An Alternative Reading of the Other in The Mahabharata Seema Sinha, Kumar Sankar Bhattacharya, 2025-03-13

This book studies gender sexuality and representation in The Mahabharata Drawing on Feminist theory Queer theory and Deconstructivist theory it revisits the epic as a saga of agency empowerment and subversion and examines how it gives the gendered marginal the women and the queer a voice The authors argue that in a fluid text like The Mahabharata there is ample scope for contradiction and conformation as well as conflict and resolution which gives the marginal an opportunity to document resistance They analyse the stories of Draupadi Kunti Renuka Ulupi and Hidimba within an anti patriarchal non normative post modern theoretical framework They also examine liminal figures like Shikhandi Yuvanashwa Sudyumna and Bhangashwan who are uniquely placed in conversation involving queer space marginalization and resistance An important addition to the study of Indian epics this book will be indispensable for scholars and researchers of cultural studies subaltern studies Indian literature English literature gender studies sexuality studies queer studies women s studies exclusion studies and postcolonial studies

The Book Review Digest ,2007 Engaging with

Climate Change Sally Weintrobe, 2013 How can we help and support people to face climate change Engaging with Climate Change is one of the first books to explore in depth what climate change actually means to people It brings members of a wide range of different disciplines in the social sciences together in discussion and to introduce a psychoanalytic perspective. The important insights that result have real implications for policy particularly with regard to how to relate to people when discussing the issue. Topics covered include what lies beneath the current widespread denial of climate change how do we manage our feelings about climate change our great difficulty in acknowledging our true dependence on nature our conflicting identifications the effects of living within cultures that have perverse aspects the need to mourn before we can engage in a positive way with the new conditions we find ourselves in. Through understanding these issues and adopting policies that recognise their implications humanity can hope to develop a response to climate change of the nature and scale necessary. Aimed at the general reader as well as psychoanalysts psychotherapists and climate scientists this book will deepen our understanding of the human response to climate change. Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 2001 Book Review Index, 1981 Every 3rd issue is a quarterly cumulation. The Criterion, 1856 The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re-reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty-five years. This is an opportunity for stock-taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered reclaimed and republished. There are entries on writers on individual texts and on general terms genres and movements all printed in a single alphabetical sequence. The earliest written documents in medieval English the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day. The book reflects the spread of literacy the history of colonisation and the development of post-colonial cultures using and changing the English language. The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered. The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality wealth and diversity of women's writing. Literature and Culture in Modern Britain: Volume Three Clive Bloom, Gary Day, 2014-06-11 British culture has changed almost beyond recognition since 1956. Angry young men have been displaced by Yuppies Elvis by the Spice Girls and meat and two veg by continental cuisine. What is more as the death of Diana Princess of Wales showed the British are now more famous for a trembling lower lip than a stiff upper one. This volume the last in the series examines the transformations in literature and culture over the last forty years. An introductory essay provides a context for the following chapters by arguing that although there have been significant changes in British life there are also profound continuities. It also discusses the rise of theory and its impact on the humanities. Each essay in the volume concentrates on a facet of British culture over the last half century from painting to poetry from the seriousness of the novel to the postmodern ironies of the computing age. What we get from this selection is not only an informed history of the relations between literature and culture but also a lively sense of cultural change not least of which is the new found relationship between literature and other arts which ushers us into the new millennium. The Criterion; art, science and literature, 1856 The Advocate, 2005-01-18 The Advocate is a lesbian gay bisexual transgender LGBT monthly newsmagazine.
