Systematic Classroom Assessment Sarah Bonner, Peggy Chen, 2019-03-22 Systematic Classroom Assessment promotes a fresh vision of assessment for student learning and achievement. Using a framework that positions assessment as both an iterative purposeful cycle of inquiry for teachers as well as a coherent system of activities through which students engage in their own learning, this framework for classroom assessment is unique in incorporating self-regulated learning, motivation and non-cognitive processes. Key components such as assessment for learning, feedback, emerging technologies and specific content areas are treated in depth and fundamental principles like reliability, validity and fairness are approached from the classroom perspective.

Transmedial Worlds in Everyday Life Susana Tosca, Lisbeth Klastrop, 2019-09-17 In this pioneering new book, authors Klastrop and Tosca explore the many ways that transmedial worlds are present in people's everyday life, proposing a new theory of transmedia use for the digital age. People are not only reading, watching and playing in fictional worlds like never before but also using them to reflect about their lives through Facebook, Twitter, YouTube and other channels, commenting on their marriages or their life at the office, analyzing current news or reminiscing on the role these worlds played in their childhood. The book's unique methodological approach combines an aesthetic and literary perspective that looks closely at the different fictional universes with an empirical user perspective that builds upon 15 years of sustained work on transmediality. The result is a theory that covers both the personal experiential dimension of fictional worlds and the social dimension of sharing with each other. A fascinating and contemporary examination of media worlds and their communities, this book offers students and scholars of fandom, media, cultural and reception studies a new theoretical and methodological framework through which to understand the phenomenon of transmedial worlds and people's engagement with them.
