A Revolution in Colour Giorgio Riello, Maria Hayward, Ulinka Rublack, 2024-09-19 This major volume aims to re colour the European world of dress c 1300 1800 New dyes created one of the most important visual experiences of the period yet their story has been side lined by a focus on visual experiences shaped by the high arts Meanwhile theatrical productions and period films still abound with broad assumptions about the growing dominance of black clothing for elites during the period while ordinary people are imagined having worn coarse greys and bleached garments This volume presents clear evidence that even the clothing of the middle classes could be much more expensive than paintings and that coloured clothing and accessories were ubiquitous across society Contributors shed new light on the economic environmental and cultural dimensions of colour in dress The range of dyes expanded considerably in the sixteenth and seventeenth centuries drawing on Asian and Mediterranean knowledge new collections of recipes and the greater diversity of plants available through New World trade Working creatively with organic plant animal and mineral materials to make colours involved considerable knowledge pleasure and skill The creation of colour through dyes thus reveals a whole range of global agricultural and craft technologies that can inspire future material worlds and transforms our understanding of Europe s cultural heritage

Reinventing the Economic History of Industrialisation Kristine Bruland, Anne Gerritsen, Pat Hudson, Giorgio Riello, 2020-03-26 The Industrial Revolution is central to the teaching of economic history It has also been key to historical research on the commercial expansion of Western Europe the rise of factories coal and iron production the proletarianization of labour and the birth and worldwide spread of industrial capitalism However perspectives on the Industrial Revolution have changed significantly in recent years The interdisciplinary approach of Reinventing the Economic History of Industrialisation with contributions on the history of consumption material culture and cultural histories of science and technology offers a more global perspective arguing for an interpretation of the industrial revolution based on global interactions that made technological innovation and the spread of knowledge possible Through this new lens it becomes clear that industrialising processes started earlier and lasted longer than previously understood Reflecting on the major topics of concern for economic historians over the past generation Reinventing the Economic History of Industrialisation brings this area of study up to date and points the way forward
