Social work career involves working with diverse population. Cultural pluralism culture concept is one that emphasizes on the respect for diversity of heritages, lifestyles, values and customs. This paper will focus on my experiences and exposure to individuals from different populations. It is going to enumerate my personal qualities in expressing myself to be sensitive to people with values that are different from mine. Further, the paper will also showcase the manner in which life experiences influence my values, beliefs and feelings with variables such as; Ethnicity (culture, race), spiritual tradition that is different from those of mine like economic status, age, social status and sexual orientation. Lastly, the paper will also describe the ethical dilemma I have experience in the process of decision making and factor that have contributed to the ultimate outcome.

Ghana is a nation that has diverse ethnic groups and communities. Its population of over 24 million people and 70 diverse ethnic groups. As a Ghanaian, the nature of the country which is multicultural has broadened my scope n different people as well as their perceptions, which are different from mine. For example, while working with World Visions Ghana and the Ghana Broadcasting Corporation, I was able to develop ability to use and acquire values, skills and knowledge in ways that make diversity such a competent practice. I more so developed a system of feeling, acting and thinking that opens the door so I can actively seek knowledge, develop values consistent in addressing issues of sensitive nature and integrate new ideas that at times, are uncomfortable. I have also learned to be a true professional by giving up my comfort place, risking to reach out and learn things I do not know.

What is more, I have acquired ability to solve and work out people's problems. Solving the problems of people involves learning how to acquire knowledge in a couple of ways. What is more, it also entails Critical Thinking and Professional Judgement for Social Work Lynne Rutter, Keith Brown, 2015-09-26. Critical thinking as a process can appear formal and academic, far removed from everyday life where decisions have to be taken quickly in less than ideal conditions. However, now more than ever, it is seen as a vital part of social work and indeed any healthcare and leadership practice within the current agenda for integration and in the post-Francis inquiry health care context. This Fourth Edition now reflects this wider arena but also includes new material in response to the continuing review of social work professional standards. It continues to take a pragmatic look at the range of ideas associated with critical thinking, focusing on learning and development for practice. The chapter on professional judgement has been extended to provide a wider discussion on practical reasoning and judgement in relation to developing expertise, while other chapters and reading lists have also been updated and activities revised to enhance learning. The authors continue to emphasise the importance of sound moral judgement based on critical thinking and practical reasoning, while also acknowledging the tensions for staff and teams facing complex, uncertain situations and sometimes oppressive workplace cultures. Their hope is that increased and informed attention to your thinking can help nurture wise deliberation and action in such challenging times.

Integrating Theory and Practice in Social Work Education Florence Watson, Helen Burrows, Chris Player, 2002. The authors explain about how to go about gathering evidence from fieldwork and practice placements and how to prepare and plan an assignment or project. Guidance is given on applying law and policy and how to react in the case of failure.

Anti-racism in Social Work practice Angie Bartoli, 2025-02-28. Anti racism has a long history within the profession of social work and its education Despite an agenda within higher education which promotes internationalization and practice which recognizes diversity little has been written to address the question of why black African students have a different experience from others on their social work educational journey This book is based upon the authors experience as educators and their own research about and with black students experience of racism and otherness within social work practice and education Radical and honest in nature it re visits anti racism within social work practice and education from a student focused and informed perspective based on lived experience and conversations This book will be of interest to all social work students educators and policy makers with an interest in anti racism and diversity It includes practical models and tried and tested tools to help the reader work through these issues Tools that can assist students in discussing uncomfortable issues in the classroom are to be welcomed and this book is thus a valuable resource This book offers many examples of how racism can be addressed in social work education and training Important features of the book are the summaries of key pieces of research in each chapter as well as case studies and critical questions which provide a springboard for discussion It offers a timely reminder that discussion about race and anti racist forms of pedagogical approaches for teaching has fallen off the agenda It is written in an accessible style is an engaging read and this is a welcome addition to the literature Dr Claudia Bernard Goldsmiths College
