of short accessible interlinked essays Notes on Vermin explores what animal pests can show us about our cultures our environments and ourselves The Logic of Fantasy John Huntington,1982 The History of Science Fiction Adam Roberts,2016-08-04 This book is the definitive critical history of science fiction The 2006 first edition of this work traced the development of the genre from Ancient Greece and the European Reformation through to the end of the 20th century This new 2nd edition has been revised thoroughly and very significantly expanded An all new final chapter discusses 21st century science fiction and there is new material in every chapter a wealth of new readings and original research The author s groundbreaking thesis that science fiction is born out of the 17th century Reformation is here bolstered with a wide range of new supporting material and many hundreds of 17th and 18th century science fiction texts some of which have never been discussed before The account of 19th century science fiction has been expanded and the various chapters tracing the twentieth century bring in more writing by women and science fiction in other media including cinema TV comics fan culture and other modes The End of the Anthropocene Michael J. Gormley,2021-06-28 In The End of the Anthropocene Ecocriticism the Universal Ecosystem and the Astropocene Michael J Gormley examines literary imaginings of the Anthropocene s end and the Astropocene s beginning when humans are no longer bound to the blue planet on which we evolved Gormley analyzes literary images of human tracks on Earth the Moon and Mars to characterize the late stage Anthropocene and to explore humanity s role in the universal ecosystem The End of the Anthropocene uses a predictive and paradigmatic model of ecocriticism examining science fiction works as interplanetary nature narratives The University of Google Tara Brabazon,2016-02-17 Looking at schools and universities it is difficult to pinpoint when education teaching and learning started to haemorrhage purpose aspiration and function Libraries and librarians have been starved of funding Teachers cram their curriculum with skill development and generic competencies because knowledge creativity and originality are too expensive to provide to unmotivated students and parents obsessed with league tables not learning Meanwhile the internet offers a glut of information on everything under the sun a mere mouse click away Bored surfers fill their cursors and minds with irrelevancies We lose the capacity to sift discard and judge Information is no longer for social good but for sale Tara Brabazon argues that this information fetish has been profoundly damaging to our learning institutions and to the ambitions of our students and educators In The University of Google she projects a defiant and passionate vision of education as a pathway to renewal where research is based on searching and students are on a journey through knowledge rather than consumers in the shopping centre of cheap ideas Angry humorous and practical in equal measure The University of Google is based on real teaching experience and on years of engaged and sometimes exasperated reflection on it It is far from a luddite critique of the information age Tara Brabazon celebrates the possibilities of digital platforms in education but deplores the consequences of placing funding on technology and not teachers In doing so she opens a new debate on how to make our educational system both productive and provocative in the post information age Rewiring Financial Markets

For Good Charles Moore, The digital revolution post pandemic will lead to a radical departure from the traditional model of monetary exchange The creation of a Digital Financial Market Infrastructure will underpin the unbundling and re bundling of the functions of money within society Although digital money itself is not new to modern economies digital legal tender DLT facilitates instantaneous peer to peer transfers of value in a way that today is impossible The importance of digital connectedness will often supersede the importance of macroeconomic links and lead to the establishment of Digital Financial Markets linking the currency to membership of a particular financial market rather than to a specific country Capitalism underpins wealth generation and hence the existence of a digital financial market Capitalism is an economic system in which private individuals or corporations own and control the flow of capital throughout society Capitalism is built on the idea that compensation and profits derived from capital allocations reflect the relative contribution an individual or firm makes from the utilisation of capital to the total wealth of a society The genius of capitalism lies in its ability to produce organic answers to most problems of scarcity and resource allocation Markets tend naturally to reward the ideas that prove most useful and to penalize dysfunctional behaviour They can bring about broad based outcomes that states cannot by driving vast numbers of individuals to adjust their behaviour in response to price signals Capital is the defining feature of modern economies that transforms mere wealth into an asset that creates more wealth Capital is the lifeblood of capitalist societies yet capital unequal distribution throughout the community codifies the widening wealth gap between the holders of capital and everybody else
