Multimedia Technologies and Applications for the 21st Century Borko Furht, 1997-11-30 Multimedia Technologies and Applications for the 21st Century Visions of World Experts presents contributions from leading researchers and experts describing their current research and their views of the future trends in the field The book consists of thirteen chapters in five parts These chapters tackle a number of critical issues in distributed multimedia systems and applications from VLSI processors that support multimedia and multimedia servers through multimedia databases and multimedia networks and communications to merging multimedia applications. Only a few years ago multimedia seemed like a brand new research field and an emerging new industry. Today at the edge of the 21st century multimedia research is coming of age and the multimedia industry has significantly grown with the total market estimated to be about 50 billion. Several years ago it was felt that the digital media revolution had just started; however, the seeds had been sown long before. Fundamental technologies such as interactive laser disks, video games, and electronic encyclopedias were invented in the 1970s and 80s. They represented the seeds for current hot applications such as digital libraries, video on demand, interactive television, and videoconferencing. Another aspect of the digital media revolution is the formation of a new media industry composed of computer entertainment, communication, and consumer electronics companies. Many industry segments are currently involved in creating new products and services, positioning themselves for the 21st century. They include telephone cable and satellite TV companies, communication equipment companies, TV and radio broadcasters, on-line Internet service providers, cable channels, movie studios, record companies, book publishers, CD-ROM title creators, Internet tool vendors, multimedia software tools companies, computer companies, general software tools companies, computer add-on vendors, semiconductor vendors, and consumer electronics vendors. Multimedia Technologies and Applications for the 21st Century Visions of World Experts should stimulate the curiosity of its readers and inspire new technological breakthroughs in this exciting field. It serves as a valuable reference for system designers, engineers, programmers, and managers who are involved in multimedia systems, the Internet, and their applications. This book can also be used as a textbook for advanced courses on multimedia in engineering curricula. Computerworld, 1996-08-19. For more than 40 years, Computerworld has been the leading source of technology news and information for IT influencers worldwide. Computerworld's award-winning Web site, Computerworld.com, twice monthly publication, focused conference series, and custom research form the hub of the world's largest global IT media network. Developing for Netscape ONE Mike Morgan, Michael Morgan, 1997. In simple terms, the Netscape Open Network Environment ONE is Netscape's development standards for the current and future releases of Netscape. This book provides a comprehensive reference for Netscape application developers to the Netscape ONE SDK and coverage of all SDK components at a macro project and micro task view. Electronic Multimedia Publishing Fillia Makedon, Samuel A.
