Sol Plaatje Application Form:

Sol Plaatje's Mhudi Sabata-mpho Mokae, Brian Willan, 2021 Sol Plaatje's Mhudi is the first full length novel in English to have been written by a black South African and is widely regarded as one of South Africa's most important literary works Set in the 1830s it tells the tale of Mhudi and Ra Thaga a romantic story set against a violent backdrop of war between Barolong and Matebele complicated by the intrusions of Boer trekkers with whom the Barolong form an alliance It is notable among other things for the way Plaatje uses the past to explore the roots of the oppression and injustice suffered by his people a century later when the book was written Page 4 of cover

Sol Plaatje's Native Life in South Africa Janet Remington, Brian Willan, Bhekizizwe Peterson, 2016-10-01 Sheds new light on Native Life appearing at a critical historical juncture and reflects on how to read it in South Africa's heightened challenges today First published in 1916 Sol Plaatje's Native Life in South Africa was written by one of the South Africa's most talented early twentieth century black leaders and journalists Plaatje's pioneering book arose out of an early African National Congress campaign to protest against the discriminatory 1913 Natives Land Act Native Life vividly narrates Plaatje's investigative journeying into South Africa's rural heartlands to report on the effects of the Act and his involvement in the deputation to the British imperial government At the same time it tells the bigger story of the assault on black rights and opportunities in the newly consolidated Union of South Africa and the resistance to it Originally published in war time London but about South Africa and its place in the world Native Life travelled far and wide being distributed in the United States under the auspices of prominent African American W E B Du Bois South African editions were to follow only in the late apartheid period and beyond The aim of this multi authored volume is to shed new light on how and why Native Life came into being at a critical historical juncture and to reflect on how it can be read in relation to South Africa's heightened challenges today Crucial areas that come under the spotlight in this collection include land race history mobility belonging war the press law literature language gender politics and the state

Thabo Mbeki and the Battle for the Soul of the ANC William Mervin Gumede, 2013-02-07 As a spokesman for a country a continent and the developing world Thabo Mbeki played a crucial role in world politics but to many people he remained an enigma throughout his presidency Is this simply because he was a secretive man or were there complicated political factors at play Who was the real Mbeki In this book multiple award winning journalist William Mervin Gumede chronicles Mbeki's spectacular rise to dominate Africa's oldest liberation movement He explores the complex position that Mbeki occupied following in Nelson Mandela's footsteps holding together an alliance with deep ideological differences and ruling an intensely divided country Revealing the political and personal tensions behind the scenes Gumede explains how Mbeki sought to mould the ANC into his image through tight control and exposes the intrigues behind the battle for succession Covering Mbeki's attempts to modernise the economy and kick start an African Renaissance and investigating his controversial stance on issues from AIDS to Zimbabwe the book offers invaluable insights into the arcane machinations behind political decisions that touch the lives of millions every day The Nightwatchman Hlonipha Mokoena, 2025-08 The Nightwatchman Essays on Portraiture and the Black Male Figure in Colonial South Africa brings into focus the African policeman as a subject of portraiture While colonial governments co opted and conscripted Africans into military and policing services it was after the Zulu defeat of the English in the battle of Isandlwana that a genre of photography developed around images of the Zulu warrior and Zulu policeman In this illustrated book Hlonipha Mokoena extends the literature on colonial ethnographic photography by creating a narrative of nightwatchman portraiture from the rich archive of images Although the origins of this genre lay in the representation of Fingoes amaMfengu during the frontier wars she argues that an ethnological spectacle of the Zulu male body was inaugurated after the last Zulu king Cetshwayo was photographed as a posing subject While much research has focussed on the African man employed in emasculating labour or as a functionary of settler power this book shifts debates about how the body moves in history Placed in uniform the male subject becomes aestheticised and admired Mokoena focuses less on the idiosyncrasies of the uniform than on the sartorial selection processes and co optation of colonial aesthetic culture that constructed the idea of the Nonqgayi or nightwatchman as a fully formed photographic presence The beauty captured in these images upends conceptions of colonial photography as a tool of oppression In its focus on the figure of the black and brown fighting man The Nightwatchman offers an innovative work on the history of portraiture and dress in colonial South Africa Incorporating insights from African history art history anthropology and critical theory it offers new insights about the use of men of colour in colonial warfare and new avenues for the interpretation of visual representations of the black male figure Space and planning in secondary cities Lochner Marais, Verna Nel, 2019-09-01 Much of the urban research focuses on the large metropolitan areas in South Africa This book assesses spatial planning in the second tier cities of the country Secondary cities are vital as they perform essential regional and in some cases global economic roles and help to distribute the population of a country more evenly across its surface Apartheid planning left South African cities fragmented segregated and with low densities Post apartheid policies aim to reverse these realities by emphasising integration higher densities and upgrading Achieving these aims has been challenging and often the historical patterns continue The evidence shows that two opposing patterns prevail namely increased densities and continued urban sprawl This book presents ten case studies of spatial planning and spatial transformation in secondary cities of South Africa The book frames these case studies against complexity theory and suggests that the post apartheid response to apartheid planning represents a linear deviation from history The ten case studies then reveal how difficult it is for local decision makers to find appropriate responses and how current responses often result in contradictory results Often these cities are highly vulnerable and they find it difficult to plan in the context of uncertainty The book also highlights how these cities find it difficult to stand on their own against the influence of interest groups property developers mining companies traditional authorities other spheres of government The main reasons include weak municipal finance statements the dependence on national and provincial government for capital expenditure limited investment in infrastructure maintenance the lack of planning capacity the inability to implement plans and the unintended and sometimes contrary outcomes of post apartheid planning policies Tropentag

Rural Cinema Exhibition and Audiences in a Global Context Daniela Treveri Gennari,Danielle Hipkins,Catherine O'Rawe,2018-10-19 Although it has only been in the last decade that the planet s population balance tipped from a predominantly rural makeup towards an urban one the field of cinema history has demonstrated a disproportionate skew toward the urban Within audience studies however an increasing number of scholars are turning their attention away from the bright lights of the urban and towards the less well lit and infinitely more variegated history of rural cinema going Rural Cinema Exhibition and Audiences in A Global Context is the first volume to consider rural cinema going from a global perspective It aims to provide a rich and wide ranging introduction to this growing field and to further develop some of its key questions It brings together eighteen international scholars or teams all representatives of a dynamic new field Moving beyond a Western focus is essential for thinking through questions of rural exhibition distribution and cinema experience since over the relatively short history of cinema it is the rural that has dominated cinema goers lives in much of the developing world To this end the volume also innovates by bringing discussions of North American and European ruralities into dialogue with contributions on Kenya Brazil China Thailand South Africa and Australia Critical Muslim 5 Ziauddin Sardar,Robin Yassin-Kassab,2013-01-01 Aamer Hussein takes love to its logical conclusion Robert Irwin traces the origins of Telling Stories ,2021-11-15 The present volume is a highly comprehensive assessment of the postcolonial short story since the thirty six contributions cover most geographical areas concerned Another important feature is that it deals not only with exclusive practitioners of the genre Mansfield Munro but also with well known novelists Achebe Armah Atwood Carey Rushdie so that stimulating comparisons are suggested between shorter and longer works by the same authors In addition the volume is of interest for the study of aspects of orality dialect dance rhythms circularity and trickster figure for instance and of the more or less conflictual relationships between the individual character or implied author and the community Furthermore the marginalized status of women emerges as another major theme both as regards the past for white women settlers or the present for urbanized characters primarily in Africa and India The reader will also have the rare pleasure of discovering Janice Kulik Keefer s Fox her version of what she calls in her commentary displaced autobiography or creative non fiction Lastly an extensive bibliography on the postcolonial short story opens up further possibilities for research

South African Literary Cultural Nationalism—Abalobi beSizwe eMzansi—1918-45 Nicholas M. Creary, 2018-04-18 This book is an intellectual history that uses Amílcar Cabral's theory of the return to the source to examine Sol Plaatje's Mhudi B W Vilakazi's poetry and A C Jordan's The Wrath of the Ancestors within the broader context of African cultural nationalisms in the early twentieth century African Atlantic World It shows the development of the idea of African equality with Whites in the face of prevailing ideas of White supremacy during Union era South Africa These authors were part of the New African Movement which was one of eight literary movements among Africans and peoples of African descent in the Americas between 1915 and 1945 including the Harlem Renaissance Négritude Claridade in Cape Verde and similar movements in Cuba Haiti Brazil and Belize The text presents new models for interpreting Union era African literature and recasts understanding of the nature of interactions between Africans and Europeans including Western Syphilization Chiral Interdiscursivity and the relationship between history and memory informed by a neurobiological analysis of memory

The Contested Idea of South Africa Sabelo J. Ndlovu-Gatsheni, Busani Ngcaweni, 2021-11-29 This book reflects on the complex and contested idea of South Africa drawing on a wide range of disciplinary perspectives Ever since the delineation of South Africa as a country the many diverse groups of people contained within its borders have struggled to translate a mere geographical description into the identity of a people Today the new struggles for South Africa and to become South African are inextricably intertwined with complex challenges of transformation xenophobia claims of reverse racism social justice economic justice service delivery and the resurgent decolonization struggles reverberating inside the universities This book covers the genealogy of the idea of South Africa exploring how the country has been conceived of by a broad group of actors including the British Afrikaners diverse African nationalist traditions and new formations such as the Economic Freedom Fighters EFF Black First Land First BLF and student formations Rhodes Must Fall Fees Must Fall Over the course of the book a broad range of themes are covered including identity formation modernity race ethnicity indigeneity autochthony land gender intellectual traditions poetics of South Africanness language popular culture truth and reconciliation and national development planning Concluding with important reflections on how a colonial imaginary can be changed into a free and inclusive postcolonial nation state this book will be an important read for Africanist researchers from across the humanities and social sciences Colonial Literature and the Native Author Jane Stafford, 2016-12-20 This book is the first study of writers who are both Victorian and indigenous who have been educated in and write in terms of Victorian literary conventions but whose indigenous affiliation is part of their literary personae and subject matter What happens when the colonised indigenous or native subject learns to write in the literary language of empire If the romanticised subject of colonial literature becomes the author is a new kind of writing produced or does the native author conform to the models of the coloniser By investigating the ways that nineteenth century concerns are adopted accommodated rewritten challenged re inscribed confronted or assimilated in the work of these authors this study presents a novel examination of the nature of colonial literary production and indigenous authorship as well as suggesting to the discipline of colonial and postcolonial studies a perhaps unsettling perspective with which to look at the larger patterns of Victorian cultural and literary formation Flight from Certainty, 2021-11-01 The Presented

Past B. L. Molyneux, P. G. Stone, 2003-09-02 The Presented Past is concerned with the differences between the comparatively static well understood way in which the past is presented in schools museums and at historic sites compared to the approaches currently being explored in contemporary archaeology It challenges the all too frequent representation of the past as something finished understood and objective rather than something that is constructed and therefore open to co existing interpretations and constant re interpretation Central to the book is the belief that the presentation of the past in school curricula and in museum and site interpretations will benefit from a greater use of non documentary sources derived from archaeological study and oral histories The book suggests that a view of the past incorporating a larger body of evidence and a wider variety of understanding will help to invigorate the way history is taught The Presented Past will be of interest to teachers archaeologists cultural resource managers in fact anyone who is concerned with how the past is presented Shakespeare Survey: Volume 57, Macbeth and Its Afterlife Peter Holland, 2008-01-31 Shakespeare Survey is a yearbook of Shakespeare studies and production Since 1948 Survey has published the best international scholarship in English and many of its essays have become classics of Shakespeare criticism Each volume is devoted to a theme or play or group of plays each also contains a section of reviews of that year's textual and critical studies and of the year's major British performances. The books are illustrated with a variety of Shakespearean images and production photographs. The virtues of accessible scholarship and a keen interest in performance from Shakespeare's time to our own have characterised the journal from the start. Most volumes of Survey have long been out of print. Backnumbers are gradually being reissued in paperback.

Chinua Achebe's Legacy Ogude, James, 2015-12-01. Chinua Achebe's novels and essays have always drawn our attention to issues of memory, the story, history and our own obligation to history as Africans. Achebe constantly goes back to the authority of narrative, the story, and as the subsequent generations of African writers like Chimamanda Adichie keep returning to to celebrate Africa's many stories, its moments of failure and triumph, Achebe more than any other writer on this continent has inspired many, and hopefully the African story tellers of the coming centuries, irrespective of their location, will continue to be inspired by him. This collection of essays is an enduring tribute to this rich legacy of Achebe.
