What a rarity to see a who's who of thought leaders on any subject create original material for an anthology. It's a real collegial tribute to Teresa A. Swartz and Dawn Iacobucci that they have been able to assemble such a treasure of original material including some of the last from our late friend and colleague Eric Langeard on topics important to services marketing and management. James Heskett, Harvard Business School, The Handbook of Services Marketing and Management provides an excellent introduction to the topics and issues that define service marketing today. Editors Swartz and Iacobucci have recruited many of the leading names in service research to write the chapters in the book, ensuring that the Handbook will be a valuable reference for years to come.

Roland T. Rust, Journal of Service Research: This Handbook contains an impressive collection of cutting-edge contributions that should be of keen interest to service researchers and practitioners. It represents some of the best and most recent thinking on a wide range of service topics.

A. Parasuraman, University of Miami, FL: Service business today constitutes the largest sector in advanced economies. This new Handbook provides a wealth of stimulating ideas and guidelines for improving the quality and effectiveness of service offerings.

Philip Kotler, S. C. Johnson, Distinguished Professor of International Marketing, Northwestern University: Services, because of their intangibility, variability, and perishability, call for management and marketing skills of a high order. This new Handbook belongs in the working library of managers charged with managing and marketing the service offerings of hotels, restaurant chains, airlines, telecommunications companies, entertainment companies, professional services firms, and countless other service industries.

Philip Kotler, S. C. Johnson, Distinguished Professor of International Marketing, Northwestern University: Despite the growth in services research and the dominance of services in the world economy, no one book has emerged as a comprehensive guide for researchers and professionals until now. The Handbook of Services Marketing and Management presents state-of-the-art perspectives in the foundations of services while simultaneously challenging and expanding current services practices.

Editors Teresa A. Swartz and Dawn Iacobucci invited the world's leading experts on services marketing and management to author individual chapters. The result is an experienced, international, eclectic, and cross-disciplinary mix of authors all contributing cutting-edge material on the frontiers of service research. This handbook includes a unique mix of both in-depth chapters as well as shorter, more focused mini-chapters which treat emerging issues in the field of services. This structure makes the Handbook the most thorough reference possible.

The Handbook of Services Marketing and Management should have a place on the bookshelves of every academic graduate student and professional in the critical area of services.

Affective Dialogue Systems Elisabeth Andre, Laila Dybkjaer, Wolfgang Minker, Paul

Heisterkamp,2004-06-08 Human conversational partners are able at least to a certain extent to detect the speaker s or listener s emotional state and may attempt to respond to it accordingly When instead one of the interlocutors is a computer a number of questions arise such as the following To what extent are dialogue systems able to simulate such behaviors Can we learn the mechanisms of emotional behaviors from observing and analyzing the behavior of human speakers How can emotions be automatically recognized from a user s mimics gestures and speech What possibilities does a dialogue system have to express emotions itself And very importantly would emotional system behavior be desirable at all Given the state of ongoing research into incorporating emotions in dialogue systems we found it timely to organize a Tutorial and Research Workshop on Active Dialogue Systems ADS2004 at Kloster Irsee in Germany during June 14-16 2004 After two successful ISCA Tutorial and Research Workshops on Multimodal Dialogue Systems at the same location in 1999 and 2002 we felt that a workshop focusing on the role of affect in dialogue would be a valuable continuation of the workshop series Due to its interdisciplinary nature the workshop attracted submissions from researchers with very different backgrounds and from many different research areas working on for example dialogue processing speech recognition speech synthesis embodied conversational agents computer graphics animation user modelling tutoring systems cognitive systems and human computer interaction
