Town Planning For Australia Studies In International Planning History:

Town Planning for Australia George Taylor, 2014-08-07 George Taylor's Town Planning for Australia was the first dedicated book on the subject of urban planning published in Australia. Journalistic and ideological in style, it sets out a robust vision for a specifically Australian approach to planning and development of towns in a young country. Taylor was a controversial figure, a political activist and publisher who brought the NSW Town Planning Association into existence and played a key role in publishing and promoting planning into the 1920s. His wife Florence Taylor was the first female qualified architect and trained engineer in Australia and an important figure in the history of planning and publishing in Australia.

The Routledge Handbook of International Planning Education Nancey Green Leigh, Steven P French, Subhrajit Guhathakurta, Bruce Stifft, 2019-07-23 The Routledge Handbook of International Planning Education is the first comprehensive handbook with a unique focus on planning education. Comparing approaches to the delivery of planning education by three major planning education accreditation bodies in the United States, Australia, and the United Kingdom, and reflecting concerns from other national planning systems, this handbook will help to meet the strong interest and need for understanding how planning education is developed and delivered in different international contexts. The handbook is divided into five major sections including coverage of general planning knowledge, planning skills, traditional and emerging planning specializations, and pedagogy. An international cohort of contributors covers each subject's role in educating planners, its theory and methods, key literature contributions, and course design. Higher education's response to globalization has included growth in planning educational exchanges across international boundaries. The Routledge Handbook of International Planning Education is an essential resource for planners and planning educators informing the dialogue on the mobility of planners educated under different national schemas.

Planning Metropolitan Australia Stephen Hamnett, Robert Freestone, 2017-10-24 Australia has long been a highly sub-urbanized nation, but the major distinctive feature of its contemporary settlement pattern is that the great majority of Australians live in a small number of large metropolitan areas focused on the state capital cities. The development and application of effective urban policy at a regional scale is a significant global challenge given the complexities of urban space and governance. Building on the editors' previous collection The Australian Metropolis: A Planning History 2000, this new book examines the recent history of metropolitan planning in Australia since the beginning of the twenty-first century. After a historical prelude, the book is structured around a series of six case studies of metropolitan Melbourne, Sydney, Adelaide, Perth, the fast-growing metropolitan region of South East Queensland centred on Brisbane, and the national capital of Canberra. These essays are contributed by some of Australia's leading urbanists. Set against a dynamic background of economic change, restructured land use, a more diverse population, and growing spatial and social inequality, the book identifies a broad planning consensus around the notion of making Australian cities more contained, compact, and resilient. But it also observes a continuing gulf between the simplified aims of metropolitan strategies and our growing understanding of the complex functioning of the varied communities in which most people live This book reflects on the raft of planning challenges presented at the metropolitan scale looks at what the future of Australian cities might be and speculates about the prospects of more effective metropolitan planning arrangements

Designing Australia's Cities Robert Freestone, 2020-09-29 Accessible and comprehensive written by the current President of the International Planning History Society this volume provides readers with a highly visual account of historical contemporary and international projects Looking at the ways in which the City Beautiful movement influenced the design and development of Australian cities this pioneering national study surveys the ruling ideas influences outcomes and enduring legacies of the early artistic turn in Australian urban design With the return of the American City Beautiful movement to the forefront of urban design Designing Australia's Cities is a relevant account of the ways in which this movement influenced and shaped Australian city design but more importantly sheds light on a planning culture that stretches far beyond Australia and is of increasing relevance worldwide today Laying bare an important design and reform movement whose under appreciated legacy is clearly evident in urban landscapes today this book is ideal for students of planning architecture urban design and the history of planning

Planning in an Uncanny World Nicholas A. Phelps, Judy Bush, Anna Hurlimann, 2022-12-23 This book places Australian conditions and urban planning centrally within comparative analysis of planning systems and cultures around the world to address issues including urban governance climate change transportation planning regional development and migration planning Australian urban conditions and their associated planning responses can and often have been seen as unique or exceptional They are seldom discussed in the same breath as conditions and associated planning systems internationally Yet as well as being somewhat different from those elsewhere in the world Australian urban conditions and planning responses are also somewhat similar They are uncanny strangely familiar yet unfamiliar In this book Australian urban conditions and their planning policies and practices are informally compared and contrasted with those existing internationally If Australian urban planning policy and practice have had limited influence internationally the partial familiarity of challenges posed by its urban conditions ensure that Australia is a more important global reference point for scholarship and practice than commonly is appreciated In this book the authors assert the potential and actual originality of urban planning scholarship arising from the Australian context It will be useful for students and faculty planners working in Australia as well as anyone interested in international planning debates

Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning Bruce Stiftel, Vanessa Watson, Henri Acselrad, 2006-10-19 Dialogues in Urban and Regional Planning offers a new selection of the best urban planning scholarship from each of the world's planning school associations The award winning papers presented illustrate the concerns and the discourse of planning scholarship communities and provide a glimpse into planning theory and practice by planning academics around the world All those with an interest in urban and regional planning will find this collection valuable in opening new avenues for research and debate This book is published in association with the Global Planning Education Association Network GPEAN and the nine planning school associations it represents who have selected these papers based on regional competitions

Urban Nation Robert Freestone, 2010-04-01 Urban Nation Australia's Planning Heritage provides the first national survey of the historical impact of urban planning and design on the Australian landscape This ambitious account looks at every state and territory from the earliest days of European settlement to the present day It identifies and documents hundreds of places parks public spaces redeveloped precincts neighbourhoods suburbs up to whole towns that contribute to the distinctive character of urban and suburban Australia It sets these significant planned landscapes within the broader context of both international design trends and Australian efforts at nation and city building

Windows Upon Planning History Karl Friedhelm Fischer, Uwe Altrock, 2018-05-15 Windows Upon Planning History delves into a wide range of perspectives on urbanism from Europe Australia and the USA to investigate the effects of changing perceptions and different ways of seeing cities and urban regions Fischer Altrock and a team of 13 distinguished authors examine how and why the ideologies and the processes of city making changed in modern and post modern times Illustrated with over 45 images the themes addressed in the book range from the changing outlook on Berlin's historic apartment districts and their demolition salvation and gentrification to how planning was deployed to support dictatorship from the shattering of myths like democracies totally departing from preceding dictatorships to the model of the post war modern city and its fate towards the end of the twentieth century The volume combines case studies of cities on three continents with reflections on the historiography and the state of planning history With a foreword by Stephen V Ward this book will appeal to a wide readership interested in the histories of planning architecture and cities

Planning Cultures in Europe Frank Othengrafen, 2016-12-05 Bringing together an interdisciplinary team from across the EU this book connects elements of cultural and planning theories to explain differences and peculiarities among EU member states A culturized planning model is introduced to consider the rules of the game how culture affects planning practices not only on an explicit surface but also on a hidden implicit level The model consists of three analytical dimensions planning artifacts planning environment and societal environment This book adopts these dimensions to compare planning cultures of different European countries This sheds light not only on the organizational or institutional structure of planning but also the influence of deeper cultural values and layers on planning and implementation processes The Routledge Handbook of Regional Design Michael Neuman,Wil Zonneveld,2021-04-14

The Routledge Handbook of Regional Design explores contemporary research policy and practice that highlight critical aspects of strategy making planning and designing for contemporary regions including city regions bioregions delta regions and their hybrids As accelerating urbanization and globalization combine with other forces such as the demand for increasing returns on investment capital migration and innovation they yield cities that are expanding over ever larger territories Moreover these polycentric city regions themselves are agglomerating with one another to create new territorial mega regions The processes that beget these novel regional forms produce numerous and significant effects positive and negative that call for new modes of design and management so that the urban places and the lives and well being of their inhabitants and businesses thrive sustainably into the future With international case studies from leading scholars and practitioners this book is an important resource not just for students researchers and practitioners of urban planning but also policy makers developers architects engineers and anyone interested in the broader issues of urbanism Australia's Unintended Cities Richard Tomlinson,2012 Explores housing and housing related urban outcomes that are unintended consequences of other policies in Australia Australia and China Perspectives on Urban Regeneration and Rural Revitalization Raffaele Pernice,Bing Chen,2024-04-30 This edited volume reviews important contemporary issues through relevant case studies and research in China and Australia such as the challenges posed by climate change the development of eco urban design research on sustainable habitats and the relationship between ecology green architecture and city regeneration as well as in general the future of the city in the new millennium The authors represent a broad selection of international experts young scholars and established academics who discuss themes related to urban rural destruction and economic and spatial regeneration techniques the sustainable reconversion of natural landscapes and eco urban design in the context of the current evolution of architectural and urbanism practice The book aims to explain the conditions in which the contemporary debate about urban regeneration and rural revitalisation has developed in Australia and China presented by different theoretical and methodological perspectives It also provides a multifaceted and critical analysis of relevant case studies and urban experiences in Australia and China focusing on environmental disruption resized urban interventions and the need for more efficient and sustainable forms of regeneration and urban renewal practice in urban rural contexts This book will be an invaluable resource for architects planners architectural and urban historians geographers and scholars interested in modern Australian and Chinese architecture and urbanism The Routledge Handbook of Australian
