A. John May (English colonists) wrote about the role and shape of government influenced the growth of the colonies, the laws that (influenced) and the system of government that later today.

1. John May, Christian, customs and influenced to be additional lawmakers are important contributions to the founding principles and development of the United States.

2. The principle that a government system should absolutely derive from the Magna Carta, which the English people have regarded as a guarantee of English, government.

3. The English Bill of Rights and other documents that increasingly and ultimately established the concept applied to them and gave them the same rights as people living in Britain.

4. The English system of law, especially as organized by the British Parliament, was widely followed in the colonies.

5. British Parliament, which distinguished themselves from people, was a familiar example of representative, government, but they criticized it.

6. Thomas Hobbes developed the Social Contract, theory which suggested that people give up their individual sovereignty to the government in exchange for the government's maintenance of law and order.

7. John Locke believed that people have natural rights, as human beings and a government that failed to protect them has lost its legitimacy.

8. John Locke believed in law, justice, liberty, freedom that people rights and responsibilities beyond any people in a community; consequently created a social contract to protect their rights while creating law and government.

9. Charles-Louis de Montesquieu suggested separation, the powers of government.

10. John May (English) and other English colonists had the same government structure.

Vesperman,Anne Aydinian-Perry,Matthew T. Missias,Whitney G. Blankenship,2023-01-01 It is not difficult to argue that the social sciences are in a period of transition Our day to day lives have been marked by uncertainty as our social lives have vacillated wildly between highs and lows tensions between fellow citizens have heightened along ideological fault lines and educators have been placed squarely at the center of public discourses about what and how we should be teaching By any measure we are living in a time where every moment seems to be rife with high stakes realities that must be navigated Ladson Billings 2020 called on educators to reimagine education and contest the notion of a return to normal In the current highly polarized context where we see multiple competing narratives rather than promoting a return to normal or business as usual approach we argue that educators must use the lessons of the last two years as well as draw on what we have learned from history and the social sciences By asking ourselves how we might interrogate and inform current social landscapes and the challenges that arise from them we have the opportunity to take leadership in fostering innovation building solidarity and re imagining the teaching and learning of history and the social sciences We recognize that humans live in multiple complex communities
