including Battlestar Galactica Watchmen Colony The Man in the High Castle The Expanse and Mr Robot They argue that science fiction television foregrounds governance as part of explaining the novel institutions and norms of its imagined futures In so doing SF shows allegorize and critique contemporary social political and economic developments helping audiences resist the naturalization of the status quo Vint and Alexander also draw on queer theory to explore the representation of family structures and their relationship to larger social structures Recasting both dystopian and utopian narratives Programming the Future shows how depictions of alternative world political struggles speak to urgent real world issues of identity belonging and social and political change      Catalog of Copyright Entries.
