Jana,Mrinmoy Majumder,2010-06-27 As climate change takes hold there is an ever growing need to develop and apply strategies that optimize the use of natural resources both on land and in water This book covers a huge range of strategies that can be applied to various sectors from forests to flood control Its aim as with resource management itself is to combine economics policy and science to help rehabilitate and preserve our natural resources Beginning with papers on carbon sequestration including the practice of artificial desertification the topics move on to cover the use of distributed modeling and neural networks in estimating water availability and distribution Further chapters look at uncertainty analysis applied to the spatial variation of hydrologic resources and finally the book covers attempts at estimating meteorological parameters in the context of hydrological variables such as evapo transpiration from stream flow Within the next decade the effects of climate change will be severe and felt by ordinary human beings This book proposes a raft of measures that can mitigate if not reverse the impact of global warming on the resources we have all come to depend on

The Smallholder Tea Economy and Regional Development Abdul Hannan, 2024-03-14 This book discusses the smallholder tea economy and regional development opportunities in India. It first gives a conceptual overview of Plantations and Smallholders in the Tea Economy including some comparisons and examples from Smallholders tea development in Afro Asian countries like Sri Lanka, Kenya, Nepal, Bangladesh, Indonesia. The spatiotemporal analysis of the growth and development of smallholders in India and its tea producing states is then analyzed in more detail with highlights on the production tea area, estimated employment, livelihood pattern and market structure in relation to government policies and programmes. Two major tea producing states of India, i.e. Assam and West Bengal, are then discussed in more detail, farm size, land relations and trade relations between Bought Leaf Factories and Smallholders in both the states along with some bottom up development initiatives. In these regions, smallholders have emerged as sizable presences in the tea industry in the 1990s. In a next step, the growth of Industrial Development Cooperative (INDCO) Tea Factories in Nilgiris of Tamil Nadu in the Post Reform period is analyzed. The introduction and growth of SHG model in plantations by Tea Board in India and their success stories as well as the policies like Tea Marketing Control Order 2003 and 2015 are examined and analyzed. The book concludes with the policy suggestions and an in-depth analysis of alternatives to overcome the current crisis. Hence, the book fills the research gap in the tea sector and is helpful for practitioners, policy planners, academics and University libraries, government agencies and the regulatory body like Tea Board of India. Apart from them, the book is of great help in Smallholder Tea Associations and Federations, SHGs and Cooperatives, NGOs which exist in tea supply chain and also work for the unorganised sector in India. The book is a conglomerate of information and database developed from various secondary and primary sources and illustrated through case studies. It can be a useful document for better planning, policy making and strategies for local economic development.
