The Technology Of The Graceful Woman Women In Training:

Gender, Technology and the New Woman Lena WÅ¥nggren, 2017-04-28 This book examines late nineteenth century feminism in relation to technologies of the time marking the crucial role of technology in social and literary struggles for equality The New Woman the fin de siecle cultural archetype of early feminism became the focal figure for key nineteenth century debates concerning issues such as gender and sexuality evolution and degeneration science empire and modernity While the New Woman is located in the debates concerning the crisis in gender or sexual anarchy of the time the period also saw an upsurge of new technologies of communication transport and medicine As this monograph demonstrates literature of the time is inevitably caught up in this technological modernity technologies such as the typewriter the bicycle and medical technologies through literary texts come to work as freedom machines as harbingers of female emancipation A Woman's Education Jill Ker Conway, 2011-06-01 The acclaimed author of the best selling The Road from Coorain and True North now gives us the third book in her remarkable continuing memoir describing the pleasures the challenges and the constant surprises good and bad of her years as the first woman president of Smith College The story opens in 1973 as Conway unbeknownst to her is first looked over as a prospective candidate by members of the Smith community and continues as she assesses her passions and possibilities and agrees to the new challenge of heading the college in 1975 The jolt of energy she gets from being surrounded by several thousand young women enables her to take on the difficulties that arise in dealing with the diverse Smith constituencies from the self appointed protectors of the great male tradition of humanistic learning to the equally determined young feminists insisting on change We see Conway juggling the needs and concerns of faculty students parents trustees and alumnae and re defining and redesigning aspects of the college to create programs in line with the new realities of women s lives We sense the urgency of her efforts to shape an institution that will attract students of the 1990s and beyond Through it all we see Jill Ker Conway coping with her husband s illness and learning to protect and sustain her inner self As the end of a decade at Smith approaches we see her realizing that she has both had her education and made her contributions and that it is time now for her to graduate Women's Contribution to Science and Technology through ICWES Conferences Monique Frize, Claire Deschênes, Ruby Heap, 2023-12-09 This book discusses the legacy of the conference series The International Conferences of Women Engineers and Scientists ICWES which spans the second half of the Twentieth Century and the beginning of the twenty first The book first discusses how at a time when there were few women engineers and scientists a group of women organized a conference in June 1964 in New York which attracted 486 women They presented their scientific achievements and discussed how to attract more women in STEM This effort was carried out by volunteers continuing the ICWES conferences over a period of 59 years The authors discuss the organizers the hosting societies the scientific content the changes in issues over time and how the continuity has endured The authors also discuss the importance of global involvement shown through past conferences in locations such as USA UK Italy Poland

France India Ivory Coast Hungary Japan Canada and Korea The authors also outline how the efforts were aided by the development of a not for profit Canadian corporation the International Conference of Women in Sciences and engineering INWES which ensures the continuation of the conference series Claire Desch nes and Monique Frize ensured that the conference database was digitalized and is now available at the Canadian Archive of Women in STEM University of Ottawa Library with the hope that researchers will continue to explore this rich database As an important part of the Women in Science and Engineering book series the work hopes to inspire women and men girls and boys to study and work in STEM fields This book is important historically because it documents a unique adventure created by women in STEM through vision and leadership Their efforts established modes of networking and sharing their contributions in science technology and on gender issues

The Politics of Gender and the Culture of Sexuality Ali A. Mazrui, 2014-07-08 The Politics of Gender and the Culture of Sexuality outlines theories of gender within the intellectual paradigm of the triple heritage Islam Africanity and the West This book describes the impact of individual contexts and politics on meanings attributed to the human body The Politics of Gender and the Culture of Sexuality explores how men and women relate to each other in monogamous and polygamous marriage race rivalries slavery miscegenation cultures of procreation family planning and the Islamic view of women s dignity vis vis the Western view of women s liberty In doing so the author and editor present a multifaceted and dynamic theoretical discourse of gender

Faulkner and the Native

Keystone Biljana Oklopčič, 2014-06-26 The last fifty years have witnessed a never ending flow of criticism of William Faulkner and his fiction While this book touches on the prevailing critical theory it concentrates on a number of fresh observations on themes and motifs that place William Faulkner's fiction in general regional global and universal contexts of American and Western literature Paying special attention to themes and motifs of racism sexism women's education myths and stereotypes to mention just a few the book analyzes Faulkner's ability to write and to be read within and beyond his native keystone his South Coming from a non US Americanist perspective this contribution to the scholarly literature on William Faulkner discusses his best known novels contends that regionalism internationalism and universalism are the context of his fiction and argues for feminist post colonial and psychoanalytical approaches to it The book is intended for scholars in the field of American literature American Studies and Southern Studies as it covers the South's complex history its peculiar cultural institutions and the daunting body of international critical studies that has flourished around the novels during the last five decades Graduate students will also find this book useful as it analyzes and interprets the novels and short stories of one of the greatest American novelists of the 20th century in an easily understandable way offering new and fresh readings on 1 race and gender stereotypes present in American and European culture and literature 2 conventions of family genealogical fiction drama and 3 universal life situations and feelings Women, Entrepreneurship and Development in the Middle East Beverly Dawn Metcalfe, Bettina Lynda Bastian, Haya Al-Dajani, 2021-12-20 The Middle East was the region least impacted in the 2008 crisis has investment systems markedly different to the West is largely governed by Islamic Shari'a and has varying forms of governance and institutional organization which are not understood by many nor how these systems shape entrepreneurial and industrial development While the Middle East as a region has seen a small growth in entrepreneurship for women and business scholarship on the Middle East has grown there is no text in English that has brought critical insights from the Middle East together in a single volume In examining women's entrepreneurship in the Middle East this book aims to challenge Global North assumptions about the disempowering impacts of Islamic Shari'a and governance Referring to the constraints of Islam on women's subjectivity and agency greatly misunderstands religious identity of both men and women and the way in which public administration and private sector institutions are organized in very different ways to Western regions This timely text expands and adds new insights to the theorizations of women's entrepreneurship in the Middle East through unravelling spatialized themes and incorporates contemporary themes including an Islamic science reading of women work and venturing changing families and entrepreneurship development women managing social crises Islamization governance and women Islamic feminist activisms and entrepreneurship representations of women's entrepreneurship on social media and women's collectives leading entrepreneurship via Facebook entrepreneurship It will be of interest to researchers academics and students in the fields of entrepreneurship gender work and organizations From Subjection to Survival Molly J. Freitas, 2022-12-23 From Subjection to Survival is a work of feminist scholarship that works at the intersection of literature and art history the written and the visual By examining six important and diverse multiethnic American women writers of the twentieth century Kate Chopin Anzia Yezierska Edith Wharton Zitkala a Nella Larsen and Helena Mar a Viramontes From Subjection to Survival establishes a genealogy of how women writers claim the power and possibility of visual art to make sense of their experiences These writers write about women and feature female protagonists who engage with art as painters writers muses or icons in the texts themselves The texts are written visually to expose the fundamental substantiation of gender in art and the unavoidable aestheticization of women in daily life As every text in this book makes clear women can claim substantial power through art Yet aestheticization is not always positive As a consequence of such negative possibilities the artistic self referentiality of all of the texts in From Subjection to Survival exposes a negotiated course between subjectivity and objectness which women experience when engaging with art From Subjection to Survival studies this negotiated course to lay bare the difficult path of women s artistic and aesthetic experience but ultimately to claim the power and the possibility of the visual arts for women

the history of technology contribute to our understanding of late imperial China Most stories about technology in pre modern China follow a well worn plot in about 1400 after an early ferment of creativity that made it the most technologically sophisticated civilisation in the world China entered an era of technical lethargy and decline But how are we to reconcile this tale which portrays China in the Ming and Qing dynasties as a dying giant that had outgrown its own strength with the wealth of counterevidence affirming that the country remained rich vigorous and powerful at least until the end of the eighteenth century Does this seeming contradiction mean that the stagnation story is simply wrong or perhaps that technology was irrelevant to how imperial society worked Or does it imply that historians of technology should ask better questions about what technology was what it did and what it meant in pre modern societies like late imperial China In this book Francesca Bray explores subjects such as technology and ethics technology and gendered subjectivities both female and male and technology and statecraft to illuminate how material settings and practices shaped topographies of everyday experience and ideologies of government techniques of the self and technologies of the subject Examining technologies ranging from ploughing and weaving to drawing pictures building a house prescribing medicine or composing a text this book offers a rich insight into the interplay between the micro and macro politics of everyday life and the workings of governmentality in late imperial China showing that gender principles were woven into the very fabric of empire from cosmology and ideologies of rule to the material foundations of the state and the everyday practices of the domestic sphere This authoritative text will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese history as well as those working on global history and the histories of gender technology and agriculture Furthermore it will be of great use to those interested in social and cultural anthropology and material culture The American Review of Reviews ,1907 Daily Graphic Ransford figures such as Joan of Arc in Cairo revenging daughters in Samurai Japan a transgender Mexican revolutionary and WWII Chinese spies Exploring issues of violence gender fluidity memory and nation building the authors discuss how these real or imagined female figures were constructed and deployed in different national and transnational contexts Divided into four parts they explore how women warriors and their stories were created consider the issue of the violent woman discuss how these female figures were gendered and highlight the fate of women warriors who live on The chapters illustrate the ways in which female fighters have figured in nation building stories and in the ordering or re ordering of gender politics and give the history of women fighters a critical edge Exploring women as military actors women after war and the strategic use of women s stories in national narratives this intellectually innovative volume provides the first global treatment of women warriors and their histories

The Art of the Shoe Marie-Josèphe Bossan,2012-05-08 Abandoning a French look on the subject Mrs Bossan the author develops her study with a dichotomous vision that of time that touches the history of mankind and that of geography and sociology which lead to an almost ethnographic analysis The author dissects the shoe and all that surrounds it from its history to painting and literature After this book it will be difficult to publish a book with a more complete treatment of the subject Illustrated with an iconography that is exceptional both for its aestheticism and the pieces chosen this book is a reference for historians sociologists and for the fashion victims and designers Femininity,

Mathematics and Science, 1880-1914 C. Jones,2009-10-15 Through the prism of gender this text explores the contrasting cultures and practice of mathematics and science and asks how they impacted on women Claire Jones assesses nineteenth century ideas about women s intellect femininity and masculinity and assesses how these attitudes shaped women s experiences as students and practitioners

What Men Want to Say to Women (But Can't) Denise McAllister,2020-02-11 No matter one s political persuasion most of us agree there s something deeply wrong in America today Conflict has reached a fever pitch as our nation has become alarmingly polarized in the political arena Many look to politicians and public policies for solutions but journalist Andrew Breitbart rightly said that politics couldn t be fixed if culture is ignored because politics is downstream from culture McAllister would take this observation a step further politics might be downstream from culture but culture is downstream from relationships If we don t focus on the personal building blocks of society we will fail to fix problems in culture and the politics that flow from it If relationships are sick or broken especially those between men and women then everything else is affected If there s little love respect and trust there you won t find it anywhere else Men are tired of being dumped on They have a lot to say to women about sex equality in the workplace raising boys and the lie of toxic masculinity but modern feminism and a politically correct culture have silenced them This war on men has disrupted relationships and caused men to question their place in American society Misogyny male privilege and the Patriarchy are buzzwords that shut men down Some are so frustrated they ve given up entirely Who needs women if all they re going to do is use you and treat you like garbage Anger separation and simply giving up aren t solutions to a festering problem. Instead we need to heal relationships by learning to respect the designed purposes of masculinity and femininity. For this to happen, women will need to hear some hard truths about themselves and those they love. In What Men Want to Say to Women But Can't, cultural commentator and New York Times bestselling author Denise McAllister speaks to women on men's behalf, exposing the lies of modern feminism and offering insights on how to rebuild broken relationships in the workplace, at home, and in the bedroom. Here's a sneak peek at a few things men would like to say to women but can't: "When I look at your cleavage, it doesn't mean I want to rape you. Stop complaining about equal pay when you don't do equal work. Children need their father. Stop shutting men out of the picture because you think you do everything better. I will teach my son to compete now. Go toss that participation trophy in the trash. A triumph of compassion, insight, and good sense." Denise McAllister doesn't just want to fix how men and women talk to each other; she wants to heal a fraying holy sacrament. Read this book to save your marriage or to find one. Milo Yiannopoulos

Rochester Institute of Technology Dane R.

Gordon, 2007. Rochester Institute of Technology's story now encompasses some 175 years of commitment to higher education. Almost uniquely among American universities, RIT has focused on educating a skilled workforce to support advancements in the industrialization and modernization of America. From its beginnings in 1829 when it harnessed the energy of a young city in upstate New York through stunningly effective mergers and nimble responses to new technologies, RIT has evolved into a respected model in innovative higher education. In this new and enlarged edition of his original history of RIT, 1982 Professor Gordon brings the university's fascinating chronicle up to date. RIT has enjoyed tremendous growth over the past 25 years, and readers will enjoy anecdotes on student life, insights into major initiatives, and an objective look at the tough decisions that have guided RIT into the company of the highest ranking academic institutions in the United States. This book is of certain interest for urban and technological historians, college administrators nationwide, and especially RIT's own growing community of students, employees, supporters, and alumni.
