The Dark Blue ... ,1862      The Dark Blue: September 1871 John Christian Freund,1862      Paper on Dunald Mill hole John Peter Smith,1890      Suburbanizing the Masses Colin

Divall,Winstan Bond,2017-09-29 This title was first published in 2003 Suburbanizing the Masses examines how collective forms of transport have contributed to the spatial and social evolution of towns and cities in various countries since the mid nineteenth century Divided into two sections the volume develops first the classic tradition on transport and the city public transport s impact on urban development The contextualisation of transport is one important factor in the historical debates surrounding urban development As well as analysing the discourse employed by urban political and business elites in favour of public transport these contributions show the degree to which practice often fell short of ideals The second section tackles the professional paradigms of urban transport the circulation of traffic in cities and the technological modes appropriate to its realization In particular these contributions explore the paradigms held by professional planners and managers and the political classes associated with them From a variety of perspectives Suburbanizing the Masses demonstrates the continuing relevance of socio historical inquiry on the relationship between public transport and urban development By differentiating between the many roles of urban transport in the nineteenth century it confirms that public transport was not directly linked to urban growth and instead often had only a limited effect on the wider urban structure Suburbanizing the Masses forces a reassessment of the received historiography that maintains cheap public transport was essential to the spectacular growth of cities in the nineteenth century
