Travel Writing Paper:

A Generic History of Travel Writing in Anglophone and Polish Literature Grzegorz Moroz, 2020-08-31 A Generic History of Travel Writing in Anglophone and Polish Literature offers a comprehensive comparative and generic analysis of developments of travel writing in Anglophone and Polish literature from the Late Medieval Period to the twenty first century. These developments are depicted in a wider context of travel narratives written in other European languages. Grzegorz Moroz convincingly argues that for all the similarities and cross cultural influences in the course of the nineteenth and twentieth century non fiction Anglophone and Polish travel writing have dynamically evolved different generic horizons of expectations. While the Anglophone travel book developed relatively steadily in that period the Polish genre of the podr was first replaced by the listy kartki z podr y and then by the reporta podr niczy.

The Balkans in Travel Writing Marija Knežević, 2015-09-18 This book revisits images of the Balkans in twentieth century travel writing that vividly mirrors the turbulent changes that the region went through. As such it provides a vital basis for research into the variety of possibilities or obstacles present on the region's path to accession when its unique heritage will have to be reconciled with a more European identity. This volume explores the work of well known authors such as Rebecca West, Paul Theroux, Robert D. Kaplan and also contributes to travel writing theory by addressing less known travellers who recorded their thoughts on the social dynamics of the region. The corpus offers divergent and often contradictory views ranging from moral and political criticism to a delight in the rich heritage and the still undiscovered Balkan paths. More importantly its generic potentials prove to overcome both the discourse of power and the discourse of apology. Its narrative style also comprises striking variations from the objective and well researched approaches to quick impressionist sketches. Being a multi generic form travel writing is observed from a multidisciplinary perspective encompassing fields such as literature, linguistics, history, sociology, anthropology, ethnology, political sciences and geography.

Contemporary Travel Writing. Writers, Genres, and Themes Lukas Wieltchnig, 2022-09-01 Seminar paper from the year 2021 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies. Literature grade 2.0 University of Graz. language English. abstract: The field of contemporary travel writing will be analyzed by taking the three authors Paul Theroux, Bill Bryson and V. S. Naipaul into account. The aim is therefore to illustrate what makes contemporary travel writing special and how it differs from what has been written before. The Old Patagonian Express, Neither Here Nor There, Travels in Europe and An Area of Darkness have been chosen in order to carry out this analysis.

The Cambridge Introduction to Travel Writing Tim Youngs, 2013-05-27 Surveying various works of travel literature this text argues that travel writing redefines the myriad genres it often comprises.

Travel Writing, Form, and Empire Julia Kuehn, Paul Smethurst, 2008-11-19 This collection of essays is an important contribution to travel writing studies looking beyond the explicitly political questions of postcolonial and gender discourses. It considers the form, poetics, institutions and reception of travel writing in the history of empire and its aftermath. Starting from the premise that travel writing studies has received much of its impetus and theoretical input from the sometimes overgeneralized precepts of postcolonial studies and gender studies this collection aims to explore more widely and more locally the expression of imperialist discourse in travel writing and also to locate within contemporary travel writing attempts to evade or re engage with the power politics of such discourse There is a double focus then to explore further postcolonial theory in European travel writing Anglophone Francophone and Hispanic and to trace the emergence of postcolonial forms of travel writing The thread that draws the two halves of the collection together is an interest in form and relations between form and travel

Travel Writing and Environmental Awareness Françoise Besson, 2023-08-24 Travel writing presents stories of human journeys and can guide us towards a better perception of our connections with the nonhuman world This book is a collection of essays by writers and scholars from China England France India Tunisia and the United States of America It discusses sustainable travels and travel writing and explores the sense of connection with nature From travels around one's home to mountain hikes and bicycle rides it also reminds us that planes can be used in a responsible way It discusses conscious travelling and shows the important role texts play in educating us on this issue This multidimensional book encompasses several literary genres essays autobiographies mountain reports novels poetry journals graphic novels and scientific reports It is aimed at all those who have some interest in travel ecology and the philosophy of place Writing travel, writing life Pia Sójka, 2023-01-10 The book compares the texts of three Swiss authors Ella Maillart Annemarie Schwarzenbach and Nicolas Bouvier The focus is on their trip from Geneva to Kabul that Ella Maillart and Annemarie Schwarzenbach made together in 1939 1940 and Nicolas Bouvier 1953 1954 with the artist Thierry Vernet The comparison shows the strong connection between the journey and life and between ars vivendi and travel literature This book also gives an overview of and organises the numerous terms genres and categories that already exist to describe various travel texts and proposes the new term travelling narration The travelling narration looks at the text from a narratological perspective that distinguishes the author narrator and protagonist within the narration In the examination ten motifs could be found to characterise the travelling narration Culture Crossing Borders Freedom Time and Space the Aesthetics of Landscapes Writing and Reading the Self and as the Other Home Religion and Spirituality as well as the Journey The importance of each individual motif does not only apply in the 1930s or 1950s but also transmits important findings for living together today and in the future

Modernist Travel Writing David G. Farley,2010-11-30 As the study of travel writing has grown in recent years scholars have largely ignored the literature of modernist writers Modernist Travel Writing Intellectuals Abroad by David Farley addresses this gap by examining the ways in which a number of writers employed the techniques and stylistic innovations of modernism in their travel narratives to variously engage the political social and cultural milieu of the years between the world wars Modernist Travel Writing argues that the travel book is a crucial genre for understanding the development of modernism in the years between the wars despite the established view that travel writing during the interwar period was largely an escapist genre one in which writers hearkened back to the realism of nineteenth century literature in order to avoid interwar anxiety Farley analyzes works that exist on the margins of modernism generically and geographically works that have yet to receive the critical attention they deserve partly due to their classification as travel narratives and partly because of their complex modernist styles The book begins by examining the ways that travel and the emergent travel regulations in the wake of the First World War helped shape Ezra Pound s Cantos From there it goes on to examine E E Cummings s frustrated attempts to navigate the unworld of Soviet Russia in his book Eimi Wyndham Lewis s satiric journey through colonial Morocco in Filibusters in Barbary and Rebecca West's urgent efforts to make sense of the fractious Balkan states in Black Lamb and Grey Falcon. These modernist writers traveled to countries that experienced most directly the tumult of revolution, the effects of empire, and the upheaval of war during the years between World War I and World War II. Farley's study focuses on the question of what constitutes evidence for Pound, Lewis, Cummings, and West as they establish their authority as eyewitnesses, translate what they see for an audience back home, and attempt to make sense of a transformed and transforming modern world. Modernist Travel Writing makes an original contribution to the study of literary modernism while taking a distinctive look at a unique subset within the growing field of travel writing studies. David Farley's work will be of interest to students and teachers in both of these fields as well as to early twentieth-century literary historians and general enthusiasts of modernist studies.

Interpersonal Encounters in Contemporary Travel Writing Catharine Mee, 2015-03-01 This critical study examines the theme of interpersonal encounter in a range of late twentieth and early twenty-first century travel writing written in French and Italian. Structured typologically, each chapter focuses on a typical activity that brings traveller protagonists into contact with other people. Drawing on literary critical studies of travel writing, sociological and anthropological approaches to tourism, as well as research in French and Italian area studies, Interpersonal Encounters in Contemporary Travel Writing locates the concept of encounter within the context of modern tourism.

Gender, Science, and Authority in Women's Travel Writing Michelle Medeiros, 2019-04-15 Gender, Science, and Authority in Women's Travel Writing Literary Perspectives on the Discourse of Natural History analyzes the interrelations among authority, gender, and the scientific discipline of natural history in the works of transatlantic women travelers from the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Michelle Medeiros sheds new light on our understanding of the literary perspectives of the discourse of natural history and how these viewpoints had a surprising impact in areas that went beyond scientific fields. This book advances the study of travel writing and gender in new directions by bringing together Latin American, European, and American women travelers who actively engaged in natural history discussions in their writings. By demonstrating how these women were only able to participate in intellectual enterprises by embarking on transatlantic voyages, this book discloses how the work produced by these travelers challenged and reshaped dominant discourses, bringing a new point of view to nineteenth and twentieth-century studies in Latin American history, literature, cultural studies, and history of science. Moreover, this book analyzes to what extent the approaches employed by female travel writers who wanted to engage in the production of knowledge have evolved in that time period and to what degree such changes could be considered positive and more productive.
