Integration of Transport and Trade Facilitation T. R. Lakshmanan, 2001-01-01 Annotation With contributions from 35 leading economists this forward looking book explores the future of development economics against the background of the past half century of development thought and practice Outstanding representatives of the past two generations of development economists assess development thinking at the turn of the century and look to the unsettled questions confronting the next generation The volume offers a thorough analysis of the broad range of issues involved in development economics and it is especially timely in its critique of what is needed in development theory and policy to reduce poverty An overriding issue is whether in the future development economics is to be regarded simply as applied economics or whether the nature and scope of development economics will constitute a need for a special development theory to supplement general economic theory Frontiers of Development Economics is an ideal reference for all those working in the international development community A Copublication of the World Bank and Oxford University Press

Geography and Economy in South Africa and its Neighbours Christian M. Rogerson, 2017-05-15 The dismantling of the apartheid regime in South Africa caused massive transformation in both geographical and economic terms not only in this country but also in the region as a whole As the post apartheid government enters its second term this captivating volume assesses its progress in unravelling the geography of apartheid both in South Africa itself and in its relationships with other countries in Southern Africa and Africa It also considers the ways in which South Africa now that it is no longer a pariah state has begun to position itself within the current global economy Examining South Africa's land and agriculture mining and minerals manufacturing tourism corporate finance the labour market and transport the volume discusses the challenges of balancing growth and redistribution the extent and nature of progress change and relationships within the regional and global economy A compelling investigation into the economics of South Africa's neighbouring states in relation to their natural resources colonialism and inter relationships with themselves and with South Africa leads to a focus on the region as a whole and its relations with the global economy

Regionalism and Uneven Development in Southern Africa Fredrik Söderbaum, Ian Taylor, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2003 This volume advances our understanding of how Southern Africa is currently being reconfigured critically examining what has been marketed as the flagship of the Spatial Development Initiative programme in Southern Africa the Maputo Development Corridor MDC By examining a variety of cross cutting levels of governance and development and by focusing on the nexus between the formal and informal processes that stake out the MDC this volume contributes to a detailed understanding of what is perhaps the most important current experiment in regionalism in Africa By engaging regional processes on the micro level and on the ground there is a special emphasis on how local communities regard and respond to the Corridor initiative All chapters in the volume are the result of extensive fieldwork in both Mozambique and South Africa and the contributions are drawn from the region and beyond including Botswana Mozambique Zimbabwe South Africa Sweden and the United States

Rural District Planning in South Africa, 2000 Corrupted Jonathan D Jansen, 2023-02-01 In South African higher education the images of dysfunction are everywhere Student protests Violence Police presence Rubber or real bullets Class disruptions Burning tyres Damaged buildings Injury and sometimes death Reports of wholesale corruption Year after year often in the same set of universities the problem of routine instability seems insoluble The financial academic and reputational costs of ongoing dysfunction are high especially for those universities caught up in the never ending struggle to overcome apartheid legacies Any number of explanations have been ventured including a lack of resources shortage of capacity rural location corrupt officials and endemic conflict Corrupted takes a deeper look at dysfunction in an attempt to unravel the root causes in a sample of South African universities At the heart of the problem lies the vexed issue of resources or more pertinently the relationship between resources and power who gets what and why Whatever else it aspires to be commonly a place of teaching learning research and public duty a university in an impoverished community is also a rich concentration of resources around which corrupt staff students and those outside of campus all vie for access Taking a political economic approach Jonathan Jansen describes the daily struggle for institutional resources and offers accessible sensible insights He argues that the problem won't be solved through investments in capacity building alone because the combination of institutional capacity and institutional integrity contributes to serial instability in universities Rather durable solutions would include the depoliticisation of university councils and appointments of academics with integrity and capacity to manage and lead these fragile institutions This groundbreaking and long overdue study will offer a promising way forward for universities to better serve their communities and the country more broadly

Structural Change in Transportation and Communications in the Knowledge Society Kiyoshi Kobayashi, T. R. Lakshmanan, William Peter Anderson, 2006-12-21 The transformation of the world economy from a system of nations trading materials intensive goods to a system of seamless global networks for information intensive goods and services has created the need for a comprehensive restructuring of transportation and communications activities The contributors transportation and communications analysts from Japan and the United States address this restructuring from a variety of perspectives ranging from theoretical treatments of the role of information in the economy to applications of communications technologies for the collection of travel data The authors transcend traditional methods of transportation and communication analysis in order to address emerging issues that are not well represented by the prevailing cost benefit framework Many draw from advances in social sciences such as game theory that recognize the interdependence of human decision making New ways of assessing the economic benefit of infrastructure and the evolving role of institutions in the information economy are demonstrated along with novel approaches to analyzing human mobility and interaction in a knowledge rich environment By moving beyond traditional forms of analysis that were better suited to an earlier time the chapters in this book provide a wealth of insights for policy formulation in the globalized knowledge economy This comprehensive volume will be of great value to regional scientists and economic geographers as well as civil engineers economists and analysts interested in transportation and communications

Nothing Left to Steal Mzilikazi Wa Afrika, 2014-08-20 This tell all memoir reveals the details behind Sunday Times journalist Mzilikazi wa Afrika's exposure of the R1 7 billion lease scandal between police commissioner Bheki Cele and property tycoon Roux Shabangu for which he was infamously arrested in 2010 It is also the riveting account of how a neglected boy in an unknown village became one of South Africa's most awarded investigative reporters and found himself at the receiving end of the corruption that had defeated those he helped put in power Fearless in the face of corrupt authorities with sinister political motives and fervent about justice Wa Afrika's life was characterised by resistance to oppression and inequality from an early age Destined to defend and uphold the principles of democracy his story is the inspiring tale of an ordinary man armed with a pen who challenged the proverbial giant

Competition Law and Economic Regulation in Southern Africa Imraan Valodia, Jonathan Klaaren, Simon Roberts, 2017-07-04 Shaping markets through competition and economic regulation is at the heart of addressing the development challenges facing countries in southern Africa The contributors to Competition Law and Economic Regulation Addressing Market Power in southern Africa critically assess the efficacy of the competition and economic regulation frameworks including the impact of a number of the regional competition authorities in a range of sectors throughout southern Africa Featuring academics as well as practitioners in the field the book addresses issues common to southern African countries where markets are small and concentrated with particularly high barriers to entry and where the resources to enforce legislation against anti competitive conduct are limited What is needed the contributors argue is an understanding of competition and regional integration as part of an inclusive growth agenda for Africa By examining competition and regulation in a single framework and viewing this within the southern African experience this volume adds new perspectives to the global competition literature It is an essential reference tool and will be of great interest to policymakers and regulators as well as the rapidly growing ecosystem of legal practitioners and economists engaged in the field
