Transit Migration In Europe Amsterdam University Press Imiscoe Research:

Transit migration in Europe Franck Düvell, Michael Collyer, Irina Molodikova, 2014-08-08 Transit migration comprising mixed flows of refugees and labour is widely considered a concern and even security threat. However, the concept is as vague and blurred as it is politicised. This volume offers evidence-based comprehensive coverage of the entire belt of countries in the neighbourhood of the EU ranging from Russia to Morocco. Transit migration is critically analyzed from the perspective of sending transit and receiving countries, offering new insights into refugee and irregular migration flows, transnational migration networks and overlapping migration systems.

The Routledge Handbook of the Politics of Migration in Europe Agnieszka Weinar, Saskia Bonjour, Lyubov Zhyznomirska, 2018-07-06 The Routledge Handbook of the Politics of Migration in Europe provides a rigorous and critical examination of what is exceptional about the European politics of migration and the study of it. Crucially, this book goes beyond the study of the politics of migration in the handful of Western European countries to showcase a European approach to the study of migration politics inclusive of tendencies in all geographical parts of Europe including Eastern Europe, the Western Balkans, Turkey, and of influences of the European Union (EU) on countries in Europe and beyond. Each expert chapter reviews the state of the art field of studies on a given topic or question in Europe as a continent while highlighting any dimensions in scholarly debates that are uniquely European. Thematically organised, it permits analytically fruitful comparisons across various geographical entities within Europe and broadens the focus on European immigration politics and policies beyond the traditional limitations of Western European immigrant-receiving societies. The Routledge Handbook of the Politics of Migration in Europe will be essential reading and an authoritative reference for scholars, students, researchers, and practitioners involved in and actively concerned about research on migration and European and EU politics.

Building Resilient Migration Systems in the Mediterranean Region Mauro Testaverde, Jacquelyn Pavilon, 2022-07-01 For thousands of years, migration has been a source of social and economic well-being for people living on different shores of the Mediterranean Sea. Whether through higher earnings for migrants, access to labor for receiving countries, or remittances for sending communities, migration has been an important driver of development in the Mediterranean region. The COVID-19 coronavirus pandemic has severely disrupted this complex web of movements, raising questions about whether migration will continue to be an important driver of the region's well-being. As time passed, it became clear that the drivers of migration are so strong that mobility restrictions can only reduce movements, not halt them entirely. Building Resilient Migration Systems in the Mediterranean Region: Lessons from COVID-19 presents evidence on the implications of the COVID-19 pandemic on mobility in the region to inform policy responses that can help countries restart migration safely and better respond to future shocks. While some of the challenges that emerged during the pandemic are specific to public health crises, others are common to different types of shocks, including those related to economic conflict or climate-related factors. To inform this reform process, this book suggests a set of actions that can help Mediterranean countries to maximize the benefits of migration for all people living in the region while at the same time ensuring the sustainability of migration flows. As a whole, these proposed policy actions point to a vision of migration resilience that even during crises can address key labor shortages, keep both migrant and native populations safer, sustain household incomes, and ameliorate blows to economic growth. The COVID 19 pandemic has created momentum for policy reforms. Whether this crisis can illuminate the way toward better adapting migration systems to future crises will depend on learning its lessons.

Irregular Afghan Migration to Europe Angeliki Dimitriadi, 2017-07-13 This book examines the issue of irregular transit migration to the EU by presenting the case of the Afghans. Focusing on the Afghans that arrive in and seek to move through Greece, it highlights the unique problems facing this distinctive migratory movement. Recognising that the migratory journey is a continuous interplay of policies and individuals, how each responds and adapts, the book itself moves between countries, policies, stories of migrants, and the author's own experiences in the field. Drawing on extensive empirical research conducted in both Greece and Turkey, it explores why such transits occur and the decision-making process of the migrants in transit. Through the example of Afghan migration, this book contributes to broader debates concerning transit migration, hospitality, and asylum, how it is perceived, access to it. This book presents a timely study of the rise of fortress Europe and the current discourse around refugees and migrants amidst the largest refugee flow since WWII in Europe. This book's interdisciplinary approach will make it a valuable resource for policy makers as well as Sociology and Politics scholars. Mapping Migration, Identity, and Space Tabea Linhard, Timothy H. Parsons, 2018-07-14 This interdisciplinary collection of essays focuses on the ways in which movements of people across natural, political, and cultural boundaries shape identities that are inexorably linked to the geographical space that individuals on the move cross, inhabit, and leave behind. As conflicts over identities and space continue to erupt on a regular basis, this book reads the relationship between migration, identity, and space from a fresh and innovative perspective.

Migration and Transnationalism Between Switzerland and Bulgaria Marina Richter, Paolo Ruspini, Dotcho Mihailov, Vesselin Mintchev, Michael Nollert, 2016-09-01 This book explores trends in migration from Bulgaria to Switzerland since Bulgaria joined the European Union (EU) in 2007. Due to several unique factors, this in-depth case study provides a basis for understanding transnational migration in a wider European context. Bulgarians represent a fairly small community within Switzerland and are quite scattered throughout the country. They come from various regions in Bulgaria with very different socio-economic profiles. In Switzerland, apart from differences in linguistic regions and the federal system, there are significant regional disparities providing a variety of contexts for exploring this transnational migration, causes, and consequences. The first part of the book analyses who migrates and why, addressing regional disparities within Bulgaria. The text explores the impact of economic differences, educational background, and other factors that play into immigrants motivations to move The next part of the book examines different migratory movements and transnational practices between Switzerland Bulgaria and other destination countries for Bulgarian immigrants It addresses larger socioeconomic shifts and resulting impacts at individual household community and national levels Finally the book assesses all of these factors within the context of shifting immigration policies This work draws on mixed method empirical research conducted in both countries over a three year period analysed within four major frameworks transnationalism and migrant networks social inequality regional disparities and development and immigration policies The results will be of interest for researchers working in a variety of social science fields including anthropology geography sociology social psychology law public policy political science international studies demography and exploring issues related to migration and development social and regional disparities inequality employment social networks social identity and others Transit

Migration and Health in the European Union Bernd Rechel, Philipa Mladovsky, Walter Devillé, Barbara Rijks, Roumyana Petrova-Benedict, Martin McKee, 2011-12-16 This book can be read by anyone with an interest in migration and health whether as an advocate for migrants health as a student in a health profession researcher or policy maker It provides an ample orientation to the field in the European context Among other important raised issues it underlines an all too often neglected fact health is a human right By involving broad issues and problem areas from a variety of perspectives the volume illustrates that migration and health is a field that can not be allocated to a single discipline Carin Björngren Cuadra Senior Lecturer Malmö University Sweden Migrants make up a growing share of European populations However all too often their situation is compounded by problems with accessing health and other basic services There is a need for tailored health policies but robust data on the health needs of migrants and how best these needs can be met are scarce Written by a collaboration of authors from three key international organisations the European Observatory on Health Systems and Policies the EUPHA Section on Migrant and Ethnic Minority Health and the International Organization for Migration as well as leading researchers from across Europe the book thoroughly explores the different aspects of migration and health in the EU and how they can be addressed by health systems Structured into five easy to follow sections the volume includes Contributions from experts from across Europe Key topics such as access to human rights and health care health issues faced by migrants and the national and European policy response so far Conclusions drawn from the latest available evidence Comprehensive information on different aspects of health and migration and how they can best be addressed by health systems is still not easy to find This book addresses this shortfall and will be of major value to researchers students policy makers and practitioners concerned with migration and health in an increasingly diverse Europe Migration Landing

Spaces Martina Bovo, 2024-05-17 This book looks at migrant landing spaces exploring the processes and infrastructures which people encounter as they navigate urban spaces along the central Mediterranean route The book argues that there remains a theoretical and practical difficulty in grasping the complexity of migrant arrivals Migrants are often unsure whether they will stay or leave their mobility is uncertain Despite this they face rigid binaries and categories within administrative policy and planning which tries to pin them down as either permanent or temporary Drawing on extensive original research in southern Italy this book suggests that we should instead think of landing spaces parts of the city that work as infrastructures for landing that allow for an open and dynamic use of the urban space and provide opportunities for encounter and information exchange as migrants consider their next steps Combining an ethnographic gaze with insights from urban planning architecture geography social sciences and migration studies this book invites us to look closer at the interactions between people practices and places as migrants land in Europe Escaping the Escape Bertelsmann Stiftung, 2017-02-17 Conflict and war but most of all overwhelming despair are driving massive numbers of mostly young people from the Middle East and North Africa Central Africa the Balkan Ukraine and Central Asia to leave their homes for Europe in search of safety What do they need most in order to lead their lives in peace and security How can opportunities for a meaningful and secure future in their countries of origin be improved How can the EU acting in concert with its principles support these people in their search for freedom self determination and well being These are the questions addressed in Escaping the Escape The publication features authors from refugee source countries and experts from Europe who examine the situation in the crisis regions and offer concrete recommendations for actions to be taken in each region Countries and regions covered in this publication are Afghanistan Algeria and Sahel the Balkans Egypt Eritrea Gaza Greece Iran Iraq Jordan Lebanon Libya Morocco Nigeria Somalia South Sudan Sudan Syria Tunisia Turkey Ukraine Yemen
