Re-forming Britain Elizabeth Darling, 2007-01-24 Re-forming Britain considers the nature and practice of architectural modernism in inter-war Britain in a new light Bringing hitherto little considered protagonists and projects to the fore it argues that rather than being an imported idiom the new architecture in Britain formed part of an ongoing attempt to make a modern nation Spanning the period 1925-42 the book focuses on the key sites from and through which architectural modernism emerged in the UK Part one considers the main arena in which a will to modernize Britain developed in the 1920s In parts two and three the author documents contextualizes and explains how this modernizing will was given modernist form discussing the work of architects such as Wells Coates Maxwell Fry and Connell and Ward and their allied ventures with likeminded reformers in other fields These collaborations produced narratives of modernity buildings projects exhibitions and books through which the book argues modernist reformers were able to persuade politicians and those with influence upon them that modernism was the means to re-form the nation Re-forming Britain offers the first in-depth analysis of well-known modernist schemes such as Kensal House and the Pioneer Health Centre but also brings previously little studied or unknown activities to light This important work invites a new understanding of the nature of architectural modernism in inter-war Britain and the ways in which it ultimately gave form to post-war Britain

The Lawn Road Flats David Burke (Historian of intelligence and international relations), 2014 The Isokon building Lawn Road Flats in Belsize Park on Hampstead's lower slopes is a remarkable building The first modernist building in Britain to use reinforced concrete and architecture its construction demanded new building techniques But the building was as remarkable for those who took up residence there as for the application of revolutionary building techniques There were 32 Flats in all and they became a haunt of some of the most prominent Soviet agents working against Britain in the 1930s and 40s A number of British artists were also drawn to the Flats among them the sculptor and painter Henry Moore the novelist Nicholas Monsarrat and the crime writer Agatha Christie who wrote her only spy novel N or M in the Flats The Isokon building boasted its own restaurant and dining club where many of the Flats' most famous residents rubbed shoulders with some of the most dangerous communist spies ever to operate in Britain Agatha Christie often said that she invented her characters from what she observed going on around her With the Kuczynskis probably the most successful family of spies in the history of espionage in residence she would have had plenty of material

The Experience of Modernism John R. Gold, 2013-12-16 Making extensive use of information gained from in depth interviews with architects active in the period between 1928 1953 the author provides a sympathetic understanding of the Modern Movement s architectural role in reshaping the fabric and structure of British metropolitan cities in the post war period and traces the links between the experience of British modernists and the wider international modern movement Broadcasting Buildings Shundana Yusaf,2014-02-28 How the BBC shaped popular perceptions of architecture and placed them at the heart of debates over participatory democracy The Market Makers Peter Scott,2017-09-15 During the twentieth century affluence both at the level of the individual household and that of society as a whole became intimately linked with access to a range of prestige consumer durables The Market Makers charts the inter war origins of a process that would eventually transform these features of modern life from being luxuries to necessities for most British families Peter Scott examines how producers and retailers succeeded in creating mass though not universal market for new suites of furniture radios modern housing and some electrical and gas appliances while also exploring why some other goods such as refrigerators telephones and automobiles failed to reach the mass market in Britain before the 1950s Creating mass markets presented a formidable challenge for manufacturers and retailers Consumer durables required large markets Most involved significant research and development costs Some such as the telephone radio and car were dependent on complementary investments in infrastructure All required intensive marketing usually including expensive advertising in national newspapers and magazines while some also needed mass production methods and output volumes to make them affordable to a mass market This study charts the pioneering efforts of entrepreneurs many of whom though once household names are now largely forgotten to provide consumer durables at a price affordable to a mass market and to persuade a sometimes reluctant public to embrace the new products and the consumer credit that their purchase required In doing so Scott shows that contrary to much received wisdom there was a consumer durables revolution in inter war Britain at least for certain highly prioritised goods Gropius Fiona MacCarthy,2019-04-15 This is an absolute triumph ideas lives and the dramas of the twentieth century are woven together in a feat of storytelling A masterpiece Edmund de Waal ceramic artist and author of The White Road The impact of Walter Gropius can be measured in his buildings Fagus Factory Bauhaus Dessau Pan Am but no less in his students I M Pei Paul Rudolph Anni Albers Philip Johnson Fumihiko Maki countless masters were once disciples at the Bauhaus in Berlin and at Harvard Between 1910 and 1930 Gropius was at the center of European modernism and avant garde society glamor only to be exiled to the antimodernist United Kingdom during the Nazi years Later under the democratizing influence of American universities Gropius became an advocate of public art and cemented a starring role in twentieth century architecture and design Fiona MacCarthy challenges the image of Gropius as a doctrinaire architectural rationalist bringing out the visionary philosophy and courage that carried him through a politically hostile age Pilloried by Tom Wolfe as inventor of the monolithic high rise Gropius is better remembered as inventor of a form of art education that influenced schools worldwide He viewed argument as intrinsic to creativity Unusually for one in his position

Gropius encouraged women's artistic endeavors and sought equal romantic partners. Though a traveler in elite circles, he objected to the cloistering of beauty as a special privilege for the aesthetically initiated. Gropius offers a poignant and personal story and a fascinating reexamination of the urges that drove European and American modernism. Designing the Modern Interior Penny Sparke, 2009-06. Designing the Modern Interior reveals how the design of the inside spaces of our homes and public buildings is shaped by and shapes our modern culture. Forma Urbis, 2000. New Urban Housing Hilary French, 2006-01-01. A timely investigation of the most innovative recent urban housing constructions. The design of high density housing is inextricably linked to the growth of towns and cities as urban centers have increased in both geographical size and density; housing has had to be provided to accommodate the numbers and needs of the population. Whether highly visible or merged with the existing cityscape, a vast proportion of the fabric of any city is made up of residential space. New Urban Housing looks at a selection of some of the most inventive contemporary projects built in countries around the world. Author Hilary French provides a comprehensive introduction to this building type from its industrial beginnings in London and Paris to New York City's Lower East Side and the 20th century designs of Le Corbusier, Antonio Sant'Elia, and Mies van der Rohe. Lavishly illustrated, the book examines different formal typologies of urban housing: terrace and row houses, quadrangles and courtyards, city blocks and infill or renovated and reused sites, and towers and slab blocks. Thirty-six case studies from fourteen countries are presented by architects including Steven Holl, Richard Meier, Kohn Pedersen Fox, and others. Each is illustrated in full color and is accompanied by detailed plans and sections that discuss the needs of the site and place the project in its surrounding context. New Urban Housing features these buildings and more: Contemporaine, Chicago; Donnybrook Quarter, London; Harold Way Apartments, Hollywood; Mondrian Apartments, Sydney; Simmons Hall, MIT, Cambridge, MA; Yerba Buena Lofts, San Francisco. View from a Long Chair Jack Pritchard, 1984. Key Urban Housing of the Twentieth Century Hilary French, 2008-10-28. A collection of housing designs built over the last hundred years illustrating innovative approaches. Fourth in the Key series with newly drawn plans suitable for study in architecture schools, this volume will appeal to students of urban design and planning as well as architecture. Key developments covered include early apartment blocks, the projects of European modernism, high rise and large scale schemes, and postmodernism. Exterior and interior photographs show materials, massing, and context. 150 color photographs, 500 line drawings. Architecture and the Welfare State Mark Swenarton, Tom Avermaete, Dirk van den Heuvel, 2014-09-15. In the decades following World War Two and in part in response to the Cold War, governments across Western Europe set out ambitious programmes for social welfare and the redistribution of wealth that aimed to improve the everyday lives of their citizens. Many of these welfare state programmes—housing, schools, new towns, cultural and leisure centres—involved not just construction but a new approach to architectural design in which the welfare objectives of these state-funded programmes were delineated and debated. The impact on architects and architectural design was profound and far reaching with welfare state projects moving centre stage in architectural discourse not just in Europe but worldwide This is the first book to explore the architecture of the welfare state in Western Europe from an international perspective With chapters covering Austria Belgium France Germany Italy The Netherlands Sweden and the UK the book explores the complex role played by architecture in the formation and development of the welfare state in both theory and practice Themes include the role of the built environment in the welfare state as a political project the colonial dimension of European welfare state architecture and its export to Africa and Asia the role of welfare state projects in promoting consumer culture and economic growth the picture of the collective produced by welfare state architecture the role of architectural innovation in the welfare state the role of the architect as opposed to construction companies and others in determining what was built the relationship between architectural and social theory the role of internal institutional critique and the counterculture Contributors include Tom Avermaete Eve Blau Nicholas Bullock Miles Glendinning Janina Gosseye Hilde Heynen Caroline Maniaque Benton Helena Mattsson Luca Molinari Simon Pepper Michelle Provoost Lukasz Stanek Mark Swenarton Florian Urban and Dirk van den Heuvel
