Moody's OTC Unlisted Manual ,1987 Foreign Policy at the Periphery Bevan Sewell, Maria Ryan, 2017-01-17 As American interests assumed global proportions after 1945 policy makers were faced with the challenge of prioritizing various regions and determining the extent to which the United States was prepared to defend and support them Superpowers and developing nations soon became inextricably linked and decolonizing states such as Vietnam India and Egypt assumed a central role in the ideological struggle between the United States and the Soviet Union As the twentieth century came to an end many of the challenges of the Cold War became even more complex as the Soviet Union collapsed and new threats arose Featuring original essays by leading scholars Foreign Policy at the Periphery examines relationships among new nations and the United States from the end of the Second World War through the global war on terror Rather than reassessing familiar flashpoints of US foreign policy the contributors explore neglected but significant developments such as the efforts of evangelical missionaries in the Congo the 1958 stabilization agreement with Argentina Henry Kissinger's policies toward Latin America during the 1970s and the financing of terrorism in Libya via petrodollars Blending new internationalist approaches to diplomatic history with newly released archival materials Foreign Policy at the Periphery brings together diverse strands of scholarship to address compelling issues in modern world history Manual de informaciones ,2007

Mission Creep Gordon Adams, Shoon Murray, 2014-12-12 Mission Creep The Militarization of US Foreign Policy examines the question of whether the US Department of Defense DOD has assumed too large a role in influencing and implementing US foreign policy After the Cold War and accelerating after September 11 the United States has drawn upon the enormous resources of DOD in adjusting to the new global environment and challenges arising from terrorism Islamic radicalism insurgencies ethnic conflicts and failed states Contributors investigate and provide different perspectives on the extent to which military leaders and DOD have increased their influence and involvement in areas such as foreign aid development diplomacy policy debates and covert operations These developments are set in historical and institutional context as contributors explore the various causes for this institutional imbalance The book concludes that there has been a militarization of US foreign policy while it explores the institutional and political causes and their implications Militarization

as it is used in this book does not mean that generals directly challenge civilian control over policy rather it entails a subtle phenomenon wherein the military increasingly becomes the primary actor and face of US policy abroad Mission Creep s assessment and policy recommendations about how to rebalance the role of civilian agencies in foreign policy decision making and implementation will interest scholars and students of US foreign policy defense policy and security studies as well as policy practitioners interested in the limits and extents of militarization
