Computational Intelligence in Economics and Finance Paul P. Wang, Tzu-Wen Kuo, 2007-07-11

Computational intelligence CI as an alternative to statistical and econometric approaches has been applied to a wide range of economics and finance problems in recent years for example to price forecasting and market efficiency This book contains research ranging from applications in financial markets and business administration to various economics problems Not only are empirical studies utilizing various CI algorithms presented but so also are theoretical models based on computational methods In addition to direct applications of computational intelligence readers can also observe how these methods are combined with conventional analytical methods such as statistical and econometric models to yield preferred results Chen Wang and Kuo have grouped the 12 contributions following their introductory chapter into applications of fuzzy logic neural networks including self organizing maps and support vector machines and evolutionary computation All chapters were selected either by invitation or based on a careful selection and extension of best papers from the International Workshop on Computational Intelligence in Economics and Finance in 2005 Overall the book offers researchers an excellent overview of current advances and applications of computational intelligence techniques to economics and finance problems

NLADA Washington Memo, 1972 Time-Series Observations of Ocean Acidification: a Key Tool for Documenting Impacts on a Changing Planet Abed El Rahman Hassoun, Adrienne J. Sutton, Sam Dupont, Jose Martin Hernandez-Ayon, Xianghui Guo, 2025-04-15 Ocean acidification is a global phenomenon with local effects Marine ecosystems are facing multiple stressors leading to significant changes Time series observations are the basis to understand these changes and distinguishing between natural and anthropogenic variability of physical chemical and biological components of marine environments Moreover field monitoring is often neglected as a tool to document the responses of marine organisms and key habitats to ocean acidification Time series observations of ocean acidification are thus critical to understanding the current threats that the ocean s ecosystems are witnessing and efficiently developing and implementing adaptation and mitigation solutions Time series dedicated to observing ocean acidification other stressors as well as biological parameters are the baseline for long term assessment of the ocean s health and for evaluating the efficiency of local and global actions toward achieving climate targets Therefore the goal of this Research Topic is to highlight the latest research efforts conducted to document ocean acidification patterns and trends and their consequences on marine life In this issue we will focus on new and old time series stations efforts to bridge physical chemical and biological observations and their application for modeling and future projections
