regret he was allowed to go to the party Dr Abrusán considers which contexts and expressions create or are sensitive to weak island violations and examines the factors that go some way to curing them She puts forward a semantic analysis to account for the unacceptability of violations of negative presuppositional quantificational and wh islands She explains why grammaticality violations can be obviated by certain modal expressions and why and how far the grammaticality judgments of speakers depend on the context of the utterance The book argues that there is no need to assume abstract syntactic rules in order to derive these facts rather they can be made to follow from independent semantic principles If correct this work has a fundamental consequence for the field of linguistics in general it removes some of the most important reasons for postulating abstract syntactic rules as part of UG and hence weakens the arguments for postulating a module of UG
