Authorship and

Text-making in Early China Hanmo Zhang, 2018-10-08 This book is a timely response to a rather urgent call to seek an updated methodology in rereading and reappraising early Chinese texts in light of newly discovered early writings For a long time the concept of authorship in the formation and transmission of early Chinese texts has been misunderstood The nominal author who should mainly function as a guide to text formation and interpretation is considered retrospectively as the originator and writer of the text This book illustrates that although some notions about the text as the author's property began to appear in some Eastern Han texts a strict correlation between the author and the text results from later conceptions of literary history Before the modern era there existed a conceptual gap between an author and a writer A pre modern Chinese text could have had both an author and a writer or even multiple authors and multiple writers This work is the first study addressing these issues by more systematically emphasizing the connection of the text the author and the religious and sociopolitical settings in which these issues were embedded It is expected to constitute a palpable contribution to Chinese studies and the discipline of philology in general

Hesketh,2024-12-11 This book presents an in depth investigation into street gang involvement desistance and non involvement through the lens of the Risk Factor Prevention Paradigm RFPP This framework encompasses five domains of risk and prevention family neighbourhood peers individual and school It identifies the risk and protective factors that influence young people to either engage in desist or abstain from involvement in deviant street groups Based on a comprehensive five and a half year study the author draws upon his lifelong experience living in Stockbridge Village Merseyside one of the most deprived areas in the UK marked by street gang activity and organised crime The author s unique position allows him to establish a strong rapport with young disenfranchised individuals involved in street gangs This book offers a comprehensive exploration of critical observations related to street gang involvement by integrating insights that provide a nuanced understanding of the sociocultural factors that both drive individuals toward gang involvement and contribute to their desistance from it. The author highlights key topics including the practice of drug dealing as deviant entrepreneurship, the role of friendship networks in determining engagement in street gang related activities, the allure of risk as a motivator for involvement, and the participation of young women through relationships with young men associated with street gangs. Ultimately, the work offers fresh perspectives on both gang membership and non membership, advocating for the development of homegrown interventions rooted in social capital through bridging and social mobility as viable strategies for addressing street gang involvement.

The Honorable Merchant - Between Modesty and Risk-Taking Christoph Lütge, Christoph Strosetzki, 2019-01-11. This volume explores the concept of the honest merchant, taking a broad perspective and covering a wide range of aspects. It looks at the different types of honest merchant conceptions originating from different cultures and literary traditions. The book covers Japanese, Islamic, Scandinavian, Russian, German, Spanish, as well as other aspects, and studies different disciplinary backgrounds of the honest merchant, such as philosophical, economic, neuroethical, sociological, and literary ones. The concept of the honest merchant has a long tradition in business ethics. In the Hanseatic League and in medieval Italy, the ideal of the honest businessman was taught since the late Middle Ages. It originated during a time when travelling merchants were often regarded with a sceptical eye. The honest merchants of their time, however, held clear principles in their business and took responsibility for their community. In later times, the religious notions of the concept lost their pivotal place to reason and morality. This book goes beyond the tradition of discussing business ethics in association with concepts from the Hanseatic League and medieval Italy and puts the central concept of business ethics in a much greater perspective.

Pedagogies of Educational Transitions Nadine Ballam, Bob Perry, Anders Garpelin, 2016-10-04. This book presents the latest research on educational transitions from a variety of research traditions and practical contexts set in Australia, New Zealand, and several European countries. It examines critically questions and reshapes ideas and notions about children's transitions to school. The book is divided into five parts, the first two of which emphasise diversity and inclusion, with Part II focusing solely on the transition to school for children from Indigenous cultures. Part III explores the notion of continuity, which has been widely debated in terms of its role in the transition to school. Part IV explores the transition to school through the notion of crossing borders. The final section of this book, Part V, includes ideas about future directions for work in the area of educational transitions and presents the notion of transitions as a tool for change to policy, research, and practice. The book concludes with a critical synthesis of the research outlined throughout, including recommendations regarding future research related to educational transitions.

Languages, scripts, and Chinese texts in East Asia Peter Francis Kornicki, 2018-01-19 Chinese Writing and the Rise of the Vernacular in East Asia is a wide ranging study of vernacularization in East Asia not only China Japan Korea and Vietnam but also societies that no longer exist such as the Tangut and Khitan empires Peter Kornicki takes the reader from the early centuries of the common era when the Chinese script was the only form of writing and Chinese Buddhist Confucian and medical texts spread throughout East Asia through the centuries when vernacular scripts evolved right up to the end of the nineteenth century when nationalism created new roles for vernacular languages and vernacular scripts Through an examination of oral approaches to Chinese texts it shows how highly valued Chinese texts came to be read through the prism of the vernaculars and ultimately to be translated This long process has some parallels with vernacularization in Europe but a crucial difference is that literary Chinese was unlike Latin not a spoken language As a consequence people who spoke different East Asian vernaculars had no means of communicating in speech but they could communicate silently by means of written conversation in literary Chinese a further consequence is that within each society Chinese texts assumed vernacular garb in classes and lectures Chinese texts were read and declaimed in the vernaculars What happened in the nineteenth century and why are there still so many different scripts in East Asia How and why were Chinese texts dethroned and what replaced them These are some of the questions addressed in Chinese Writing and the Rise of the Vernacular in East Asia
