Tribalism Is The Bane Of Independent Africa:

Managing Cultural Differences Robert T. Moran, Philip R. Harris, Sarah Moran, 2007-03-15 This new edition of a business textbook bestseller has been completely updated. In particular, the book presents a fuller discussion of global business today. Also, issues of terrorism and state security as they affect culture and business are discussed substantially. The structure and content of the book remain the same, with thorough updating of the plentiful region and country descriptions, demographic data, graphs, and maps. This book differs from textbooks on International Management because it zeroes in on culture as the crucial dimension and educates students about the cultures around the world so they will be better prepared to work successfully for a multinational corporation or in a global context.

Managing Cultural Differences Philip Robert Harris, Robert T. Moran, Sarah Virgilia Moran, 2004 This new edition of this bestselling text has been completely updated to reflect the numerous global changes that have occurred since 1999: globalization, SARS, AIDS, the handover of Hong Kong, and so forth. Issues of terrorism and state security as they affect culture and business are discussed substantially. Included throughout are several region and country descriptions as well as demographic data, graphs, and maps.

Managing Cultural Differences 6th Edition zeroes in on culture as the crucial dimension and educates the reader about the cultures around the world.

Book jacket Independent Africa Emmanuel Kwaku Akyeampong, 2023-07-18 Independent Africa explores Africa's political economy in the first two full decades of independence through the joint projects of nation building, economic development, and international relations. Drawing on the political careers of four heads of states: Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana, Ahmed Sékou Touré of Guinea, Léopold Sédar Senghor, and Julius Kambarage Nyerere of Tanzania, Independent Africa engages four major themes: what does it mean to construct an African nation state and what should an African nation state look like; how does one grow a tropical economy emerging from European colonialism; how to explore an indigenous model of economic development; a third way in the context of a Cold War that had divided the world into two camps; and how to leverage internal resources and external opportunities to diversify agricultural economies and industrialize. Combining aspects of history, economics, and political science, Independent Africa examines the important connections between the first generation of African leaders and the shared ideas that informed their endeavors at nation building and worldmaking.

Colonial Mentality and the Destiny of Africa Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2020-03-20 In his book Colonial Mentality and the Destiny of Africa, Godfrey Mwakikagile examines the negative impact of colonial mentality on Africa's well-being as a continental crisis and how it impedes Africa's progress and the quest for an African renaissance.

The Cultural Crisis of Sub-Saharan Africa as Depicted in the African Writers' Series Michael Perry Kweku Okyerefo, 2001 Africa has variously been described as the lost Continent, a Continent at risk, not least because of the ethnic or civil wars plaguing this continent and their concomitant genocide. Indeed, Africa has been plunged into a political and socio-economic quagmire. This state of cultural crisis is what this work makes its theme Crisis as a sociological phenomenon which in the case of the African situation in contrast to the conventional European appraisal is apparently far from being a transitional period a period of decision This sociological analysis of historical African literary works is aimed at creating that self awareness which is imperative as a curb on African identity crisis to warrant the impetus for human development on this continent The Theory and Practice of Associative Power Stephen B. Young, 2017-06-19 To succeed in achieving its national security objectives the United States needs to use Associative Power in place of both Hard Power and Soft Power Associative Power is the use of joint ventures and alliances to optimize the forms of power brought to bear in conflicts responding with precision to a spectrum of enemy threats situational challenges and political opportunities Associative Power was wisely and successfully used by the United States in the Vietnam War through the CORDS program of counter insurgency and village development to defeat the Viet Cong insurgency and permit the withdrawal of American combat forces Associative power was not used by the United States nor was the best counter insurgency practices of CORDS in the Iraq and Afghanistan conflicts As a result of this omission interim outcomes in Iraq and Afghanistan did not acceptably accomplish American objectives The Economist ,1994 Reading Lists in Radical Social Science Mark H. Maier, Dan Gilroy, 1982

Nationalism and National Projects in Southern Africa Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Sabelo J., Ndhlovu, Finex, 2013 Despite the fact that nationalism and its national projects have in recent years been severely criticised by postcolonial theorists for being fundamentalist and essentialist by feminists for being patriarchal and exclusive by global financial institutions for being antagonistic to development and globalisation by Pan Africanists for being anticontinental unity and by those Africans born after decolonisation for being irrelevant Sabelo J Ndlovu Gatsheni and Finex Ndhlovu s book convincingly argues that nationalism has defied its death and displayed remarkable resilience and resonance Since the end of the Cold War what has been poignant has been the enduring contest tensions and contradictions between the growth of various forms of transnationalism on the one hand and a resurgence of territorial as well as other narrow and xenophobic forms of nationalism on the other In this important book Ndlovu Gatsheni and Ndhlovu provide new critical reflections on nationalism and its national projects in southern Africa covering South Africa Zimbabwe and the Democratic Republic of Congo DRC a member of SADC The national question is interrogated from different disciplinary vantage points to reveal how it impinges on contemporary challenges of nation building development devolution of power language questions and citizenship on the one hand and ethnicity nativism and xenophobia on the other The Comparative and International Law Journal of Southern Africa ,1991 Africa ,1960 Refugees, Africa's Challenge Derrick Knight, Christian Aid, 1978 This is a report about the current situation of refugees in Africa causes of mass exodus and provisions for assistance programmes After a detailed discussion of the causes which include the preservation of the former colonial boundaries and the remaining struggles for independence the report cites as examples Equatorial Guinea the hidden war in the Western Sahara and Soweto

The report states that because the term refugee is open to interpretation there is wide abuse of refugee rights and presents four case histories of refugees in Kenya It divides the refugees into two categories urban and rural It also describes the work of the UN national governments voluntary agencies the Organization of African Unity OAU and the All Africa Conference of Churches AACC It concludes with Britain's attitude to the situation indicating that interest in refugees has declined and that there is need for a long term Government strategy

Ethnicity and Sociopolitical Change in Africa and Other Developing Countries Santosh C. Saha, 2008-03-07 This edited collection of essays answers a basic question posed by contemporary discourse on state building How might people's identification with a particular ethnic group matter Essays in this book use an integrated multi disciplinary approach to understanding regional and local community culture and socio political development in developing countries especially in Sub Saharan Africa to argue that the state as well as civil society confers on cultural differences a legitimacy that can be achieved in no other way but by positive cooperation Contributors from different countries look at local patterns in state building and modernization as they have unfolded over the course of the last fifty years They claim that the people and ethnic groups in most developing countries adhere to a concept of popular sovereignty that testifies that aspects of positive and moral ethnicity can contribute to social change as in China economic development as in India or in a democratization process as in Rwanda and Burundi The eventual methodological assumption made by these essays presumes that ethnic conflicts in such countries as Cyprus Turkey India and Rwanda have no moral sanction ethnicity has not assumed a political ideology One conclusion reached by the contributors is that some form of accommodation between opposing ethnically diversified groups as well as between state and ethnic elements is feasible

Burundi: The Hutu and The Tutsi Cauldron of Conflict and Quest for Dynamic Compromise Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2012-05 This work looks at conflicts between the Hutu and the Tutsi in Burundi It is also a profile of the Hutu and the Tutsi as a people They are two social groups which claim separate identities on ethnic or tribal basis although they speak the same language and have the same culture The work also looks at conflicts in eastern Congo which led to the downfall of President Mobutu Sese Seko of what was then known as Zaire The author also looks at attempts by regional neighbours to resolve the conflict between the Hutu and Tutsi in Burundi especially the role played by Tanzania and its former president Julius Nyerere who was the chief mediator Most of Burundi's exports and imports go through Tanzania giving the country leverage as the main facilitator of the peace process which sometimes has involved economic sanctions against Burundi The conflict between the Hutu and the Tutsi is one of Africa's intractable problems It is also one of the oldest in the post colonial era The book sheds some light on the complex situation in Burundi and on relations between the two groups It also provides some insights into what can be done to resolve one of Africa's perennial problems It can also be helpful to those who are trying to learn about Burundi for the first time Students of African studies may also find this work to be useful Africa Research Bulletin, 1980 On Social Change in Sub-Saharan Africa Ansa Asamoah, 2001 Reconceiving Identities in Political Economy Laura Doyle, Simon Gikandi, Mwangi wa Githinji, 2025-04-10 Reconceiving Identities in Political Economy comprises one volume in an unprecedented three volume set collectively subtitled Decolonial Reconstellations Together with Volume One Dynamics of Deep Time and Deep Place and Volume Two Dissolving Master Narratives it gathers thinkers from across world regions and disciplines who reconfigure critical global thought Collaboratively conceived the volumes are founded on the observation that we cannot fully uproot the epistemological material violence of coercive systems nor fully re imagine more ethical visions of planetary community without shared attention to the deeper histories of place and peoples that shape the present Accordingly the volumes gather social scientists and humanists Indigenous and non Indigenous scholars and intersectional and materialist thinkers who reconceptualize longue dur e history and its afterlives They engage in the dual project to dismantle eurocentric colonial androcentric frameworks and to make visible the legacies of care and creative world making that have sustained human communities Uncovering pasts that are as complex and dynamic as the present the contributors brilliantly transform notions of temporality relationality polity conjuncture resistance and experimentation within histories of struggle and alliance They richly decolonize political imaginaries The co editors introductions articulate fresh frameworks of deep place and deep time freed from eurocentric modernity paradigms indicating pathways toward decolonial collaboration and institutional change Decolonial Reconstellations offers invaluable resources for researchers and teachers in decolonial postcolonial anti colonial and Indigenous studies and will also strongly appeal to feminist anti racist Marxist and critical theory scholars across disciplines

Identity Politics and Ethnic Conflicts in Rwanda and Burundi Godfrey Mwakikagile, 2012 This work looks at conflicts between the Hutu and the Tutsi in Rwanda and Burundi The conflicts between the two groups have sometimes been characterised as ethnic although neither group has fundamental attributes of ethnicity or ethnic identity which separate one from the other They have the same culture They speak the same language And they have had a common history during the past 400 years They have intermingled and have intermarried for so long since the Tutsi arrived in the region about 400 years ago that whatever differences existed between them in the past in terms of culture identity and biology have been erased Yet they do exist as distinct social groups They maintain separate group identities as Hutus and as Tutsis mainly because of the asymmetrical relationship between them Inequity of power has solidified those identities Historically the Tutsi minority have been the rulers Their status as the dominant group was enhanced during colonial rule when the Belgians favoured and recognised them as the traditional rulers superior to the Hutu thus legitimising inequalities between the two groups The differences between them were even given official sanction And the subordinate status of the Hutu majority was used by the Belgians to justify discrimination against them in terms of employment and educational opportunities while favouring the Tutsi The conflict between the two groups is rooted in inequity of power fuelled by stereotypes against the Hutu majority Domination of the Hutu majority by the Tutsi minority which started before the advent of colonial rule has also solidified ethnic identities of the two groups through the years A shared consciousness among the members of each group and their distinctiveness each seeing themselves as different from the other have also played a major role in the evolution and consolidation of these separate identities
