saturated in highly skilled oral rhetoric would have heard and received Paul's message

The Price of Partnership in the Letter of Paul to the Philippians Mark A. Jennings, 2018-01-25 Mark A Jennings challenges the consensus that there is no clear single purpose that shapes the entire epistle to the Philippians instead arguing that there is significant evidence for Paul to have written the letter with the sole intent of persuading the church to maintain its exclusive partnership with him and his gospel mission Jennings examines each section of Philippians with standard historical critical methods rhetorical criticism and social scientific methods Establishing that Paul's argument is rooted in three fundamental tenets emphasis is first placed on koinonia and the agreement that Paul and the Philippians had entered into regarding his apostolic mission Second Jennings looks at the repeated proofs that Paul offers that simultaneously affirm the ordained superiority of his apostolic mission and repudiate the claims of his rivals Third Jennings analyses the issue of finances in the epistle discussing how Paul rhetorically transforms the Philippians financial support into a salient indicator that they esteem his gospel mission authentic Finally whereas other scholars have argued that Paul entreats the Philippians to be steadfast in their commitment to the gospel of Christ Jennings proposes that Paul urges the church to be steadfast in their commitment to his gospel of Christ Jennings then considers how this seemingly small distinction has profound ramifications for understanding the letter and shows the gap between these interpretations

Edinburgh Companion to Nineteenth-Century American Letters and Letter-Writing Celeste-Marie Bernier, 2016-02-15 Provides a wide ranging entry point and intervention into scholarship on nineteenth century American letter writing This comprehensive study by leading scholars in an important new field the history of letters and letter writing is essential reading for anyone interested in nineteenth century American politics history or literature Because of its mass literacy population mobility and extensive postal system nineteenth century America is a crucial site for the exploration of letters and their meanings whether they be written by presidents and statesmen scientists and philosophers novelists and poets feminists and reformers immigrants Native Americans or African Americans This book breaks new ground by mapping the voluminous correspondence of these figures and other important American writers and thinkers Rather than treating the letter as a spontaneous private document the contributors understand it as a self conscious artefact circulating between friends and strangers and across multiple genres in ways that both make and break social ties Key Features Draws together different emphases on the intellectual literary and social uses of letter writing Provides students and researchers with a means to situate letters in their wider theoretical and historical contexts Methodologically expansive intellectually interrogative chapters based on original research by leading academics Offers new insights into the lives and careers of Louisa May Alcott Charles Brockden Brown Emily Dickinson Frederick Douglass Margaret Fuller Henry James Thomas Jefferson Abraham Lincoln Herman Melville Harriet Beecher Stowe and Edgar Allan Poe among many others
