

The image features a historical map of the world, likely from the 17th or 18th century. It is composed of two large circular projections, possibly hemispheres, showing the continents of North and South America. The map is rendered in a sepia or aged brown tone. Below the circular projections, there is a horizontal band depicting a sea scene with several sailing ships on the horizon. At the bottom corners, there are decorative vignettes: on the left, a figure (possibly a cherub or a personification) looking out at the sea; on the right, a figure (possibly a personification of a sea or a deity) holding a staff or scepter. The entire image is framed by a red border.
