Herbert McAvoy,Naoë Kukita Yoshikawa,2023 Essays on women and devotional literature in the Middle Ages in commemoration and celebration of the respected feminist scholar Catherine Innes Parker Silence was a much lauded concept in the Middle Ages particularly in the context of religious literature directed at women Based on the Pauline prescription that women should neither preach nor teach and should at all times keep speech to a minimum the concept of silence lay at the forefront of many devotional texts particularly those associated with various forms of women s religious enclosure Following the example of the Virgin Mary religious women were exhorted to speak seldom and then only seriously and devoutly However as this volume shows such gendered exhortations to silence were often more rhetorical than literal The contributions range widely they consider the English Wooing Group texts and female authored visionary writings from the Saxon nunnery of Helfta in the thirteenth century works by Richard Rolle and the Dutch mystic Jan van Ruusbroec in the fourteenth century Anglo French treatises and books housed in the library of the English noblewoman Cecily Neville in the fifteenth century and the resonant poetics of women from non Christian cultures But all demonstrate the ways in which silence rather than being a mere absence of speech frequently comprised a form of gendered articulation and proto feminist point of resistance They thus provide an apt commemoration and celebration of the deeply innovative work of Catherine Innes Parker 1956 2019 the respected feminist scholar and a pioneer of this important field of study The Walled Arab City in Literature, Architecture and History Susan Slyomovics, 2013-11-05 This book offers a multidisciplinary approach to the medina the traditional walled Arab city of North Africa The medina becomes a concrete case study for comparative explorations of general questions about the social use of urban space by opening up fields of research at the intersection of history comparative cultural studies architecture and anthropology Essays by American European and North African scholars demonstrate a variety of sources and theoretical approaches now being used in writing historical narratives framed within the city space They shed light on recent studies by anthropologists regarding social praxis within the urban context and analyze the urban experience of the medina and the casbah as they are represented in visual and material culture The Broadview Anthology of Medieval Arthurian Literature Kathy Cawsey, Elizabeth Edwards, 2023-10-11 This teaching anthology collects texts from the vast archive of medieval Arthurian literature It includes selections from mainstream canonical authors such as Geoffrey of Monmouth and Malory and more peripheral works such as the Melech Artus a 12th century Hebrew text and the Dutch Morien featuring a black knight Characters and authors showcase the diversity of race religion gender and gender orientation of the Arthurian tradition The anthology and its accompanying website offer a variety of genres ranging from visual art to historical chronicles and from romance to drama Arthurian works while concentrated in England France and Wales are found across medieval Europe and thus this anthology includes texts from Iceland to Greece The Broadview Anthology of Medieval Arthurian Literature is ideally suited to teaching it includes full texts such as Chr tien de Troyes Knight of the Cart Chaucer s Wife of Bath s Tale and the anonymous Sir Gawain and the Green Knight for classes that wish to study a whole work in depth it also includes shorter excerpts of parallel incidents such as the Uther and Igraine story so that students can compare a story s treatment by different authors Marginal glosses assist students with the Middle English texts while introductory notes and explanatory footnotes give students necessary background information

Wyclif, Chaucer, earliest drama, renaissance, tr. by W. C. Robinson Bernhard ten Brink, 1892 Medieval Women and Their Objects Jennifer Adams, Nancy Bradbury, 2021-03-11 The essays gathered in this volume present multifaceted considerations of the intersection of objects and gender within the cultural contexts of late medieval France and England Some take a material view of objects showing buildings books and pictures as sites of gender negotiation and resistance and as extensions of women s bodies Others reconsider the concept of objectification in the lives of fictional and historical medieval women by looking closely at their relation to gendered material objects taken literally as women s possessions and as figurative manifestations of their desires The opening section looks at how medieval authors imagined fictional and legendary women using particular objects in ways that reinforce or challenge gender roles These women bring objects into the orbit of gender identity employing and relating to them in a literal sense while also taking advantage of their symbolic meanings The second section focuses on the use of texts both as objects in their own right and as mechanisms by which other objects are defined The possessors of objects in these essays lived in the world their lives documented by historical records yet like their fictional and legendary counterparts they too used objects for instrumental ends and with symbolic resonances The final section considers the objectification of medieval women's bodies as well as its limits While this at times seems to allow for a trade in women authorial attempts to give definitive shapes and boundaries to women's bodies either complicate the gender boundaries they try to contain or reduce gender to an ideological abstraction This volume contributes to the ongoing effort to calibrate female agency in the late Middle Ages honoring the groundbreaking work of Carolyn P Collette

Reading Women Heidi Brayman Hackel, Catherine E. Kelly, 2011-08-02 In 1500 as many as 99 out of 100 English women may have been illiterate and girls of all social backgrounds were the objects of purposeful efforts to restrict their access to full literacy Three centuries later more than half of all English and Anglo American women could read and the female reader was emerging as a cultural ideal and a market force While scholars have written extensively about women's reading in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries and about women's writing in the early modern period they have not attended sufficiently to the critical transformation that took place as female readers and their reading assumed significant cultural and economic power Reading Women brings into conversation the latest scholarship by early modernists and early Americanists on the role of gender in the production and consumption of texts during this expansion of female readership Drawing together historians and literary scholars the essays share a concern with local specificity and material culture Removing women from the historically inaccurate frame of exclusively solitary silent reading the authors collectively return their subjects to the activities that so often coincided with reading shopping sewing talking writing performing and collecting With chapters on samplers storytelling testimony and translation the volume expands notions of reading and literacy and it insists upon a rich and varied narrative that crosses disciplinary boundaries and national borders

Catalogue of Printed Books in the Library of the British Museum British Museum. Department of Printed Books, 1889 British Museum Catalogue of printed Books, 1889 Intimate Friends Martha Vicinus, 2004-06-30 The book gives an overview of lesbian love over a period of 150 years Drawing upon diaries letters and other archival sources the author gives biographical information on well known and historically less recognised women

The Medieval Popular Bible Brian Murdoch, 2003 The presentation the use and the possible reception of the book of Genesis to lay audience largely unable to read the original texts What was meant by the medieval popular Bible what was presented as biblical narrative to an audience largely unable to read the original biblical texts Presentations in the vernacular languages of Europe of supposedly bible episodes were more often than not expanded and interpreted sometimes very considerably This book looks at the presentation the use and the possible lay reception of the book of Genesis using as wide a range of medieval genres and vernaculars as possible on a comparative basis down to the Reformation Literatures taken into consideration include Irish Cornish English French High and Low German

Spanish Italian and others Genesis was an important book and the focus is on those narrative high points which lend themselves most particularly it is never exclusive to literal expansion even though allegory can also work backwards into the literal narrative Starting with the devil in paradise who is not biblical the book examines what Adam and Eve did afterwards who killed Cain what happened in the flood or at the tower of Babel and ends with a consideration of the careers of Jacob and Joseph The book is based on the Speaker's Lectures given in 2002 in the University of Oxford BRIAN MURDOCH is Professor of German at the University of Stirling
