Web We Weave Jeff Jarvis, 2024-10-08 A bold defense of the internet arguing attempts to fix and regulate it are often misguided essential reading for anyone who cares about the future of the internet Taylor Lorenz author of Extremely Online
 The internet stands accused of dividing us spying on us making us stupid and addicting our children In response the press and panicked politicians seek greater regulation and control which could ruin the web before we are finished building it Jeff Jarvis is convinced we can have a saner conversation about the internet Examining the web's past present and future he shows that many of the problems the media lays at the internet's door are the result of our own failings. The internet did not make us hate; we brought our bias, bigotry, and prejudice with us online. That's why even well-intentioned regulation will fail to fix hate speech and misinformation and may instead imperil the freedom of speech the internet affords to all. Once we understand the internet for what it is, a human network, we can reclaim it from the nerds, pundits, and pols who are in charge now and turn our attention where it belongs: to fostering community conversation and creativity online. The Web We Weave offers an antidote to today's pessimism about the internet, outlining a bold vision for a world with a web that works for all of us.

Theorising Media and Practice Birgit Bräuchler, John Postill, 2010-11-01. Although practice theory has been a mainstay of social theory for nearly three decades, so far it has had very limited impact on media studies. This book draws on the work of practice theorists such as Wittgenstein, Foucault, Bourdieu, Barth, and Schatzki and rethinks the study of media from the perspective of practice theory. Drawing on ethnographic case studies from places such as Zambia, India, Hong Kong, the United States, Britain, Norway, and Denmark, the contributors address a number of important themes: media as practice, the interlinkage between media culture and practice, the contextual study of media practices, and new practices of digital production. Collectively, these chapters make a strong case for the importance of theorising the relationship between media and practice and thereby adding practice theory as a new strand to the study of anthropology of media.
