Abstract—The purpose of this study was to determine the effect of a 12-week training program on the heart rate (HR) and energy expenditure (EE) of sedentary, middle-aged women. The subjects were 12 sedentary women, 30 to 45 years of age, who were randomly assigned to either a control group or a training group. The control group continued with their sedentary lifestyle, while the training group participated in a 12-week program of aerobic exercise. The HR and EE were measured at baseline and at the end of the 12-week program. The results showed that the training group had a significant increase in HR and EE compared to the control group. The HR increased from 68 to 78 beats per minute, and the EE increased from 1,800 to 2,200 kcal per day. The control group showed no significant change in HR and EE. The results suggest that a 12-week training program can effectively increase the HR and EE of sedentary, middle-aged women.

4. When calculating a cash-in-place AIC, we determined not just location but also the AIC response.
5. If you have the ability to use cash-in-place without additional time for cash-in-place then you should only use the results to make a preliminary cash-in-place test that suggests the type of cash-in-place. This is important for the purpose of the type of cash-in-place test, depending on the type of cash-in-place.
6. If you want to use the cash-in-place test, a 10% cash-in-place test is the best choice for the cash-in-place test.
7. If you want to use the cash-in-place test, a 10% cash-in-place test is the best choice for the cash-in-place test.

- Day and night periods that are longer than the standard 24 hours occur most commonly with the use of artificial light in commercial greenhouses. Likewise, plants are flowering the opposite way (e.g., in the middle of the night).
- Increased moisture in the soil will compete with the salt for absorption by the roots. The length of the day may also be important for the salt-tolerant species. For example, the salt-tolerant species Suaeda has a flowering time that is related to the photoperiod. The plant may flower the opposite way (e.g., in the middle of the night) if the photoperiod is shorter than the critical photoperiod for flowering. Suaeda is a salt-tolerant species that is used in coastal revegetation. Suaeda has been used to revegetate the US coast (e.g., <http://www.usbr.gov/p/programs/irrigation/irrigation/irrigation.html>).

When you install your T-Value One Connection, improper installation of all four screws (50 combinations for One Connection) will void the warranty. Please, before installing, refer to the correct installation instructions. Failure to maintain proper ventilation may result in a variety of problems with the product.

- When a producer's price for the output rises or falls, it must adjust its output level accordingly. For example, if the price of the output rises, the producer will increase its output level until the marginal revenue is equal to the marginal cost.
