

OPERATION and MAINTENANCE MODEL 500 SERIES Single Sideband Transceiver

INTRODUCTION

The Swan Model 500 Single Sideband Transceiver together with its accessories and optional equipment, is designed to be used in either CW or SSB modes on all portions of the 80-, 40-, 20-, 15-, and 10 meter amateur radio bands. MARS frequencies may also be covered by using the Model 405X oscillator accessory.

The model 500 generates a single sideband signal by means of crystal lattice filter, and the transceive operation automatically tunes the transmitter to the received frequency. Provisions are included in the transceiver for operation on either upper or lower sideband.

Basic circuitry of the single conversion design has been proven in several thousand of the popular Swan transceivers. Mechanical, electrical, and thermal stability is exceptionally high. All oscillators are temperature compensated and voltage regulated. Push-to-talk operation is standard, with provision for plugging in the Model VX-1 accessory Vox unit for automatic voice control.

The basic transceiver provides coverage of all portions of the 80 through 10-meter amateur bands. In addition to this, the amplifier circuits will tune to most MARS frequencies near the 80-, 40-, and 20-meter bands. By using the Model 405X crystal oscillator accessory, MARS operation is thus possible.

With a suitable power supply, operation may be fixed, portable, or mobile. Power input on all bands exceeds 480 watts, PEP, on single sideband, 360 watts on CW, and 125 watts on AM. The model 500 includes automatic gain control (AGC), automatic level control (ALC), automatic noise limiter (ANL), and grid block keying.

Part I of the instruction manual covers the basic transceiver. Part II covers the recommended power supplies, Model 117-XC for ac operation and Model 14-117 for 12-volt dc operation. Part III provides information on various accessories.
