Urban Terrorism N. C. Asthana, Anjali Nirmal, 2009 Outrageous myths have been created and perpetrated about terrorism in general and terrorism by Muslims in particular There are two reasons for it One is of course genuine ignorance about things Islamic The other reason is more sinister Myths are created and perpetuated because that keeps everyone in business By spinning yarns about the most horrible things the terrorists are capable of doing the media ensures that they have a never ending supply of sensational material with which to keep the people hooked it also enables the intelligence agencies and security forces to appear more relevant and expand their turf in the process The myths must be busted because they tend to settle deep in the collective subconscious and ultimately come to influence policy decisions The media for example would have you believe that we have not been able to eradicate terrorism only because we do not have enough commandos everywhere The fact is that terrorism would not be finished by killing a few terrorists Bomb blasts continue to take place in spite of the arrests of the masterminds As long as we do not address the root cause there would be many more willing to kill and get killed Victory against terrorism can be achieved only if you have completely understood the fundamental reasons of terrorism the motivation of the terrorists the intrinsic weaknesses of the targets the innate strength of the way of the terrorist and the follies of the approach that you have persisted with so far If a nation has floundered in its war against terrorism it is because it has never had a serious and honest to God analysis of terrorism Hence this book Exhaustive yet attractive informative yet interesting and above all extremely hard hitting it is the ultimate encyclopedia of terrorism Bombs, IEDs, and Explosives Paul R. Reducing the Threat of Improvised Explosive Device Attacks by Restricting Access to Explosive Precursor Chemicals National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division on Earth and Life Studies, Board on Chemical Sciences and Technology, Committee on Reducing the Threat of Improvised Explosive Device Attacks by Restricting Access to Chemical Explosive Precursors, 2018-05-19 Improvised explosive devices IEDs are a type of unconventional explosive weapon that can be deployed in a variety of ways and can cause loss of life injury and property damage in both military and civilian environments Terrorists violent extremists and criminals often choose IEDs because the ingredients components and instructions required to make IEDs are highly accessible In many cases precursor chemicals enable this criminal use of IEDs because they are used in the manufacture of homemade explosives HMEs which are often used as a component of IEDs Many precursor chemicals are frequently used in industrial manufacturing and may be available as commercial products for personal use Guides for making HMEs and instructions for constructing IEDs are widely available and can be easily found on the internet Other countries restrict access to precursor chemicals in an effort to reduce the opportunity for HMEs to be used in IEDs Although IED attacks have been less frequent in the United States than in other countries IEDs remain a persistent domestic threat Restricting access to precursor chemicals might contribute to reducing the threat of IED attacks and in turn prevent potentially devastating bombings save lives and reduce financial impacts Reducing the Threat of Improvised Explosive Device Attacks by Restricting Access to Explosive Precursor Chemicals prioritizes precursor chemicals that can be used to make HMEs and analyzes the movement of those chemicals through United States commercial supply chains and identifies potential vulnerabilities This report examines current United States and international regulation of the chemicals and compares the economic security and other tradeoffs among potential control strategies
