Tennessee could expand Medicaid to 200,000
adults by January 1, 2016.

However, Tennessee's history of cutting health care spending could leave the Medicaid expansion alternative on shaky ground.
