When the controller is mounted on panel with 5 to 8mm in thickness, the mounting brackets are already installed on the controller, insert the controller into the panel, insert without removal of the brackets.

When the controller is mounted on panel with 9 to 16mm in thickness, the controller with a drilled intermediate, 4mm hole on mounting brackets with 10mm hole with "H" on the housing and then insert.

- In order to prevent electric shock or instrument failure, do not turn on the power supply until all of the wiring is completed.
- If failure or error of this instrument could result in a critical accident of the system, install an external protection circuit to prevent such an accident.
- In order to prevent electric shock or instrument failure, protect power line and the input/output lines from high currents by using fuses with

- (1) First the microphone input needs the specified compensation wires.
- (2) The BTG input, use leads with low inductance and having an inductance difference among the 3 leads.
- (3) Common input signal wiring away from instrument power, shielded equipment power and lead lines to the microphone.
- (4) Conduct instrument power wiring so as not to be influenced by noise from the electric equipment power. If the instrument may be affected by external noise, an active filter should be used.
- (5) Shorten the distance between the input power supply and output. This circuit can eliminate the noise from the power supply and the noise from the power supply for noise reduction.
- (6) Install the noise filter on the power which is already grounded and eliminate the wiring between the power and the noise filter and the instrument power terminals.
- (7) Do not install noise shield devices on the filter output signal since this may reduce filter effect.
- (8) The microphone cable must be shielded with low voltage noise.
- (9) About 1 to 2 seconds are required for the preparation time for the output signal after power on. Use a delay relay when the output line is used for an external electric circuit.
- (10) The shielded BNC or power supply shield cable must be used. Therefore, install the lead cable for the instrument and the shielded power supply.
- (11) Shield voltage: 24V AC. Phase constant: 1/4. a) First type: Three-wire three-phase.
- (12) The instrument with power supply at 24 V, cannot be used to supply the power from the 110V circuit.
- (13) The instrument is intended to be used under the following environmental conditions: 10°C to 35°C.
