Reading and Writing for Civic Literacy Donald Lazere, 2017-07-05 Lazere's book is heaven sent and will provide a crucial link in the chain of understanding how conflicts are structured and most importantly how they can be rationally addressed a healthy antidote to the scepticism that has become so pervasive in academic life Alan Hausman Hunter College This innovative book addresses the need for college students to develop critical reading writing and thinking skills for self defence in the contentious arena of American civic rhetoric In a groundbreaking reconception of composition theory it presents a comprehensive critical perspective on American public discourse and practical methods for its analysis Exercises following the text sections and readings help students understand the ideological positions and rhetorical patterns that underlie opposing viewpoints in current controversies such as the growing inequality of wealth in America and its impact on the finances of college students as expressed in paired sets of readings from the political left and right Widely debated issues of whether objectivity is possible and whether there is a liberal or conservative bias in news and entertainment media as well as in education itself are foregrounded as topics for rhetorical analysis Writing Argumentative Essays Nancy V. college as explicitly embedded in socio rhetorical situations beyond the classroom From this conviction develops a commitment to teach writing with an emphasis on analyzing the social and political dimensions of rhetoric By focusing on the structures of labor and of institutions that enforce those structures the author finds teachers and administrators are too easily swept along with the inertia of a hyper commodified society in which students especially working class students are often positioned as commodities themselves A critique of the field of composition as much as it is a critique of capitalism
