The Beach in Anglophone Literatures and Cultures Ursula Kluwick, Virginia Richter, 2016-03-09 From early colonial encounters to the ecological disasters of the twenty first century the performativity of contact has been a crucial element in the political significance of the beach Conceptualising the beach as a creative trope and as a socio cultural site as well as an aesthetically productive topography this collection examines its multiplicity of meanings and functions as a natural environment engendering both desire and fear in the human imagination from the Victorian period to the present The contributors examine literature film and art in addition to moments of encounter and environmental crisis to highlight the beach as a social space inspiring particular codes of behaviour and specific discourses

as a geographical frontier between land and water as an historical site of contact and conflict and as a vacationscape promising regeneration and withdrawal from everyday life The diversity of the beach is reflected in the geographical range with essays on locales and texts from Britain Ireland the Caribbean South Africa the United States Polynesia and New Zealand Focusing on the changed function of the beach as a result of processes of industrialisation and the rise of a modern leisure and health culture this interdisciplinary volume theorises the beach as a demarcater of the precarious boundary between land and the sea as well as between nature and culture Visual Difference Elizabeth Heffelfinger, Laura Wright, 2011 To date no text exists that focuses exclusively on the concept of postcolonial film as a framework for identifying films produced within and outside of various formerly colonized nations nor is there a scholarly text that addresses pedagogical issues about and frameworks for teaching such films This book borrows from and respects various forms of categorization intercultural global third and accented while simultaneously seeking to make manifest an alternate space of signification What feels like a mainstream approach is pedagogically necessary in terms of access both financial and physical to the films discussed herein given that this text proposes models for teaching these works at the university and secondary levels The focus of this work is therefore twofold to provide the methodology to read and teach postcolonial film and also to provide analyses in which scholars and teachers can explore the ways that the films examined herein work to further and complicate our understanding of postcolonial as a fraught and evolving theoretical stance The Palgrave Handbook of Children's Film and Television Casie Hermansson, Janet Zepernick, 2019-05-28 This volume explores film and television for children and youth While children's film and television vary in form and content from country to country their youth audience ranging from infants to screenagers is the defining feature of the genre and is written into the DNA of the medium itself This collection offers a contemporary analysis of film and television designed for this important audience with particular attention to new directions evident in the late twentieth and early twenty first centuries With examples drawn from Iran China Korea India Israel Eastern Europe the Philippines and France as well as from the United States and the United Kingdom contributors address a variety of issues ranging from content to production distribution marketing and the use of film both as object and medium in education Through a diverse consideration of media for young infants up to young adults this volume reveals the newest trends in children's film and television and its role as both a source of entertainment and pedagogy

Sison, 2012 Forging an open minded but reasoned dialogue between nine acclaimed titles of world cinema and a range of theological perspectives that touch on the theme of human experience World Cinema Theology and the Human offers fresh portals of insight for the interdisciplinary area of Theology and Film In Sison's approach it is the cinematic representation of vivid humanity not necessarily propositional statements about God and religion that lays down a bridge to a conversation with theology Thus the book s project is to look for the divine presence written not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts depicted on screen by way of audiovisual language Seeking to redress the interdiscipline s narrow predilection for Hollywood blockbusters the book casts its net wider to include a culturally diverse selection of case studies from festival gems such as Singapore s Be With Me and South Africa s Yesterday to widely acclaimed sleeper hits such as Britain s Slumdog Millionaire and New Zealand s Whale Rider The book will appeal to scholars of theology and religious cultural studies interested in the Theology Religion Film interface and because of its commitment to an examination of film qua film a crossover readership from film studies

The Many Worlds of Anglophone Literature Silvia Anastasijevic, Magdalena Pfalzgraf, Hanna Teichler, 2024-01-11 On what terms and concepts can we ground the comparative study of Anglophone literatures and cultures around the world today What if anything unites the novels of Witi Ihimaera the speculative fiction of Nnedi Okorafor the life writings by Stuart Hall and the emerging Anglophone Arab literature by writers like Omar Robert Hamilton This volume explores the globality of Anglophone fiction both as a conceptual framing and as a literary imaginary It highlights the diversity of lives and worlds represented in Anglophone writing as well as the diverse imaginations of transnational connections articulated in it Featuring a variety of internationally renowned scholars this book thinks through Anglophone literature not as a problematic legacy of colonial rule or as exoticizing commodity in a global literary marketplace but examines it as an inherently transcultural literary medium Contributors provide new insights into how it facilitates the articulation of divergent experiences of modernity and the critique of hierarchies and inequalities within among and beyond post colonial societies

Climate and Crises Ben Holgate, 2019-01-31 Climate and Crises Magical Realism as Environmental Discourse makes a dual intervention in both world literature and ecocriticism by examining magical realism as an international style of writing that has long standing links with environmental literature The book argues that in the era of climate change when humans are facing the prospect of species extinction new ideas and new forms of expression are required to address what the novelist Amitav Gosh calls a crisis of imagination Magical realism enables writers to portray alternative intellectual paradigms ontologies and epistemologies that typically contest the scientific rationalism derived from the European Enlightenment and the exploitation of natural resources associated with both capitalism and imperialism Climate and Crises explores the overlaps between magical realism and environmental literature including their respective transgressive natures that dismantle binaries such as human and non human a shared biocentric perspective that focuses on the inter connectedness of all things in the universe and frequently a critique of postcolonial legacies in formerly colonised territories The book also challenges conventional conceptions of magical realism arguing they are often influenced by a geographic bias in the construction of the orthodox global canon and instead examines contemporary fiction from Asia including China and Australasia two regions that have been largely neglected by scholarship of the narrative mode As a result the monograph modifies and expands our ideas of what magical realist fiction is The Bloomsbury Companion to Religion and Film William L.
