

We now need to make a measurement on our scaled map and convert it back to a distance in the real world. Check show ruler and use this ruler to measure the distance from the baseline to the boat in an arbitrary unit. Then use the map scale factor to calculate the perpendicular distance from the baseline to the boat.

Question 2: Enter your perpendicular distance to the boat in map units. 7.5 au

Show your calculation of the distance to the boat in meters in the box below.

$$7.5 \times 20 = \underline{\underline{150m}}$$

Configure the simulator to preset B. The parallax explorer now assumes that our surveyor can make angular observations with a typical error of 3° . Due to this error we will now describe an area where the boat must be located as the overlap of two cones as opposed to a definite location that was the intersection of two lines. This preset is more realistic in that it does not illustrate the position of the boat on the map.

Question 3: Repeat the process of applying triangulation to determine the distance to the boat and then answer the following:

What is your best estimate for the perpendicular distance to the boat?	$6.6 \text{ au} \times 20 = 132 \text{ m}$
What is the greatest distance to the boat that is still consistent with your observations?	$7.5 \text{ au} \times 20 = 150 \text{ m}$
What is the smallest distance to the boat that is still consistent with your observations?	$5.8 \text{ au} \times 20 = 116 \text{ m}$

Configure the simulator to preset C which limits the size of the baseline and has an error of 5° in each angular measurement.

Question 4: Repeat the process of applying triangulation to determine the distance to the boat and then explain how accurately you can determine this distance and the factors contributing to that accuracy. $3.5 \times 20 = 70 \text{ m}$. The boat is at least $3.5 - 12$ map units away. so this is not accurate.
