Topics in Signed Language Interpreting Terry Janzen,2005-10-26 Interpreters who work with signed languages and those who work strictly with spoken languages share many of the same issues regarding their training skill sets and fundamentals of practice Yet interpreting into and from signed languages presents unique challenges for the interpreter who works with language that must be seen rather than heard The contributions in this volume focus on topics of interest to both students of signed language interpreting and practitioners working in community conference and education settings Signed languages dealt with include American Sign Language Langue des Signes Québécoise and Irish Sign Language although interpreters internationally will find the discussion in each chapter relevant to their own language

context Topics concern theoretical and practical components of the interpreter's work including interpreters' approaches to language and meaning their role on the job and in the communities within which they work dealing with language variation and consumer preferences and Deaf interpreters as professionals in the field

Advances in Interpreting Research

Brenda Nicodemus, Laurie Swabey, 2011 With the growing emphasis on scholarship in interpreting this collection tackles issues critical to the inquiry process from theoretical orientations in Interpreting Studies to practical considerations for conducting a research study As a landmark volume it charts new territory by addressing a range of topics germane to spoken and signed language interpreting research Both provocative and pragmatic this volume captures the thinking of an international slate of interpreting scholars including Daniel Gile Franz P. Chhabaker Debra Russell Barbara Moser Mercer Melanie Metzger Cynthia Roy Minhua Liu Jemina Napier Lorraine Leeson Jens Hessmann Graham Turner Eeva Salmi Svenja Wurm Rico Peterson Robert Adam Christopher Stone Laurie Swabey and Brenda Nicodemus Experienced academics will find ideas to stimulate their passion and commitment for research while students will gain valuable insights within its pages This new volume is essential reading for anyone involved in interpreting research

Politeness in Professional Contexts

Dawn Archer, Karen Grainger, Piotr Jagodziński, 2020-08-15 Much like in everyday life politeness is key to the smooth running of relationships and interactions Professional contexts however tend to be characterised by a plethora of behaviours that may be specific to that context They include polite behaviours impolite behaviours and behaviours that arguably fall somewhere between or outside such concepts The twelve chapters making up this edited collection explore these behaviours in a range of communication contexts representative of business medical legal and security settings Between them the contributions will help readers to theorize about and in some cases operationalize im politeness and related behaviours for these real world settings The authors take a broad yet theoretically underpinned definition of politeness and use it to help explain analyse and inform professional interactions They demonstrate the importance of understanding how interactions are negotiated and managed in professional settings The edited collection has something to offer therefore to academics professionals and practitioners alike

Sign Language Ideologies in Practice Annelies Kusters, Mara Green, Erin Moriarty, Kristin

Snoddon, 2020-08-10 This book focuses on how sign language ideologies influence manifest in and are challenged by communicative practices Sign languages are minority languages using the visual gestural and tactile modalities whose affordances are very different from those of spoken languages using the auditory oral modality

Sociolinguistics and Deaf Communities Ceil Lucas, Adam C. Schembri, 2015-02-12 This book provides an up to date overview of the main areas of the sociolinguistics of sign languages

Testing and Assessment in Translation and Interpreting Studies Claudia V.

Angelelli, Holly E. Jacobson, 2009 Testing and Assessment in Translation and Interpreting Studies examines issues of measurement that are essential to translation and interpreting Conceptualizing testing both as a process and a product the collection of papers explores these issues across languages and settings including university classrooms research projects the private sector and professional associations The authors have approached their chapters from different perspectives using a variety of methods some focusing on very specific variables and others providing a much broader overview of the issues at hand Chapters range from a discussion of the measurement of text cohesion in translation the measurement of interactional competence in interpreting the use of a particular scale to measure interpreters renditions to the application of a specific approach to grading or general program assessment such as interpreter or translator certification at the national level or program admissions processes These studies point to the need for greater integration of research and practice in the specific area of testing and assessment and are a welcome addition to the field

Sign Language Brokering in Deaf-Hearing Families Jemina Napier, 2021-04-15 This book details a study of sign language brokering that is carried out by deaf and hearing people who grow up using sign language at home with deaf parents known as heritage signers Child language brokering CLB is a form of interpreting carried out informally by children typically for migrant families The study of sign language brokering has been largely absent from the emerging body of CLB literature The book gives an overview of the international multi stage mixed method study employing an online survey semi structured interviews and visual methods to explore the lived experiences of deaf parents and heritage signers It will be of interest to practitioners and academics working with signing deaf communities and those who wish to pursue professional practice with deaf communities as well as academics and students in the fields of Applied Linguistics Intercultural Communication Interpreting Studies and the Social Science of Childhood

Sign Language in Action Jemina Napier, Lorraine Leeson, 2016-01-26 This book defines the notion of applied sign linguistics by drawing on data from projects that have explored sign language in action in various domains The book gives professionals working with sign languages signed language teachers and students research students and their supervisors authoritative access to current ideas and practice

Sign Languages of the World Julie Bakken Jepsen, Goedele De Clerck, Sam Lutalo-Kiingi, William B. McGregor, 2015-10-16 Although a number of edited collections deal with either the languages of the world or the languages of particular regions or genetic families only a few cover sign languages or even include a substantial amount of information on them This handbook provides information on some 38 sign languages including basic facts about each of the languages structural aspects history and culture of the Deaf communities and history of research This information will be of interest not just to general audiences including those who are deaf but also to linguists and students of linguistics By providing information on sign languages in a manner accessible to a less specialist audience this volume fills an important gap in the literature
