British Children's Literature of the 19th Century Patrick C. Fleming, 2025-02-13 Many beloved classics of children's literature including Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, Peter Pan and The Tale of Peter Rabbit were written at the end of the nineteenth century, an era known as the Golden Age of children's literature. Notable figures like William Godwin, Harriet Martineau, Christina Rossetti and Charles Dickens contributed to children's literature while juvenile periodicals first appeared to young readers during this time. This is the first comprehensive reference work about the Golden Age of children's literature and the emergence of juvenile literature as a major publishing phenomenon. Alphabetical entries include foundational figures like Sarah Trimmer, Maria Edgeworth and Mary Martha Sherwood who helped establish the market for children's literature. New genres for the time like the moral tale, religious fiction, children's poetry, school stories and prolific authors like Hesba Stretton, L. T. Meade and G. A. Henty are also included. Athenaeum and Literary Chronicle, 1837

The World of Wonders, 1891 "The" Athenaeum, 1893 Education Outlook, 1900 School Government Chronicle and Education Authorities' Gazette, 1909 Railway News, Finance and Joint-stock Companies' Journal, 1887 The British Adventure Hero Leo Hall, 2025-07-26 This book explores the construction of the fin de siècle adventure hero set against a romanticised vision of the past and a nostalgic ideal of gentlemanliness but also forward looking in terms of forging a future for Britain through the imperialist dream. The British Adventure Hero offers a unique focus on how the adventure hero's masculinity is shaped by Victorian industrial, technological and scientific developments which influenced concepts of national identity both psychologically and physiologically. Central to exploring the relationship between the adventure hero and industrialisation are the original illustrations that were printed with the stories in periodicals and the first illustrated editions. This approach to studying the partnership between both text and illustrations demonstrates that the adventure story is a paradox, an outcome of invention, scientific, technological and industrial progress yet also a supposed escape from nineteenth century industrial modernity. The book traces this context through analysis of Robert Louis Stevenson's Treasure Island (1883), Arthur Conan Doyle's The Lost World (1912), Jules Verne's Around the World in Eighty Days (1873) and Edgar Rice Burroughs's Tarzan of the Apes (1912). Significantly, the book also examines how these authors' perspectives on the idealised English identities of their heroes are informed by their Scottish, French and American nationalities. The Book of Poultry Lewis Wright, 1891 Educational Times, 1901 The Educational Times, and Journal of the College of Preceptors, 1901 Athenaeum, 1863 Robert Louis Stevenson and the Pictorial Text Richard J. Hill, 2016-11-03 Robert Louis Stevenson and the Pictorial Text explores the genesis, production and the critical appreciation of the illustrations to the fiction of Robert Louis Stevenson. Stevenson is one of the most copied and interpreted authors of the late nineteenth century, especially his novels Treasure Island and Strange Case of Dr Jekyll and Mr Hyde. These interpretations began with the illustration of his texts in their early editions, often with Stevenson's express consent, and this book traces Stevenson's understanding and critical responses to the artists employed to illustrate his texts. In doing so it attempts to position Stevenson as an important thinker and writer on the subject of illustrated literature and on the marriage of literature and visual arts at a moment preceding the dawn of cinema and the rejection of such popular tropes by modernist writers of the early twentieth century.

Academy and Literature, 1889 The Saturday Review of Politics, Literature, Science and Art, 1888 The Spectator, 1834 A weekly review of politics literature theology and art Our Earth and Its Story Robert Brown, 1890 "The" Academy, 1890 Greater London: a narrative of its history, its people, and its places Edward Walford, 1885 Charles Dickens and His Original Illustrators Jane R. Cohen, Jane Marjorie Rabb, 1980
