Kalifungwa,2025-03-19 All knowledge including the most basic taken for granted common sense knowledge of everyday reality is derived from and maintained by social interaction In their model people interact on the understanding that their perceptions of everyday life are shared with others and this common knowledge of reality is in turn reinforced by this interaction Social structure can also be said to be the framework upon which a society is established It determines the norms and patterns of relations between the various institutions of the society Social norms are believed to influence social structures through relations between the majority and the minority As those who align with majority are considered normal and those who align with the minority are considered abnormal majority minority relations create a hierarchical stratification within social structures that favors the majority in all aspects of society Social theory by definition is used to make distinctions and generalizations among different types of societies and to analyze modernity as it has emerged in the past few centuries Social thought provides general theories to explain actions and behavior of society as a whole encompassing sociological political and philosophical ideas Social transformation in this context requires a shift in collective consciousness of a society local state national or global so that reality is refined by consensus This often happens by external stimulus and sometimes intentionally Social transformations are such when they sustain overtime where attitudes and values are held in a completely new context or paradigm based upon different assumptions and beliefs Mindset is an established set of attitudes especially regarded as typical of a particular group social or cultural values the outlook philosophy or values of a person now also more generally frame of mind attitude frecte and disposition A mindset may also arise from a person s world view or philosophy of life Ideas are just thoughts but implementing and acting on these ideas in our own lives is what will make it habitual and allowing a change in mind set

STRUCTURE AND CHOICE Chen Binggong,2021-04-05 This book employs the methods of philosophical anthropology to examine the question of what the noumenon of human life is which has been debated for thousands of years This work elaborates upon the noumenon of human life that is man s structure and choice The noumenon of human life differs essentially from the animals in bringing about the unity of structure and choice The noumenon of human life or rather man s structure and choice provides the motive force for the survival and development of individuals and groups families organizations and states as well as the basic ways in which human values can be possible of realization It is only through the instrumentality of man's structure and choice that humans can attain their goals and grasp the laws of development and change of things In passing criticism upon structuralism and existentialism the author tries to reconstruct the ontology of human life whereby his theory provides an ontological foundation for the humanities and social sciences a theoretical framework for an idealistic anthropological commitment to self transcendence a scientific philosophy of life for us and a good deal of enlightenment about many theoretical prerequisites

Alternative Sociologies of Religion James V. Spickard, 2017-03-14 Uncovers what the sociology of religion would look like had it emerged in a Confucian Muslim or Native American culture rather than in a Christian one Sociology has long used Western Christianity as a model for all religious life As a result the field has tended to highlight aspects of religion that Christians find important such as religious beliefs and formal organizations while paying less attention to other elements Rather than simply criticizing such limitations James V Spickard imagines what the sociology of religion would look like had it arisen in three non Western societies What aspects of religion would scholars see more clearly if they had been raised in Confucian China What could they learn about religion from Ibn Khaldun the famed 14th century Arab scholar What would they better understand had they been born Navajo whose traditional religion certainly does not revolve around beliefs and organizations Through these thought experiments Spickard shows how non Western ideas understand some aspects of religions even of Western religions better than does standard sociology The volume shows how non Western frameworks can shed new light on several different dimensions of religious life including the question of who maintains religious communities the relationships between religion and ethnicity as sources of social ties and the role of embodied experience in religious rituals These approaches reveal central aspects of contemporary religions that the dominant way of doing sociology fails to notice Each approach also provides investigators with new theoretical resources to guide them deeper into their subjects The volume makes a compelling case for adopting a global perspective in the social sciences

Miseducating Americans Richard F. Hamilton, 2017-09-08 In Miseducating Americans Richard F Hamilton examines accounts of American history appearing in textbooks and popular accounts and compares these with the reports contained in scholarly monographs The task to determine how certain myths and misconstructions became accepted as recorded history Hamilton provides much needed correction of those misleading accounts Was America historically the land of the free Not if you take into account slavery discrimination and post Civil War segregation policies Was America in the late nineteenth century truly expansionist as American textbooks imply or did it actually capitalize on unexpected political and economic opportunities like Russia's desire to rid itself of Alaska Was the acquisition of the Philippines a zealous profit seeking effort aiming for the China market or the fortuitous consequences of a move against Spain during the Spanish American War Miseducating Americans debunks many commonly accepted explanations of historical facts It contends that many accounts are oversimplifications and some are one sided depictions of virtue Hamilton traces the sources of these misconstructions which mostly come from history textbooks written by authors aiming for popular audiences He then offers explanations as to how and why the inaccuracies have been repeated and passed on

The Sacred Project of American Sociology Christian Smith, 2014-07-03 Counter to popular perceptions contemporary American sociology is and promotes a profoundly sacred project at heart Sociology today is in fact animated by sacred impulses driven by sacred commitments and serves a sacred project Sociology appears on the surface to be a secular scientific enterprise its founding fathers were mostly atheists Its basic operating premises are secular and naturalistic Sociologists today are disproportionately not religious compared to all Americans and often irreligious The Sacred Project of American Sociology shows counter intuitively that the secular enterprise that everyday sociology appears to be pursuing is actually not what is really going on at sociology's deepest level Christian Smith conducts a self reflexive tables turning cultural and institutional sociology of the profession of American sociology itself showing that this allegedly secular discipline ironically expresses Emile Durkheim's inescapable sacred exemplifies its own versions of Marxist false consciousness and generates a spirited reaction against Max Weber's melancholically observed disenchantment of the world American sociology does not escape the analytical net that it casts over the rest of the ordinary world Sociology itself is a part of that very human very social often very sacred and spiritual world And sociology's ironic mis recognition of its own sacred project leads to a variety of arguably self destructive and distorting tendencies This book re asserts a vision for what sociology is most important for in contrast with its current commitments and calls sociologists back to a more honest fair and healthy vision of its purpose

Sociological Theories of Health and Illness William C Cockerham, 2020-07-09 Sociological Theories of Health and Illness reviews the evolution of theory in medical sociology beginning with the field's origins in medicine and extending to its present day standing as a major sociological subdiscipline Sociological theory has an especially important role in the practice of medical sociology because its theories distinguish the subdiscipline from virtually all other scientific fields engaged in the study of health and illness The focus is on contemporary theory because it applies to contemporary conditions however since theory in sociology is often grounded in historical precedents and classical foundations this material is likewise included as it relates to medical sociology today This book focuses on the most commonly used sociological theories in the study of health and illness illustrating their utility in current examples of empirical research on a wide range of topics The qualitative or quantitative research methods applicable to specific theories are also covered Distinctions between macro and micro level levels of analysis and the relevance of the agency structure dichotomy inherent in all theories in sociology are discussed Beginning with classical theory Durkheim Weber and Marx and the neglected founders Gilman Martineau and DuBois along with symbolic interaction Mead Strauss and labeling theory Becker and poststructuralism and postmodernism Foucault coverage is extended to contemporary medical sociology Discussion of the stress process model Pearlin is followed by the social construction of gender and race and intersectionality theory Collins health lifestyle theory Cockerham life course theory Elder fundamental cause theory Link and Phelan and theories of the medical profession Freidson medicalization and biomedicalization Conrad Clarke and social capital Bourdieu Putnam and Lin

Why Did Ancient Civilizations Fail? Scott A J Johnson, 2016-09-19 Ideas abound as to why certain complex societies collapsed in the past including environmental change subsistence failure fluctuating social structure and lack of adaptability Why Did Ancient Civilizations Fail evaluates the current theories in this important topic and discusses why they offer only partial explanations of the failure of past civilizations This engaging book offers a new theory of collapse that of social hubris Through an examination of Mesopotamian Egyptian Roman Maya Inca and Aztec societies Johnson persuasively argues that hubris blinded many ancient peoples to evidence that would have allowed them to adapt and he further considers how this has implications for contemporary societies Comprehensive and well written this volume serves as an ideal text for undergraduate courses on ancient complex societies as well as appealing to the scholar interested in societal collapse

The Warfare between Science & Religion Jeff Hardin, Ronald L Numbers, Ronald A. Binzley, 2018-10-15 A very welcome volume of essays questioning the presumption of irreconcilable conflict between science and religion British Journal for the History of Science The conflict thesis the idea that an inevitable irreconcilable conflict exists between science and religion has long been part of the popular imagination The Warfare between Science and Religion assembles a group of distinguished historians who explore the origin of the thesis its reception the responses it drew from various faith traditions and its continued prominence in public discourse Several essays examine the personal circumstances and theological idiosyncrasies of important intellectuals including John William Draper and Andrew Dickson White who through their polemical writings championed the conflict thesis relentlessly Others consider what the thesis meant to different religious communities including evangelicals liberal Protestants Roman Catholics Eastern Orthodox Christians Jews and Muslims

Finally essays both historical and sociological explore the place of the conflict thesis in popular culture and intellectual discourse today Based on original research and written in an accessible style the essays in The Warfare between Science and Religion take an interdisciplinary approach to question the historical relationship between science and religion and bring much needed perspective to an often bitter controversy Contributors include Thomas H Aechtner Ronald A Binzley John Hedley Brooke Elaine Howard Ecklund Noah Efron John H Evans Maurice A Finocchiaro Frederick Gregory Bradley J Gundlach Monte Harrell Hampton Jeff Hardin Peter Harrison Bernard Lightman David N Livingstone David Mislin Efthymios Nicolaidis Mark A Noll Ronald L Numbers Lawrence M Principe Jon H Roberts Christopher P Scheitle M Alper Yal inkaya

Sociology, 14th Ed John J. Macionis, 2012 Redeeming Sociology Vern S. Poythress, 2011-05-04 Interpersonal relationships are possible for humans because we are created in the image of a Trinitarian God But if the Trinity is our model for relationships why is the human condition rife with pain and evil How are we to think correctly about fallen human relationships and our models for understanding them Redeeming Sociology advocates a biblically informed model for human relationships relationships rooted in the Trinitarian character of God his governance of the world and his redemption accomplished in Christ Poythress examines how the breaking of relationships through sin leads to strife murder and oppression among human beings and sets cultures against one another And he shows how these broken relationships are restored through the outworking of redemption in Christ Though typical sociological models for interpersonal relationships may offer some valuable insights they are handicapped by a fundamental misunderstanding of humanity The biblical model that Poythress presents correctly diagnoses the problem of human relationships so it can likewise prescribe a biblical solution that infuses new meaning and power into how we relate to others made in the image of God
