All One System Harold L. Hodgkinson,1985 This report is a demographic study of the United States education system from kindergarten through post graduate education Part 1 provides a briefing on the major demographic trends that form the framework of the analysis in terms of 1 number of births in different groups 2 rate of age increase in various groups due to varying birth rates 3 changes in family status 4 differences in educational needs by region and 5 education including educational supply and job demand and the growing need for day care and early childhood programs such as Head Start Part 2 concerns the retention of students through the school system to high school graduation Part 3 concerns the accessibility of college to different socioeconomic groups Part 4 discusses retention of students through college graduation in the context of the number of years it takes students to reach that goal Throughout suggestions are offered on how to deal with the impact of increased minorities in the educational system and how best to structure curricula to better educate the population as a whole CG

Urban Youth and School Pushout Eve Tuck,2012-03-15 Winner of the 2013 American Educational Studies Association s Critics Choice Award Recent efforts to reform urban high schools have been marked by the pursuit of ever increasing accountability policies most notably through the use of high stakes standardized testing mayoral control and secondary school exit exams Urban Youth and School Pushout excavates the unintended consequences of such policies on secondary school completion by focusing specifically on the use and over use of the GED credential Building on a tradition of critical theory and political economy of education author Eve Tuck offers a provocative analysis of how accountability tacitly and explicitly pushes out under performing students from the system By drawing on participatory action research as well as the work of indigenous scholars and theories this theoretically and empirically rich book illustrates urban public schooling as a dialectic of humiliating ironies and dangerous dignities Focusing on the experiences of youth who have been pushed out of their schools under the auspices of obtaining a GED Tuck reveals new insights on how urban youth view accountability schooling value the GED and yearn for multiple meaningful routes to graduation

Striving Together Jeff Edmondson, Nancy L. Zimpher, 2014-10-30 Chronicles the development of a framework for collective impact in education through the perspectives of its founders and lessons learned from pioneering sites In 2006 Cincinnati and Northern Kentucky had been suffering from many of the same challenges facing metro regions across the country Despite significant investments in education from the public and private sectors outcomes were alarming Kindergarten readiness was below fifty percent and nearly half of the students in the Cincinnati Public Schools were dropping out before high school graduation Fortunately a diverse group of community leaders across sectors was exploring a transformative approach to improving education as a system This gathering of leaders was the genesis of the StrivePartnership which served as the inspiration for the theory of collective impact Together these partners are building a cradle to career civic infrastructure based on the idea that everyone in a community has a stake in the success of every child This book chronicles the early stages of this ongoing journey from the perspective of the founding chair and director of this work drawing upon lessons from Cincinnati Northern Kentucky and four other pioneering local partnerships The experiences captured in these five regions helped lay the foundation for the StriveTogether Cradle to Career Network a national community of practice on the cutting edge of social change I have always held that education is the responsibility of the entire community not just the schools StriveTogether's experience shows that it is possible to drive the systemic change we need I recommend this book to all who are looking for a community wide roadmap to a better future for our children Richard W Riley former US Secretary of Education No one sector can tackle society's challenges alone Striving Together's practical guide offers excellent tools for leaders in all sectors to use in creating collaborative solutions to improve education and outcomes for children It's inspiring to see communities coming together to create opportunities for all children with a cradle to career approach Stacey D Stewart US President United Way Worldwide History provides many examples of efforts to help whole communities to thrive Collective impact is the latest and most promising idea for how to get it done and StriveTogether is the leading example on the ground This book is a welcome contribution representing the state of the art
